Poetry Fran Brearton, 2003 The Great War in Irish Poetry explores the impact of the First World War on the work of W B Yeats Robert Graves and Louis MacNeice in the period 1914 45 and on three contemporary Northern Irish poets Derek Mahon Seamus Heaney and Michael Longley Its concern is to place their work and memory of the Great War in the context of Irish politics and culture in the twentieth century The historical background to Irish involvement in the Great War is explained as are the ways in which issues raised in 1912 20 still reverberate in the politics of remembrance in Northern Ireland particularly through such events as the Home Rule cause the loss of the Titanic the Battle of the Somme the Easter Rising While the Great War is perceived as central to English culture and its literature holds a privileged position in the English literary canon the centrality of the Great War to Irish writing has seldom been recognised This book shows first that despite complications in Irish domestic politics which led to the repression of memory of the Great War Irish poets have been drawn throughout the century to the events and images of 1914 18 This engagement is particularly true of those writing in the troubled Northern Ireland of the last thirty years The second main concern is the extent to which recognition of the importance of the Great War in Irish writing has itself become a casualty of competing versions of the literary canon

From Tragedy to Apocalypse in American Literature Lin Atnip, 2024-06-15 From Tragedy to Apocalypse in American Literature Reading to Make Sense of Our Endings argues that imaginative literature is essential to comprehending contemporary threats to the survival of the human species and the preservation of our humanity Atnip outlines a theory of reading which directs us to realities and imperatives that are ignored denied or distorted by dominant social conventions and habits of cognition She then puts this theory into practice through readings of postwar American works by Robert Lowell Wallace Stevens Cormac McCarthy and Norman Maclean This book argues that these texts collectively educate us to a new ground of sense the apocalyptic sublime and the need for an unending effort to comprehend what it means to live a human life against this inhuman background
