Handbook of Research on Applying Universal Design for Learning Across Disciplines: Concepts, Case Studies, and Practical Implementation Fovet, Frederic, 2021-01-22 Universal design for learning UDL has been hailed for over a decade as a revolutionary lens that allows campuses to shift their efforts to create inclusive environments In recent years UDL has gone beyond the field of disability and been explored with regards to international and indigenous students There is now a sizable body of literature that details the benefits of implementing UDL in higher education as well as a number of emerging studies examining the strategic challenges of developing UDL across institutions There is however still a relative paucity of research discussing the transformation of instruction or assessment in concrete terms Therefore there is a necessity for research and information on UDL that has already been implemented in classrooms and the practical examples of what this process of transformation looks like The Handbook of Research on Applying Universal Design for Learning Across Disciplines Concepts Case Studies and Practical Implementation offers practical examples of UDL having successfully been embedded in courses within various disciplines and classroom formats as well as across the undergraduate and graduate sectors The chapters provide case studies and concrete examples of what the UDL reflection on practice might look like in specific faculties and departments While highlighting UDL in areas such as educational technology student engagement assignment design and inclusive education this book is ideally intended for inservice and preservice teachers administrators teacher educators higher education professors and leaders practitioners researchers academicians and students interested in the integration of UDL into strategic academic plans Annotated

Instructors Edition John J. Macionis, 2002-01-10      Securing a Place for Reading in Composition Ellen C. Carillo, 2015-01-15

Securing a Place for Reading in Composition addresses the dissonance between the need to prepare students to read not just write complex texts and the lack of recent scholarship on reading writing connections Author Ellen C Carillo argues that including attention to reading practices is crucial for developing more comprehensive literacy pedagogies Students who can read actively and reflectively will be able to work successfully with the range of complex texts they will encounter throughout their post secondary academic careers and beyond Considering the role of reading within composition from both historical and contemporary perspectives Carillo makes recommendations for the productive integration of reading instruction into first year writing courses She details a mindful reading framework wherein instructors help students cultivate a repertoire of approaches upon which they consistently reflect as they apply them to various texts This metacognitive frame allows students to become knowledgeable and deliberate about how they read and gives them the opportunity to develop the skills useful for moving among reading approaches in mindful ways thus preparing them to actively and productively read in courses and contexts outside first year composition Securing a Place for Reading in Composition also explores how the field of composition might begin to effectively address reading including conducting research on reading revising outcome statements and revisiting the core courses in graduate programs It will be of great interest to writing program administrators and other compositionists and their graduate students
