Connecting the Holocaust and the Nakba Through Photograph-based Storytelling Nawal Musleh-Motut, 2023-05-15 This unprecedented ethnographic study introduces a unique photography based storytelling method that brings together everyday Palestinians and Israelis to begin connecting rather than comparing their distinct yet organically connected histories of suffering and exile resulting from the Holocaust and the Nakba Working with Palestinians and Israelis living in their respective Canadian diasporas who are of the Holocaust and Nakba postmemory generations those who did not experience these traumas but are nonetheless haunted by them this study demonstrates that storytelling and photography enable the occasions and conditions of possibility necessary for willing the impossible That is by narrating and then exchanging their post memories of the Holocaust and or the Nakba through associated vernacular photographs project participants were able to connect rather than compare their histories of suffering and exile take moral ethical and political responsibility for one another and imagine new forms of cohabitation grounded in justice and equitable rights for all

Mapping Multi-Genre Literary Frameworks for Trans Studies* Jesse Jack, 2024-11-25 Mapping Multi Genre Literary Frameworks for Trans Studies Without Permanence examines the socio political contexts that have necessitated new twenty first century methods in transgender trans counter storytelling Jesse Jack articulates the role that counter narration serves in representing the empirical needs and realities of gender transing communities and in modeling negotiations between compliance and resistance being out and going stealth As the author contends gender transing communities in the West have been particularly constrained by exceptionalisms of permanence through which individuals who access permanent changes to gender markers on documents of origin e g birth certificates and embodiment e g gender affirming care are portrayed throughout the media state surveillance protocols and medical rubrics as authentic compliant and non threatening in contradistinction to more ambiguously gendered frequently racialized and sexualized persons Permanence becomes the exception to the rule that ambiguity presents a threat Jack argues that exceptional permanence emerged through several mutually reinforcing areas of study anthropology and the archive the genre of the trans autobiography sexology migration and surveillance and transgender exclusionary feminisms Through literary criticism this book examines emergent trans counterstories that construct new intertextual and cross genre literary forms designed to recognize ambiguity and mitigate the multifaceted demands and origins of permanence Afterimages of Slavery Marlene D. Allen, Seretha D.

Williams, 2014-01-10 Since the election of President Barack Obama many pundits have declared that we are living in a post racial America a culture where the legacy of slavery has been erased The new essays in this collection however point to a resurgence of the theme of slavery in American cultural artifacts from the late twentieth and twenty first centuries Ranging from disciplines as diverse as African American studies film and television architectural studies and science fiction the essays provide a provocative look into how and why slavery continues to recur as a trope in American popular culture By exploring how authors filmmakers historians and others engage and challenge the narrative of American slavery this volume invites further study of slavery in its contemporary forms of human trafficking and forced labor and challenges the misconception that slavery is an event of the past Seeking Sanctuary John Marnell, 2021-09 A glimpse into the lives of LGBTQ migrants in Johannesburg in their own words Seeking Sanctuary brings together poignant life stories from fourteen lesbian gay bisexual and transgender LGBT migrants refugees and asylum seekers living in Johannesburg South Africa The stories diverse in scope chronicle each narrator s arduous journey to South Africa and their corresponding movement towards self love and self acceptance The narrators reveal their personal battles to reconcile their faith with their sexuality and gender identity often in the face of violent persecution and how they have carved out spaces of hope and belonging in their new home country In these intimate testimonies the narrators resilience in the midst of uncertain futures reveal the myriad ways in which LGBT Africans push back against unjust and unequal systems Seeking Sanctuary makes a critical intervention by showing the complex interplay between homophobia and xenophobia in South Africa and of the state of sexual orientation and gender identity SOGI rights in Africa By shedding light on the fraught connections between sexuality faith and migration this ground breaking project also provides a model for religious communities who are working towards justice diversity and inclusion

Studies of Identity in the 2008 Presidential Campaign Robert E. Denton Jr., 2010-06-14 To simply say the 2008 presidential election was historic seems like an understatement The election was unique in many ways beyond the selection of the nation's first African American as President The drama of the election was also heightened by the historic nomination battle between Hillary Clinton and Barack Obama The contest generated issues of race and gender throughout the campaign as did the candidacy of Sarah Palin as the Republican Vice Presidential nominee And John McCain brought his own unique qualities to the campaign Vietnam War hero long term Congressional service record feisty temperament and the oldest first time presidential candidate to run for the Presidency Thus issues of race gender and age dominated the campaign both implicitly and explicitly The candidacies of Clinton Obama McCain and Palin provided the context and dynamics for charges of racism sexism and ageism Studies of Identity in the 2008 Presidential Campaign explores issues of identity politics and the presidential election Investigating all aspects of race gender or ageism the contributors to this volume address the role and function of identity politics in political campaigns and highlight challenges of identity politics in contemporary political campaigns

Family Bonds Ellen K. Feder,2007-08-06 Feminist and critical race theorists alike have long acknowledged the intersection of gender and race difference it is by now

a truism that the ways we become boys and girls men and women cannot be disentangled from the ways we become white or Black men and women Asian or Latino boys and girls And yet even as many have sought to attend to this intersection of difference most critical treatments focus finally either on the production of gender or the production of race Family Bonds proposes a new way to think about the categories of gender and race together It first explicates and then puts to work Foucault s archaeological and genealogical methods to advance the main argument of the book Gender is best understood primarily as a function of disciplinary power operating within the family while race is primarily a function of a regulatory power acting upon the family Each of the book s central chapters is an individual story or history the founding of Levittown the definitive suburb after the Second World War 1950s and 60s the development of the diagnosis of Gender Identity Disorder 1970s and 1980s and the federal coordination of scientific research on violence 1980s and 1990s Together they make up a larger story about the construction of race and gender in the U S in the second half of the twentieth century and demonstrate the centrality of the family in these constructions Rather than a formal study of Foucault s own work Family Bonds is an effort to produce genealogies of the sort that Foucault himself hoped his work would prompt
