On The Poetry Of Philip Levine:

On the Poetry of Philip Levine Philip Levine, 1990-12-31 The first critical collection to focus on Levine New Selected Poems of Philip Levine Philip Levine, 2011-09-07 LIGHTS I HAVE SEEN BEFORE The children are off somewhere and when I waken I hear only the buzz of current in the TV and the refrigerator groaning against the coming day I rise and wash there is nothing to think of except the insistent push of water and the pipe s One for the Rose Philip Levine, 1981

The Mercy Philip Levine, 2000-10-24 Philip Levine s new collection of poems his first since The Simple Truth was awarded the Pulitzer Prize is a book of journeys the necessary ones that each of us takes from innocence to experience from youth to age from confusion to clarity from sanity to madness and back again from life to death and occasionally from defeat to triumph The book s mood is best captured in the closing lines of the title poem which takes its name from the ship that brought the poet s mother to America A nine year old girl travels all night by train with one suitcase and an orange She learns that mercy is something you can eat again and again while the juice spills over your chin you can wipe it away with the back of your hands and you can never get enough The Simple Truth Philip Levine, 2011-08-31 Winner of the Pulitzer Prize in 1995 Written in a voice that moves between elegy and prayer The Simple Truth contains thirty three poems whose aim is to weave a complex tapestry of myth history both public and private family memory and invention in a search for truths so basic and universal they often escape us all My Lost Poets Philip Levine, 2018-04-03 Now in paperback essays speeches and journal entries from one of our most admired and best loved poets that illuminate how he came to understand himself as a poet the events and people that he wrote about and the older poets who influenced him In prose both as superbly rendered as his poetry and as down to earth and easy as speaking Levine reveals the things that made him the poet he became In the title essay originally the final speech of his poet laureate year he recounts how as a boy he composed little speeches walking in the night woods near his house and how he later realized these were his first poems He wittily takes on the poets he studied with in the Iowa Writers Workshop John Berryman who was his great teacher and lifelong friend and Robert Lowell who was neither His deepest influences jazz Spain the working people of Detroit are reflected in many of the pieces There are essays on the Spanish poets he admires on William Carlos Williams Wordsworth Keats and others A wonderful moving collection of writings that add to our knowledge and appreciation of Philip Levine both the man and the poet New Selected Poems Philip Levine, 1991 Includes selections from the poet s latest works Sweet will and A walk with Tom Jefferson The Last Shift Philip Levine, 2016 The final collection of new poems from one of our finest and most beloved poets The poems in this wonderful collection touch all of the events and places that meant the most to Philip Levine There are lyrical poems about his family and childhood the magic of nighttime and the power of dreaming tough poems about the heavy shift work at Detroit s auto plants the Nazis and bosses of all kinds telling poems about his heroes jazz players artists and working people of every description even children Other poems celebrate places and things he loved the gifts of winter dawn a wall in Naples an English hilltop Andalusia And he makes peace with Detroit Slow learner that I am it took me one night to discover that rain in New York City is just like rain in Detroit It gets you wet It is a peace that comes to full fruition in a moving goodbye to his home town in the final poem in the collection The Last Shift Not This Pig Philip Levine, 2012-01-01 A compelling second collection of poetry Breath Philip Levine, 2006-01-17 Always a poet of memory and invention Philip Levine looks back at his own life as well as the adventures of his ancestors his relatives and his friends and at their rites of passage into an America of victories and betrayals He transports us back to the street where he was born early in the final industrial century to help us envision an America he's known from the 1930s to the present His subjects include his brothers a great uncle who gave up on America and returned to czarist Russia a father who survived unspeakable losses the artists and musicians who inspired him and fellow workers at the factory who shared the best and worst of his coming of age Throughout the collection Levine rejoices in song Dinah Washington wailing from a jukebox in midtown Manhattan Della Daubien hymning on the crosstown streetcar Max Roach and Clifford Brown at a forgotten Detroit jazz palace the prayers offered to God by an immigrant uncle dreaming of the Judean hills the hoarse notes of a factory worker who completing another late shift serenades the sleeping streets Like all of Levine's poems these are a testament to the durability of love the strength of the human spirit the persistence of life in the presence of the coming dark Sweet Will Philip Levine, 2013-07-03 Pulitzer Prize winning poet Philip Levine published Sweet Will his eleventh volume of poems in 1985 His last book with Atheneum it has been unavailable for many years Because of its subdued and thoughtful nature it was seen as a transitional book for Levine one that presaged the tone of much that was to come Peter Stitt writing in the Kenyon Review called it the quietest book that Philip Levine has ever written concluding that though the river that glides through it is still on the surface the sweetness of its will runs deep indeed And Dave Smith writing in Poetry delighted in the poems of emergent tenderness and faith and claimed that linking himself to Wordsworth who loved this world uncommonly in uncommon poetry Philip Levine has lifted his moral tale to the level of joyful celebration The poems in Sweet Will are set in Detroit California New York Europe and the country of memory Their aim is to bring the overlooked events of daily life into a sharper focus that transcends the ordinary At the time of its original publication the book was seen as an attempt to bring together the themes and methods of Levine's early groundbreaking work the anger of They Feed They Lion the family concerns of 1933 the characters of The Names of the Lost and the hopes of One for the Rose Yet it is clearly a mid career book composed by a poet who can begin to look back in tranquility at a tempestuous life The poems including the long meditation of more than five hundred lines A Poem with No Ending are beautiful and essential Restored to print they will resonate with readers who love both the earlier and the later work of one of our most important poets What Work Is Philip Levine, 2011-08-31 Winner of the National Book Award in 1991 This collection amounts to a hymn of praise for all the workers of America These proletarian heroes with names like Lonnie Loo Sweet Pea and Packy work the furnaces forges slag heaps assembly lines and loading docks at places with unglamorous names like Brass Craft or Feinberg and Breslin's First Rate Plumbing and Plating Only Studs Terkel's Working approaches the pathos and beauty of this book But Levine's characters are also significant for their inner lives not merely their jobs They are unusually artistic living at the borders of dreams One reads The Tempest slowly to himself another ponders a diagonal chalk line drawn by his teacher to suggest a triangle the roof of a barn or the mysterious separation of the dark from the dark What Work Is ranks as a major work by a major poet very accessible and utterly American in tone and language Daniel L Guillory Library Journal

Stranger to Nothing Philip Levine, 2006 Always a poet of memory and invention Philip Levine has written poems which search for universal truths In this collection his poetry addresses the joys and sufferings of industrial life with radiant feeling as well as painful irony

A Walk with Tom Jefferson Philip Levine, 2013-03-13 The inspiration for the title poem of Philip Levine's A Walk with Tom Jefferson is not the founding father and third president of the United States that most readers would imagine upon hearing the name Levine's Tom Jefferson is quite different from his namesake he is an African American living in a destitute area of industrial Detroit But to Levine he is wise compassionate deliberate honest a great unknown American In A Walk with Tom Jefferson Philip Levine reminds us why he is best known for his poems about working class life in Detroit and why so many people count a Levine poem among their favorites

Unselected Poems Philip Levine, 1997 For over 30 years now readers of contemporary poetry have known Levine's work for its elegiac narrative its forceful rhythms and rhetoric and its Vivas praising the dignity of the human spirit With Unselected Poems he rescues many of his best earlier poems and offers a selection of stunning new and uncollected work Christopher Buckley His poems are about endurance in all its senses and that is their affirmation They are about the kind of courage people have when courage fails In short they are such poems as possess beyond their technical strength and emotional urgency a kind of necessity whatever it is the truth must exist for all our sakes Hayden Carruth Bookletter
