Mapping Cyberspace:

Mapping Cyberspace Martin Dodge, Rob Kitchin, 2003-09-02 Mapping Cyberspace is a ground breaking geographic exploration and critical reading of cyberspace and information and communication technologies The book provides an understanding of what cyberspace looks like and the social interactions that occur there explores the impacts of cyberspace and information and communication technologies on cultural political and economic relations charts the spatial forms of virtual spaces details empirical research and examines a wide variety of maps and spatialisations of cyberspace and the information society has a related website at <http://www.MappingCyberspace.com> This book will be a valuable addition to the growing body of literature on cyberspace and what it means for the future

Mapping Cyberspace Martin Dodge, Rob Kitchin, 2001 The book also charts the spatialities spatial forms and space time relations of virtual spaces details empirical research and examines a wide variety of maps and spatialisations of cyberspace and the information society The findings and theories of researchers from geography cartography sociology cultural studies computer mediated communications information visualisation literary theory and cognitive psychology are contained within the text

Mapping Different Geographies Karel Kriz, William Cartwright, Lorenz Hurni, 2010-09-15 This book is the outcome of the work of contributors who participated in the workshop Mapping Different Geographies MDG in February 2010 held in Puchberg am Schneeberg Austria This meeting brought together cartographers artists and geoscientists who research and practice in applications that focus on enhancing or to one communication or develop and evaluate methodologies that provide innovative methods for sharing information The main intention of the workshop was to investigate how different geographies are being mapped and the possibilities for developing new theories and techniques for information design and transfer based on place or location So as to communicate these concepts it was important to appreciate the many contrasting meanings of mapping that were held by workshop participants Also the many and varied viewpoints of what different geographies are were elaborated upon and discussed Therefore as the focus on space and time was embedded within everyone's fields of investigation this was addressed during the workshop This resulted in very engaging discourse which in some cases exposed the restrictions that certain approaches need to consider For participants this proved to be most useful as this allowed them to appreciate the limits and restrictions of their own approach to understanding and representing different geographies As well the workshop also was most helpful as a vehicle for demonstrating the common ground of interest held by the very diverse areas of endeavour that the workshop participants work within

Mapping Cyberspace Joseph E. Behar, 1997

The Political Mapping of Cyberspace Jeremy W. Crampton, 2003 This book is about the politics of cyberspace It shows that cyberspace is no mere virtual reality but a rich geography of practices and power relations Using concepts and methods derived from the work of Michel Foucault Jeremy Crampton explores the construction of digital subjectivity web identity and authenticity as well as the nature and consequences of the digital divide between the connected and those abandoned in limbo He demonstrates that it is by processes of mapping that we understand cyberspace and in doing so delineates the critical role maps play in constructing cyberspace as an object of knowledge Maps he argues shape political thinking about cyberspace and he deploys in depth case studies of crime mapping security and geo surveillance to show how we map ourselves onto cyberspace inexorably and indelibly Clearly argued and vigorously written this book offers a powerful reinterpretation of cyberspace politics and contemporary life Cybermapping and the Writing of Myth Paul Jahshan,2007 Original Scholarly Monograph Mapping Jeremy W.
