especially the effects of major structural change on the profession between the period from the implementation of the Salmon and Mayston Reports up to the present time and Project 2000 The picture is in Dr Bowman's opinion not a very happy one from the viewpoint of the profession Some of the changes that have taken place have involved some loss of professional cohesion and were independent of the organizational framework of the National Health Service Nevertheless it is disturbing that nurses appear during the period covered to have had a quite inadequate input to the shaping of Health Policy There are already signs that the nursing profession has begun to absorb the warnings cited in Dr Bowman's study However in the wake of the National Health Service reforms and the implementing of a business culture in the National Health Service nurses may find the message of this book only too familiar That does not for one moment mean that the nursing input to corporate strategy and general direction should be defensive or reactionary British nursing continues to be highly regarded by the general public
