know that it's misleading One way to know that an argument is misleading is counterintuitively to lack expertise in the methods and evidence types employed by the argument When you know that a counterargument is misleading you shouldn't engage with it open mindedly and sometimes shouldn't engage with it at all You shouldn't engage open mindedly because you shouldn't be willing to reduce your confidence in response to arguments you know are misleading And you sometimes shouldn't engage closed mindedly because to do so can be manipulative or ineffective In making this case Jeremy Fantl discusses echo chambers and group polarization the importance in academic writing of a sympathetic case for the opposition the epistemology of disagreement the account of open mindedness and invitations to problematic academic speakers
