Photojournalism and the Origins of the French Writer House Museum (1881-1914) Elizabeth Emery,2017-07-05 Why did writers private homes become so linked to their work that contemporaries began preserving them as museums Photojournalism and the Origins of the French Writer House Museum addresses this and other questions by providing an overview of the social forces that brought writers homes to the forefront of the French imagination at the end of the nineteenth century and the beginning of the twentieth This study analyzes representations of the apartments and houses of Corneille Hugo Balzac Dumas Sand Zola Loti Montesquiou Mallarm and Proust among others arguing that the writer s home became a contested space and an important part of the French patrimony at this time This is the first book to emphasize the house museum as an essentially modern construct and to trace the history of ideas leading to its institutionalization in twentieth century France The interdisciplinary study also brings new attention to the importance of photojournalism for fin de si e France and brings to light fascinating and forgotten examples of at home photography by Dornac and Henri Mairret Elizabeth Emery provides a fresh and compelling perspective on conjunctions between visual literary and material cultures

Natural Language and Information Systems Vijayan Sugumaran,Myra Spiliopoulou,2008-06-16 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 13th International Conference on Applications of Natural Language to Information Systems NLDB 2008 held in London UK in June 2008 The 31 revised full papers and 14 revised poster papers presented together with 3 invited talks and 4 papers of the NLDB 2008 doctoral symposium were carefully reviewed and selected from 82 submissions The papers are organized in topical sections on natural language processing and understanding conceptual modelling and ontologies information retrieval querying and question answering document processing and text mining software requirements engineering and specification Spatial Prepositions Claude Vandeloise,1991-10-08 This striking study of the meaning and use of the major spatial prepositions in French provides valuable insight into how the human mind organizes spatial relationships. Most previous analyses of spatial prepositions have assumed that their semantic properties can be adequately explained by familiar logical and geometrical concepts. Thus the standard view of the preposition in as it appears in the sentence the ball is in the bag postulates that it refers to the geometrical relation of inclusion. This paradigm however falters when faced with the contrast in acceptability between sentences such as the bulb is in the socket and the bottle is in the cap. The force exerted by the landmark, a conceptually fixed object, on the target, a moveable object, is crucial in this difference: the functional notion of containment seems more operational in the use of the preposition in than inclusion. That is, what are taken to be the landmark and the target depend greatly on the functions these objects serve in the human scheme. This offers important clues to otherwise problematic linguistic quirks such as why one sleeps in one's bed while one is said to lie on one's deathbed. While many of the examples apply in English as well as French, there are some noteworthy differences in French: one sits on a chair but on a couch. Vandeloise convincingly argues that it is precisely this subjective element which makes a standard geometrical account unfeasible.

Albert Cohen Jack I. Abecassis, 2020-03-03 Honorable Mention winner in the Modern Language Association's Aldo and Jeanne Scaglione Prize competition for French and Francophone Literary Studies. A major figure in twentieth-century letters, Albert Cohen (1895-1981) left a paradoxical legacy. His heavily autobiographical, strikingly literary and polyphonic novels and lyrical essays are widely read by a devout public in France yet have been largely ignored by academia. A self-consciously Jewish writer and activist, Cohen remained nevertheless ambivalent about Judaism. His self-affirmation as a Jew in juxtaposition with his satirical use of anti-Semitic stereotypes still provokes unease in both republican France and institutional Judaism. In Albert Cohen: Dissonant Voices, the first English language study of this profound and profoundly misunderstood writer, Jack I. Abecassis traces the recurrent themes of Cohen's works. He reveals the dissonant fractures marking Cohen as a modernist and analyzes the resistance to his work as a symptom of the will not to understand Cohen's main theme: the catastrophe of being Jewish. For Abecassis, Cohen's diverse oeuvre forms a single roman fleuve exploring this perturbing theme through fragmentation and grotesquerie, fantasies and nightmares, the veiling and unveiling of the unspeakable. Abecassis argues that Cohen should not be read exclusively through the prism of European literature (Stendhal, Tolstoy, Proust) but rather as the retelling, inverting and ultimately exhausting in the form of submerged plots, of the Biblical romances of Joseph and Esther. The romance of the charismatic Court Jew and its performance, correlative to the carnival of Purim, generate the logic of Cohen's acute psychological ambivalence, historical consciousness and carnal sensuality themes which link this modernist author to Genesis as well as to the literary practices of Sephardic crypto-Jews. Abecassis argues that Cohen's best-known work, Belle du Seigneur (1968), besides being an obvious tale of obsessive love and dissolution, is foremost a tale of political intrigue involving Solal, the meteoric rising Jew in the League of Nations during the period of Appeasement (1936) and his ultimate self-destruction. Providing close readings and imaginative analyses of the entire literary output of one of twentieth century France's most important Jewish writers Abecassis presents here a major work of literary scholarship as well as a broader study of the reception and influence of Jewish thought in French literature and philosophy

Mieux Écrire en Français Michèle R. Morris, 1988 This expanded edition serves as a comprehensive reference guide as well as a systematic learner centered approach for native English speaking students The author addresses the most common problems of writing in French and progresses from words to sentences to paragraphs to the elaboration of accurate and authentic expository prose

The Categories of Grammar Alan Huffman, 1997-02-13 This book offers an analysis of the French clitic object pronouns lui and le in the radically functional Columbia school framework contrasting this framework with sentence based treatments of case selection It suggests that features of the sentence such as subject and object relations normally taken as pretheoretical categories of observation about language are in fact part of a theory of language which does not withstand empirical testing It shows that the correct categories are neither those of structural case nor those of lexical case but rather semantic ones Traditionally anomalies in the selection of dative and accusative case in French such as case government use of the dative for possession and disadvantaging its use in the faire causative construction and other puzzling distributional irregularities have been used to support the idea of an autonomous non functional central core of syntactic phenomena in language The present analysis proposes semantic constants for lui and le which render all their occurrences explicable in a straightforward way The same functional perspective informs issues of cliticity and pronominalization as well The solution offered here emerges from an innovative instrumental view of linguistic meaning an acknowledgment that communicative output is determined only partially and indirectly by purely linguistic input with extralinguistic knowledge and human inference bridging the gap This approach entails identification of the pragmatic factors influencing case selection and a reevaluation of thematic role theory and reveals the crucial impact of discourse on the structure as well as the functioning of grammar One remarkable feature of the study is its extensive and varied data base The hypothesis is buttressed by hundreds of fully contextualized examples and large scale counts drawn from modern French texts

Descriptions monumentales et discours sur l'édification chez Paulin de Nole Gaëlle Herbert de la Portbarré-Viard, 2006-10-01 Pontius Meropius Paulinus ca 353-431 one of the greatest poets of Late Latin Poetry and author of an important correspondence was born in a wealthy family of the Gallo-Roman aristocracy in Bordeaux After his spectacular conversion to asceticism and his sacerdotal ordination he set up definitively as a monk in Italy in Campanian Nola besides the tomb of St Felix There Paulinus devoted his considerable fortune to the restructuring of the monumental complex which has appeared around this holy place since the early years of the fourth century and mainly a church This book is a literary and spiritual study of the description of this complex carm 27 and 28 and epist 32 an other way of edification the edification of the soul in temple for her creator A careful comparison with archaeological testimonies must help estimate the status of Paulinus monumental descriptions Pontius Meropius Paulinus vers 353-431 un des plus grands poètes de l'Antiquité

French-English Ebenezer Clifton, 1923

A New French-English and English-French Dictionary Ebenezer Clifton, Adrien Grimaux, J. McLaughlin, 1923

Toujours Tingo Adam Jacot de Boinod, 2007-11-01 Why would Germans accuse you of being like the donkey getting cross with a rabbit? Who would a Spaniard tell to go and fry asparagus? And when might the French claim they are without a radish? Furthering your knowledge of the world's unusual idioms Toujours Tingo will also explain how ordering lamb in Ethiopia may see a cow delivered to your table and how politicians in Sweden may be encouraged occasionally to go a little Pudel do a full poodle with some humble apologising. Covering such wide ranging linguistic necessities as arguing raising children working and dining out and filling all those gaps that English leaves thoughtlessly unplugged this book's charm would for Russians at least be éternellement évident even to a hedgehog.

Tables of Knowledge Harriet Amy Stone, 2006 Tables of Knowledge shows that Dutch genre paintings and still lifes enact in visual form a process of recording information similar to that of science with intriguing results. Stone investigates such diverse topics as seventeenth century advances in optics and the attendant explosion of data about the natural world the proliferation of material goods in prosperous Dutch homes and the compelling realism of Golden Age paintings.
