This book identifies and examines the legal challenges facing the shipping industry and ship management today. It first addresses flag state rules and private international law as organisational tools of the shipowner for establishing the applicable legal framework in an age of increasing regulatory activity and extraterritorial effect of legislation. It then focuses on sustainability requirements and the liability of shipping companies managing supply chains and ships as waste. The third section considers challenges stemming from times of financial crisis and deals with the cross border impact of shipping insolvencies, the UNCITRAL Model Law and the approaches of different jurisdictions. Finally, the fourth section concerns digitalisation and automation including delivery on the basis of digital release codes, bills of lading based on blockchain technology, the use of web portals and data sharing and particular aspects of the law relating to autonomous ships, notably in marine insurance and carriage of goods. The book will be a useful resource for academics and practising lawyers working in shipping and maritime law.

The International Maritime Organisation Samir Mankabady, 2024-05-01. Originally published in 1984, this book provides a survey of the shipping rules adopted under the auspices of the International Maritime Organisation (IMO) during the latter part of the 20th Century. Vessel-Source Marine Pollution Alan Khee-Jin Tan, 2005-12-22. Analysing the regulation of vessel source pollution from the perspective of the political interests of key players in the ship transportation industry, this 2005 book by Alan Khee Jin Tan offers a comprehensive and convincing account of how pollution of the marine environment by ships may be better regulated and reduced. In this timely study, he traces the history of regulation at the International Maritime Organization (IMO) and investigates the political, economic and social forces influencing the IMO treaties. Also examined are the efforts of maritime states, ship owners, cargo owners, oil companies and environmental groups to influence IMO laws and treaties. This is an important book which uncovers the politics behind the law and offers solutions for overcoming the deficiencies in the regulatory system. It will be of great interest to professionals in the shipping industry as well as practitioners and students.

Coherence and Divergence in Services Trade Law Rhea Tamara Hoffmann, Markus Krajewski, 2020-07-23. This book addresses topical questions concerning the legal framework of trade in services and assesses how these issues are dealt with in GATS and in selected preferential trade agreements. In addition, the chapters discuss whether the differences and similarities, if any, are evidence of greater coherence or greater divergence. The book combines the individual analyses to provide a more comprehensive picture of the current law on services trade liberalisation. A quarter of a century after the conclusion of the General Agreement on Trade and Services (GATS), international law on trade in services is still in a state of flux. On the one hand, countries increasingly conclude bilateral and regional trade agreements with sections on trade in services that aim at a further liberalisation of services trade. On the other, the GATS structure remains the dominant model and serves as the basis for many preferential trade agreements. In addition, new aspects such as electronic commerce data protection and taxation are now emerging while issues that had already manifested in the mid 1990s such as financial services regulation labour mobility and telecommunications continue to be problematic Usually the debates focus on the question of whether preferential trade agreements serve as a stepping stone or stumbling block for trade liberalisation at the multilateral level However it can be assumed that rules on trade in services in preferential trade agreements will coexist with the global GATS regime for the foreseeable future This raises the question of whether we are currently witnessing a drive towards greater coherence or more divergence in agreements on trade in services International Shipping, 1984
