Rock Of Ages Sands Of Time Paintings By Barbara Page Text By Warren Allmon:

Rock of Ages, Sands of Time Barbara Page, Warren D. Allmon, 2001-06-01 Two tiny trilobites in a vast Cambrian ocean drift past sea cucumber parasols and a shaggy tree like sponge Snail tracks loop enigmatically against brushed gray Silurian slate and ghostly white crinoids feather a Devonian seascape A delicate pterosaur flies bravely into the Jurassic gloom while a Tyrannosaurus rex so big that its teeth fill our field of vision stalks the deep orange sands that mark the end of the Cretaceous period These are just a few scenes from the magnificent drama that unfolds in glorious full color and three dimensional texture in Rock of Ages Sands of Time Each of Barbara Page's 544 contiguous painted panels represents a million years of the history of life on earth with fossil plants and animals depicted at the same scale and in association with each other just as they might be found by a paleontologist in the field A muted rainbow of background colors evoke the rocks in which the fossils were found the Texas Red Beds for instance or the yellow Solnhofen limestone and keystone events are shown metaphorically with fat rolls of paint marking major extinctions or continental drift To fully experience the awesome impact of an eon's worth of time spread across 500 feet of bas relief panels you'd have to visit the Museum of the Earth in Ithaca New York where Page's specially commissioned work will be installed when the museum opens in 2002 But this book is the next best thing Not only does it contain crisp color reproductions of each painting but it also includes an accessible essay from paleontologist Warren Allmon giving the scientific context behind the art For fossil lovers of all ages and anyone interested in the merging of art and science Rock of Ages Sands of Time will be the find of a lifetime Serious Daring

Susan Letzler Cole, 2016-11-01 Serious Daring is the story of the complementary journeys of two American women artists celebrated fiction writer Eudora Welty and internationally acclaimed photographer Rosamond Purcell each of whom initially practiced but then turned from the art form ultimately pursued by the other For both Welty and Purcell the art realized is full of the art seemingly abandoned Welty's short stories and novels use images of photographs photographers and photography Purcell photographed books texts and writing Both women make compelling art out of the seeming tension between literary and visual cultures Purcell wrote a memoir in which photographs became endnotes Welty re-emerged as a photographer through the publication of four volumes of what she called her snapshots magnificent black and white photographs of small town Mississippi and New York City life Serious Daring is a fascinating look at how the road not taken can stubbornly accompany the chosen path how what is seemingly left behind can become a haunting and vital presence in life and art

Beyond Science Standards Charles R. Ault Jr., 2021-11-15 Beyond Science Standards captures a vision of science education both whimsical and serious Ranging across examples from elementary to university level classrooms and grounded in philosophy and history the stories address dimensions beyond the realm of bureaucratic standards Its thesis brings into question the premise of scientific unity and its representation in school as notions of method process nature and practice Schools no less than the sciences profit from playful exploration of musical instruments in fourth grade physical science for example and hotel lobby decorative rock in a college geology course Aesthetic expression permeates geologic interpretation and evolutionary insight in depicting dentition for instance in the history of the horse family and linking this history to changing landscapes Participating in collecting local high altitude weather data enhances trust in climate science especially when the observations benefit the local farming community Allied with historical examples of the conduct of science Beyond Science Standards offers the reader inspiring stories of science teaching varying from place to place time to time discipline to discipline and purpose to purpose Teaching Big History Richard B. Simon,Mojgan Behmand,Thomas Burke,2014-12-23 Big History is a new field on a grand scale it tells the story of the universe over time through a diverse range of disciplines that spans cosmology physics chemistry astronomy geology evolutionary biology anthropology and archaeology thereby reconciling traditional human history with environmental geography and natural history Weaving the myriad threads of evidence based human knowledge into a master narrative that stretches from the beginning of the universe to the present the Big History framework helps students make sense of their studies in all disciplines by illuminating the structures that underlie the universe and the connections among them Teaching Big History is a powerful analytic and pedagogical resource and serves as a comprehensive guide for teaching Big History as well for sharing ideas about the subject and planning a curriculum around it Readers are also given helpful advice about the administrative and organizational challenges of instituting a general education program constructed around Big History The book includes teaching materials examples and detailed sample exercises This book is also an engaging first hand account of how a group of professors built an entire Big History general education curriculum for first year students demonstrating how this thoughtful integration of disciplines exemplifies liberal education at its best and illustrating how teaching and learning this incredible story can be transformative for professors and students alike American Paleontologist ,2001 The Publishers Weekly ,2001 Natural History ,2001 Journal of Vertebrate Paleontology ,2002 New Scientist ,2001 Museums Journal Elijah Howarth,F.
