THE THIRTY-SEVEN PRINCIPLES OF ENLIGHTENMENT Translated by Norman Yuan,1999-01-01 I am very impressed by Dharma Master Cheng Yen Thich Nhat Hanh Dharma Master Cheng Yen is a role model for us all Dalai Lama The Thirty Seven Principles of Enlightenment contains 7 parts 1 The Four Right Efforts 2 The Four Steps Towards Obtaining Supernatural Powers 3 The Four Considerations 4 The Five Roots 5 The Five Strengths 6 The Seven Factors of Wisdom and 7 The Noble Eightfold Path The Buddha reminded us to practice the Thirty Seven Principles to Enlightenment which tells us the way to live a wholesome life We must have right views and correct belief think in a wholesome way and earn our living honestly When we are inspired to do good and serve as a bodhisattva it takes just the slightest setback to upset us and make us afflicted Then we want to quit When we start to have the intention and conviction to do good very quickly our faith in what we re doing wavers and we lose our conviction It s all because we re upset or we resent others for not treating us well So we really have to be on guard against this and always be vigilant to stop ourselves from developing such a wrong mentality We need to always check to see whether our good intentions have changed whether we ve slackened or stopped and whether our convictions are gone Then we need to ask ourselves whether we have unintentionally injured people and made them lose their good intentions or convictions The Thirty Seven Principles of Enlightenment teaches us to reflect and realize how the body is unclean realize that feelings cause suffering realize our thoughts are impermanent and realize that all phenomena are empty of a true permanent self We must be cautious in all we do We have to take good care of our heart and mind and stay true to our Buddha nature by removing any wrong that has already started preventing any wrong from starting beginning doing good deeds and continuing to do good deeds We must never postpone doing good deeds or put off correcting our wrongs because regret is too high a price to pay We must avoid all that is wrong and do all that is good and wholesome because life is too short Like the morning dew drop that disappears once the sun rises life is as fleeting as a dream and as fragile as a bubble Since our life is so transient we should apply such truth in our daily life and think in seconds and not years A day is made up of 86 400 seconds Life changing incident can happen any second that means the difference between life and death To be safe and well at each second we ought to be very grateful At every passing second let us harbor a heart of gratitude and prevent our thoughts from going astray The Buddha s teachings are a wonderful guide especially when we live in turbulent times and natural disasters are happening at an alarming rate The Buddha wanted everyone to realize the truth of suffering its cause and the way to eliminate it and He exhorted all to faithfully uphold and walk the Eightfold Path Let us not rely only on knowledge to guide us in life but wisdom too When we do what is right we are using our wisdom When we refrain from doing what is wrong we are also using our wisdom We should learn quickly That will be a true blessing      Concise Principles of Buddhism Prinyayogavipulya (Luang.),1955      Handbook for Mankind Bhikkhu Buddhadasa,1988      The Buddhist meditation and certain principles of Buddhism S. C. Barua (Sree.),      Systems of Buddhistic Thought Sōgen Yamakami,1912      Thorsons Principles of Buddhism Kulananda,1996 A Buddhist life is lived with peace joy and contentment each day can be a step along the path to true enlightenment To live by these values every day takes patience skill and knowledge but it is hugely rewarding A definitive introduction into the growth of modern Buddhism that explains the ideas and beliefs at the heart of Buddhism By bringing out the essential elements of the religion the fundamental teachings of Buddhism are give a significance which transcends their historical origins This book explains in simple terms Who the Buddha was How to meditate The main types of Buddhism in the world today      The fundamental principles involved in Dr. Edward Caird's Philosophy of religion W. O. Lewis,1909      Essays on the Languages, Literature, and Religion of Nepal and Tibet Brian Houghton Hodgson,1874
