(England, König), Helen Wallis, British Library, 1981-01-01 Monarchs, Ministers, and Maps David Buisseret, 1992-12-15

These diverse essays investigate political factors behind the rapid development of cartography in Renaissance Europe and its impact on emerging European nations By 1500 a few rulers had already discovered that better knowledge of their lands would strengthen their control over them by 1550 the cartographer s art had become an important instrument for bringing territories under the control of centralized government Throughout the following century increasing governmental reliance on maps demanded greater accuracy and more sophisticated techniques This volume a detailed survey of the political uses of cartography between 1400 and 1700 in Europe answers these questions When did monarchs and ministers begin to perceive that maps could be useful in government For what purposes were maps commissioned How accurate and useful were they How did cartographic knowledge strengthen the hand of government By focusing on particular places and periods in early modern Europe the chapters offer new insights into the growth of cartography as a science the impetus behind these developments often rulers attempting to expand their power and the role of mapmaking in European history The essay on Poland reveals that cartographic progress came only under the impetus of powerful rulers another explores the French monarchy s role in the burst of scientific cartography that marked the opening of the splendid century Additional chapters discuss the profound influence of cartographic ideas on the English aristocracy during the sixteenth century the relation of progress in mapmaking to imperialistic goals of the Spanish and Austrian Habsburgs and the supposed primacy of Italian mapmaking following the Renaissance Contributors to this volume are Peter Barber David Buisseret John Marino Michael J Mikos Geoffrey Parker and James Vann These essays were originally presented as the Kenneth Nebenzahl Jr Lectures in the History of Cartography at the Newberry Library

Maps and Travel in the Middle Ages and the Early Modern Period Ingrid Baumgärtner, Nirit Ben-Aryeh Debby, Katrin Kogman-Appel, 2019-03-04 The volume discusses the world as it was known in the Medieval and Early Modern periods focusing on projects concerned with mapping as a conceptual and artistic practice with visual representations of space and with destinations of real and fictive travel Maps were often taken as straightforward objective configurations However they expose deeply subjective frameworks with social political and economic significance Travel narratives whether illustrated or not can address similar frameworks Whereas travelled space is often adventurous and speaking of hardship strange encounters and danger city portraits tell a tale of civilized life and civic pride The book seeks to address the multiple ways in which maps and travel literature conceive of the world communicate a Weltbild depict space and or define knowledge The volume challenges academic boundaries in the study of cartography by exploring the links between mapmaking and artistic practices The contributions discuss individual mapmakers authors of travelogues mapmaking as an artistic practice the relationship between travel literature and mapmaking illustration in travel literature and imagination in depictions of newly explored worlds Ships on Maps Richard W. Unger, 2010-08-04 Renaissance map makers produced ever more accurate descriptions of geography which were also beautiful works of art They filled the oceans Europeans were exploring with ships and to describe the real ships which were the newest and best products of technology Above all the ships were there to show the European conquest of the seas of the world Visualizing the Text Lauren Beck, Christina Ionescu, 2017-05-01 This volume presents in depth and contextualized analyses of a wealth of visual materials These documents provide viewers with a mesmerizing and informative glimpse into how the early modern world was interpreted by image makers and presented to viewers during a period that spans from manuscript culture to the age of caricature The premise of this collection responds to a fundamental question how are early modern texts objects and systems of knowledge imaged and consumed through bimodal hybrid or intermedial products that rely on both words and pictures to convey meaning The twelve contributors to this collection go beyond traditional lines of inquiry into word and image interaction to deconstruct visual dynamics and politics to show how images were shaped manipulated displayed and distributed to represent the material world to propagate official and commercial messages to support religious practice and ideology or to embody relations of power These chapters are anchored in various theoretical and disciplinary points of departure such as the history of collections and collecting literary theory and criticism the histories of science art history and visual culture word and image studies as well as print culture and book illustration Authors draw upon a wide range of visual material hitherto insufficiently explored and placed in context in some cases hidden in museums and archives or previously assessed only from a disciplinary standpoint that favored either the image or the text but not both in relation to each other They include manuscript illuminations representing compilers and collections frontispieces and other accompanying plates published in catalogues and museographies astronomical diagrams mixed pictographic alphabetic accounting documents Spanish baroque paintings illustrative frontispieces or series inspired by or designed for single novels or anthologies anatomical drawings featured in encyclopedic publications visual patterns of volcanic formations engravings representing the New World that accompany non fictional travelogues commonplace books that interlace text and images and graphic satire Geographically the collection covers imperial centers Great Britain France the Netherlands and Spain as well as their colonial periphery New France Mexico Central America South America in particular Brazil parts of Africa and the island of Ceylon Emblematic and thought provoking these images are only fragments of the multifaceted and comprehensive visual mosaic created during the early modern period but their consideration has far reaching implications Maps & Civilization Norman Joseph William Thrower, 1999 Preface1 Introduction Maps of Preliterate Peoples2 Maps of Classical Antiquity3 Early Maps of East and South Asia4 Cartography in Europe and Islam in the Middle Ages5 The Rediscovery of
