Seein Things

Heywood Broun

Seeing Things:

Seeing Things Alan Louis Ackerman, 2011-01-01 A technological revolution has changed the way we see things The storytelling media employed by Pixar Animation Studios Samuel Beckett and William Shakespeare differ greatly yet these creators share a collective fascination with the nebulous boundary between material objects and our imaginative selves How do the acts of seeing and believing remain linked Alan Ackerman charts the dynamic history of interactions between showing and knowing in Seeing Things a richly interdisciplinary study which illuminates changing modes of perception and modern representational media Seeing Things demonstrates that the airy nothings of A Midsummer Night's Dream the Ghost in Hamlet and soulless bodies in Beckett's media experiments alongside Toy Story's digitally animated toys all serve to illustrate the modern problem of visualizing as Hamlet put it that within which passes show Ackerman carefully analyses such ghostly appearances and disappearances across cultural forms and contexts from the early modern period to the present investigating the tension between our distrust of shadows and our abiding desire to believe in invisible realities Seeing Things provides a fresh and surprising cultural history through theatrical verbal pictorial and cinematic representations

Journeys Through Bookland Charles H. Sylvester, 2008-10-01 A collection of various pieces of poetry and prose

Seeing Things Alice McIntyre, 2011-11-08 In an effort to address her obsession with worrying about people ten year old Trina decides to invent an object she calls the Thing Whenever Trina starts becoming overly concerned about someone she opens the top of her magical box peeks inside and hopes that everything she sees will make her feel all right But one night everything is not all right While looking in the Thing Trina sees her older sister involved in a deadly car crash Suddenly Trina is left trying to make sense of events that are difficult for her to understand her sister's death her alcoholic father her overworked mother and her relationship with a God that would let bad things happen to good people The tragedy that befalls her family teaches Trina how to survive disappointment and loss with humor love and a belief in second chances

Seeing Things Hidden Malcolm Bull, 1999 The multiplicity of the self and the inaccessibility of truth are commonplaces of contemporary thought But in Seeing Things Hidden they become key features of a philosophy of history that reunites emancipatory political theory with the apocalyptic tradition Apocalyptic is the revelation of things hidden But what does it mean to be hidden And why are things hidden in the first place By gently teasing out the meanings of hiddenness this book develops a new theory of apocalyptic and explores its relation to the writings of Kant Hegel Benjamin and Derrida Exploiting affinities between the work of Lukács and recent American philosophers like Rorty and Cavell Bull argues that the central dynamic of late modernity is the coming into hiding of the contradictory identities generated through political and social emancipation Drawing on analytic and Continental philosophy he articulates the most ambitious philosophy of history since Francis Fukuyama's The End of History presenting fresh interpretations of such icons of modernity as Hegel's master slave dialectic Benjamin's angel of history Du Bois's concept of double consciousness and Rawls's veil of ignorance

Seeing

Things as They Are Duncan Reyburn, 2017-08-31 The jovial journalist philosopher and theologian G K Chesterton felt that the world was almost always in permanent danger of being misjudged or even overlooked and so the pursuit of understanding insight and awareness was his perpetual preoccupation Being sensitive to the boundaries and possibilities of perception he believed that it really was possible albeit in a limited way to see things as they are Duncan Reyburn marrying Chesterton's unique perspective with the discipline of philosophical hermeneutics aims to outline what Chesterton can teach us about reading interpreting and participating in the drama of meaning as it unfolds before us in words and in the world Chesterton's unique interpretive approach seems to be the implicit fascination of all Chesterton scholarship to date and yet this book is the first to comprehensively focus on the issue By taking Chesterton back to his philosophical roots via his marginalia his approach to literary criticism his Platonist Thomist metaphysics and his Roman Catholic theology Reyburn explicitly and compellingly tackles the philosophical assumptions and goals that underpin his unique posture towards reality

Seeing Things Differently Janet Kuypers, 2005 Seeing Things at Night Heywood Broun, 2020-07-31 Reproduction of the original Seeing Things at Night by Heywood Broun Werner's Readings and Recitations, 1903 Seeing Things as They are John R. Searle, 2015 This book provides a comprehensive account of the intentionality of perceptual experience With special emphasis on vision Searle explains how the raw phenomenology of perception sets the content and the conditions of satisfaction of experience The central question concerns the relation between the subjective conscious perceptual field and the objective perceptual field Everything in the objective field is either perceived or can be perceived Nothing in the subjective field is perceived nor can be perceived precisely because the events in the subjective field consist of the perceivings whether veridical or not of the events in the objective field Searle begins by criticizing the classical theories of perception and identifies a single fallacy what he calls the Bad Argument as the source of nearly all of the confusions in the history of the philosophy of perception He next justifies the claim that perceptual experiences have presentational intentionality and shows how this justifies the direct realism of his account In the central theoretical chapters he shows how it is possible that the raw phenomenology must necessarily determine certain form of intentionality Searle introduces in detail the distinction between different levels of perception from the basic level to the higher levels and shows the internal relation between the features of the experience and the states of affairs presented by the experience The account applies not just to language possessing human beings but to infants and conscious animals He also discusses how the account relates to certain traditional puzzles about spectrum inversion color and size constancy and the brain in the vat thought experiments In the final chapters he explains and refutes Disjunctivist theories of perception explains the role of unconscious perception and concludes by discussing traditional problems of perception such as skepticism The Art of Seeing Things John Burroughs, 2001 A collection of essays by noted naturalist John Burroughs in which he contemplates a wide array of topics including farming religion and conservation A departure from previous John Burroughs anthologies this volume celebrates the surprising range of his writing to include religion philosophy conservation and farming In doing so it emphasizes the process of the literary naturalist specifically the lively connection the author makes between perceiving nature and how perception permeates all aspects of life experiences
