Travel and Home in Homer's Odyssey and Contemporary Literature Carol Dougherty, 2019-06-20 Travel and Home in Homer's Odyssey and Contemporary Literature brings Homer's Odyssey together with contemporary literary texts ranging from Rebecca West's The Return of the Soldier to Marilynne Robinson's Housekeeping and Cormac McCarthy's The Road to produce new readings that reframe reorient and ultimately revise aspects of Homer's iconic story of travel and home While some novels share with the Odyssey a celebration of the creative process of improvisation to rethink the relationship between home and travel others draw upon nostalgia our complicated longing for home to unsettle the inevitability of return Rather than offering an explicit retelling of Homer's poem each of these novels prompts us to revisit the relationship between travel and home that Odysseus and Penelope embody to ask new questions of that well read text Does travel reinforce or destabilize our notion of home Are mobility and domesticity irrevocably gendered or can we imagine a world in which Penelope travels and Odysseus stays home Just as Odysseus continually reinvents his own identity with each new encounter both abroad and at home so too we as readers participate in an improvisatory interpretive experiment of our own This volume sets out a new model for reading ancient and contemporary texts together one that challenges the conventional chronological assumptions inherent in many works of classical reception No longer a stable text to which we as readers return time and again to find it the same the Odyssey together with the novels with which it engages changes and adapts with each new literary encounter

The Heart of Confederate Appalachia John C. Inscoe, Gordon B. McKinney, 2003-06-19 In the mountains of western North Carolina the Civil War was fought on different terms than those found throughout most of the South Though relatively minor strategically incursions by both Confederate and Union troops disrupted life and threatened the social stability of many communities Even more disruptive were the internal divisions among western Carolinians themselves Differing ideologies turned into opposing loyalties and the resulting strife proved as traumatic as anything imposed by outside armies As the mountains became hiding places for deserters draft dodgers fugitive slaves and escaped prisoners of war the conflict became a more localized and internalized guerrilla war less rational and more brutal mean spirited and personal and ultimately more demoralizing and destructive From the valleys of the French Broad and Catawba Rivers to the peaks of the Blue Ridge and Great Smoky Mountains the people of western North Carolina responded to the war in dramatically different ways Men and women masters and slaves planters and yeomen soldiers and civilians Confederates and Unionists bushwhackers and home guardsmen Democrats and Whigs all their stories are told here The Ladies' Home Journal ,1897 A Generation at War Nicole Etcheson, 2023-02-10 For all that has been written about the Civil War's impact on the urban northeast and southern home fronts we have until now lacked a detailed picture of how it affected specific communities in the Union's Midwestern heartland Nicole Etcheson offers a deeply researched microhistory of one such community Putnam County

Indiana from the Compromise of 1850 to the end of Reconstruction and shows how its citizens responded to and were affected by the war Delving into the everyday life of a small town in one of the nineteenth century's bellwether states A Generation at War considers the Civil War within a much broader chronological context than other accounts It ranges across three decades to show how the issues of the day particularly race and sectionalism temporarily displaced economic and temperance concerns how the racial attitudes of northern whites changed and how a generation of young men and women coped with the transformative experience of war Etcheson interrelates an impressively wide range of topics Through temperance and alcohol she illustrates nativism and class consciousness while through an account of a murder she probes ethnicity politics and gender She reveals how some women wanted to maintain dependence and how the war gave independence to others as pensions allowed them to survive without a male provider And she chronicles the major shift in race relations as the most revolutionary change blacks had been excluded from Indiana in the 1850s but were invited into Putnam County by 1880 Etcheson personalizes all of these issues through human stories bringing to life people previously ignored by history whether veterans demanding recognition of their sacrifice women speaking out against liquor or Copperheads parading against Republicans The introduction of race with the North Carolina Exodusters marks a particularly effective lens for seeing how the idealism unleashed by Lincoln's war influenced the North Etcheson also helps us understand how white Southerners tried to reunify the country on the basis of shared white racism Drawing on personal papers local newspapers pension petitions Exoduster pamphlets and more Etcheson demonstrates how microhistory helps give new meaning to larger events A Generation at War opens a new window on the impact of the Civil War on the agrarian North
