California. State Board of Prison Directors

Prisoner On The Dam:

Prisoner on the Dam Christopher Coram, 1982-01-01 Ramaseeana Sir William Henry Sleeman, 1836 Folsom Prison Jim Brown, 2008 Folsom Prison is California's second oldest prison dating back to 1880. In the decades following the Gold Rush, it housed some of the state's most notorious prisoners in stone dungeon-like cells behind solid metal doors. It was the first prison with electric power and for many years provided labor for various state projects including construction, fabrication, and printing of license plates. Thrust into the public consciousness in the 1960s by high-profile performances from country music's Johnny Cash, the prison remains a notorious and legendary institution. The variety of offenders housed at Folsom are incarcerated for a large gamut of criminal behavior, and the California Department of Corrections has been dedicated to rehabilitation efforts throughout the facility's long history. Annual Report of the State Board of Health of New York New York (State). Board of Health, 1883 Documents of the Assembly of the State of New York New York (State). Legislature. Assembly, 1879 Black Sailor, White Navy John Darrell Sherwood, 2007-11 John Darrell Sherwood has mined the archives of the U.S. Navy and conducted scores of interviews with Vietnam veterans, both black and white, and other military personnel to reveal the full extent of racial unrest in the Navy during the Vietnam War era, as well as the Navy's attempts to control it. During the second half of the Vietnam War, the Navy witnessed some of the worst incidents of racial strife ever experienced by the American military. Sherwood introduces us to fierce encounters on American warships and bases, ranging from sit-down strikes to major race riots. In particular, the incidents on the USS Kitty Hawk, the USS Hassayampa, and the USS Constellation. Sherwood seeks out the cause of this racial turbulence and asks if the Navy's subsequent reforms led to any resolution. The N.Y. Journal of the Senate of the State of New York ... New York (State). Legislature. Senate, 1874 Women, Families and the British Army 1700-1880 Jennine Hurl-Eamon, Lynn MacKay, 2020-03-10 This series concentrates on women and the soldiers in the ranks whose lives they shared, assembling a wide body of evidence of their romantic entanglements and domestic concerns. The new military history of recent decades has demanded a broadening of the source base beyond elite accounts or those that concentrate solely on battlefield experiences. Armies did not operate in isolation, and men's family ties influenced the course of events in a variety of ways. Camp-following women and children occupied a liminal space in campaign life. Those who travelled on the strength of the army received rations in return for providing services such as laundry and nursing, but they could also be grouped with prostitutes and condemned as a burden by officers. Parents, wives, and offspring left behind at home remained in soldiers' thoughts despite an army culture aimed at replacing kin with regimental ties. Soldiers' families suffering both on the march and back in Britain attracted public attention at key points in this period, as well. This series provides for the first time in one place a wide body of texts relating to common soldiers' personal lives, the women with whom they became involved their children and the families who cared for them It brings hitherto unpublished material into print for the first time and resurrects accounts that have not been in wide circulation since the nineteenth century The collection combines the observations of officers government officials and others with memoirs and letters from men in the ranks and from the women themselves It draws extensively on press accounts especially in the nineteenth century It also demonstrates the value of using literary depictions alongside the letters diaries memoirs and war office papers that form the traditional source base of military historians This first volume covers the period up to the outbreak of war with revolutionary France
