Private Infrastructure in East Asia Aldo Baietti, 2001-01-01 This report analyzes the impact of the financial crisis on investment trends and evaluates the strengths and weaknesses of private participation in infrastructure PPI in six East Asian countries Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines the Republic of Korea Thailand and Vietnam Private infrastructure in east

Asia : lessons learned in the aftermath of the crisis Aldo Baietti, 2001 Food and Agricultural Policy in Russia Csaba

Csáki, 2002-01-01 The agricultural sector in Russia has considerable untapped productive potential Given this potential agriculture could provide a solid foundation for growth and poverty alleviation particularly in rural areas of Russia The objectives of this book are to facilitate debate of issues key to agricultural policy to contribute to a greater understanding of the Russian agricultural sector outside of Russia and to identify a framework for further collaboration between the Russian government and the World Bank in the rural sector Agricultural Incentives in Sub-Saharan Africa Robert Frederick

Townsend, 1999-01-01 Printed on Demand Limited stock is held for this title If you would like to order 30 copies or more please contact books.worldbank.org Contact books.worldbank.org if currently unavailable QUOTEAs we move into the 21st century Africa faces tremendous opportunities for growth in which agriculture will continue to play a prominent role

Implementing the unfinished policy agenda is critical to realizing these opportunities QUOTE Hans P Binswanger Sector Director The main focus of this study is on improving the policy regime in Africa to stimulate agricultural growth It examines the state of agricultural incentives in Sub Saharan Africa taking stock of the current policy environment and its recent evolution to update knowledge and to help develop a stronger consensus on the appropriate policies and incentives that will stimulate agricultural growth The global environment is examined together with the macroeconomic export crop food crop and fertilizer policies in 16 African countries Reforms in Albanian Agriculture Severin Kodderitzsch, 1999-01-01

Agriculture provides the livelihood to 60% of the Albanian population Even though it is still fairly primitive and it will never probably ensure self sufficiency in major agricultural commodities it represents a useful shock absorber in the current situation of economic and social unrest Since it started its transition to a market economy in 1991 Albania has carried out major reforms in the agricultural sector at large achieving remarkable increases both in output and total factor productivity However more needs to be done to reduce rural poverty stop environmental degradation and increase integration with regional and international economies The paper provides an overview of the different policy and institutional aspects that will need to be considered for a balanced outcome Infrastructure Development in the Pacific Region Akira

Kohsaka, 2007-01-24 In the past undersupply of public infrastructure was blamed for low productivity growth in the United States in the 1970s while greater private sector participation was emphasized for infrastructure development in the Asia Pacific region before the Asian Economic Crisis in the 1990s This revealing book looks at the current economic situation and the state of infrastructure on both sides of the Pacific Including contributions from leading authorities such as Satya Paul Jim

Storey Tony Makin and Naoyuki Yoshino this book closely investigates the experiences of Japan Canada the US China Korea and Australia

Institutional Reform for Irrigation and Drainage Fernando J. Gonzalez, Salman M. A. Salman, 2002-01-01 If sustainable management of tropical forests is to be accomplished and deforestation brought under control the on the ground performance of existing forest concessions along with the allocation of new concessions will have to be strengthened This study examines the failures of forest concessions and the loss of tropical forests due to mismanagement during the last two decades It also emphasizes the potential gains resulting from strengthening the allocation management and supervision of concessions by concentrating on improving procedures introducing performance incentives and monitoring key performance elements

Czech Republic João do Carmo Oliveira, Jorge Martinez-Vazquez, 2001-01-01 This report contains the most significant elements of intergovernmental fiscal relations in the Czech Republic including administrative structure expenditure and revenue assignments fiscal imbalances and transfers access to borrowing and indebtedness and budgeting Although each of these elements is discussed in its own chapter it is important to remember that they are interrelated and that reform design needs to be conducted in a coordinated manner

Measurement and Meaning Estanislao Gacitúa-Marió, Quentin Wodon, 2001-01-01 This year's Global Economic Prospects argues for reshaping the global architecture of world trade to promote development and poverty reduction The report focuses on four policy areas Using the WTO ministerial to launch a development round of trade negotiations that would reduce global trade barriers Engaging in global collective action to promote trade outside the negotiating framework of the WTO Adopting pro trade development policies of high income countries unilaterally Enacting new trade reform in developing countries The report contends that the policies recommended in these four areas would reshape the global trade architecture in a way that would enhance the prospects of developing countries and reduce world poverty While the most likely scenario is for recovery beginning in 2002 today's slow growth of global trade and weakening financial flows to all but the most creditworthy countries has impeded growth in developing countries Global Economic Prospects 2002 concludes that the long term promise of well implemented trade reform is therefore tangible a world with a much higher standard of living hundreds of millions lifted out of poverty and a sharp increase in children living beyond their fifth birthday to become productive citizens of the world      Coping With the Cold Julian A. Lampietti, Anke Sophie Meyer, 2002      Does Eurosclerosis Matter? Michelle Riboud, Carolina Sánchez-Páramo, Carlos Silva-Jauregui, 2002 Whether or not labor market rigidities are an important contributor to persistently high levels of unemployment remains at the center of an important debate in Europe European labor markets are often viewed as rigid and inflexible in opposition to those in North America where legislation is less protective and fosters more mobility This paper shows that the labor market policies adopted by Central and Eastern European countries aspiring to join the European Union do not appear excessively rigid However significant and wide ranging economic reform programs make it difficult to assess the impact of labor market institutions      Poverty and

Ethnicity Ana Revenga, Dena Ringold, William Martín Tracy, 2002-01-01 Roma are a unique minority in Europe and with current estimates of between seven and nine million living throughout the continent they represent the largest minority group They are the main poverty risk group in many countries of central and eastern Europe yet there is little information available on their living conditions This paper analyses data from a new cross country household survey conducted by the Center for Comparative Research at Yale University into the ethnic dimension of poverty in Roma communities in Hungary Bulgaria and Romania Findings describe the multidimensional nature of Roma poverty both in terms of consumption and income as well as other deprivation measures such as housing and health status access to education and employment opportunities Significant structural factors are identified which reflect past and present discrimination Whilst specific policies need to be formulated at the country level the report also seeks to highlight common policy options among national governments Roma communities non governmental organisations and international agencies      The World Bank
