On Your Left The New Historical Materialism:

Monstrous Mothers: Troubling Tropes Andrea O'Reilly, Abigail L. Palko, 2021-08-01 Motherhood is one of those roles that assumes an almost outsized cultural importance in the significance we force it to bear. It becomes both the source of and the repository for all kinds of cultural fears. Its ubiquity perhaps makes it this perfect foil. After all, while not everyone will become a mother, everyone has a mother. When we force motherhood to bear the terrors of what it means to be human, we inflict trauma upon those who mother. A long tradition of bad mothers thus shapes contemporary mothering practices and the way we view them, including the murderous Medea of Greek mythology, the power hungry Queen Gertrude of Hamlet, and the emasculating mother of Freud's theories. Certainly, there are mothers who cause harm, inflict abuse, act monstrously. Mothers are human. But mothers are also a favourite and easy scapegoat. The contributors to this collection explore a multitude of interdisciplinary representations of mothers that, through their very depictions of bad mothering, challenge the tropes of monstrous mothering that we lean on, revealing in the process why we turn to them. Chapters in Monstrous Mothers: Troubling Tropes explore literary, cinematic, and real-life monstrous mothers, seeking to uncover social sources and results of these monstrosities.

The Victorian Novel of Adulthood Rebecca Rainof, 2015-09-09 In The Victorian Novel of Adulthood, Rebecca Rainof confronts the conventional deference accorded the bildungsroman as the ultimate plot model and quintessential expression of Victorian nation building. The novel of maturity she contends is no less important to our understanding of narrative Victorian culture and the possibilities of fiction. Reading works by Charles Dickens, George Eliot, Henry James, John Henry Newman, and Virginia Woolf, Rainof exposes the little-discussed theological underpinnings of plot and situates the novel of maturity in intellectual and religious history, notably the Oxford Movement. Purgatory, a subject hotly debated in the period, becomes a guiding metaphor for midlife adventure in secular fiction. Rainof discusses theological models of gradual maturation, thus directing readers' attention away from evolutionary theory and geology and offering a new historical framework for understanding Victorian interest in slow and deliberate change.

Issues Around Aligning Theory, Research and Practice in Social Work Education Allucia L. Shokane, Jabulani C. Makhubele, Lisa V. Blitz, 2018-12-01 Issues Around Aligning Theory, Research and Practice in Social Work Education provides a reflection on social work education with a slant towards an Afrocentric approach, aiming to facilitate strong reflective thinking and to address local realities about social work education on the African continent as well as in broader global contexts. A significant contribution is made here to the scholarly understanding of opportunities to sustain the academic discourse on social work education. Hardison, 2014-05-13 In Writing through Jane Crow Ayesha Hardison examines African American literature and its representation of black women during the pivotal but frequently overlooked decades of the 1940s and 1950s At the height of Jim Crow racial segregation a time of transition between the Harlem Renaissance and the Black Arts movement and between World War II and the modern civil rights movement black writers also addressed the effects of Jane Crow the interconnected racial gender and sexual oppression that black women experienced Hardison maps the contours of this literary moment with the understudied works of well known writers like Gwendolyn Brooks Zora Neale Hurston Ann Petry and Richard Wright as well as the writings of neglected figures like Curtis Lucas Pauli Murray and Era Bell Thompson By shifting her focus from the canonical works of male writers who dominated the period the author recovers the work of black women writers Hardison shows how their texts anticipated the renaissance of black women's writing in later decades and initiates new conversations on the representation of women in texts by black male writers She draws on a rich collection of memoirs music etiquette guides and comics to further reveal the texture and tensions of the era A 2014 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title
