A Love of Reading Robert Adams, 2011-01-14 Every year Robert Adams prepares a series of five reviews of contemporary novels to be delivered alone on a theatre stage to sold out audiences in Toronto and Montreal In A Love of Reading Adams has now gathered 18 of his most brilliant reviews from Jack Maggs by Peter Carey and The Poisonwood Bible by Barbara Kingsolver to A Fine Balance by Rohinton Mistry and Barney s Version by Mordecai Richler In them he skillfully interweaves a nimble and entertaining discussion of plot theme and characterization with fascinating historical biographical and literary context He is repeatedly drawn to the spectacle of less than perfect humans making their way in a hostile world and as a result a review by Robert Adams is almost always a hugely satisfying mix of rich pathos and abundant humour Famously Adams reads a book a day from which he selects only those novels that are truly extraordinary that have made him see some part of the world or some aspect of the human condition in a new light because for Adams the best books always take the reader on a journey with a destination very distant from the point of departure It should be not only a journey of discovery an exploration of the author s vision but also of risk By matching one s own vision to that of the author says Adams the reader enters an exciting negotiation to produce a new vision of his own This joint enterprise between reader and writer the shared risk and the wonder of discovery is the foundation of A Love of Reading For the last six years Robert Adams has presented an annual series of book reviews to sold out audiences Eighty per cent of Adams 3 000 subscribers in Toronto and Montreal renew for the following season This book is a selection of modern classics from a discriminating and entertaining guide Perfect for reading groups Quill Quire noting the jump in sales of any book reviewed by Adams has called the phenomenon The Adams Effect

My Uncle Bill and his Love Everest Peter Jalesh,2012-05-08 Uncle Bill tried to break his prosaic life by designing a sky high illusion that he d be able to reach the Mount Everest s peak alone and come back home safe and sound If I want to bring about my past I d have to choose one event any one and let your past roll from there I could start for instance by imagining the farm house in which I spent my childhood I wouldn't be able to make it through my memories without that beautiful house In the morning the porch floor and the banisters were always wet with dew so I had to walk prudently from a point to the next I could still see the Estonian hawk landing graciously on the porch pillar He used to eat with us There were no other hawks around here He'd fly off the porch once we finished our Sunday lunch He knows that we saved the leftovers for somebody else which in our case are our pigs In our farm we raise pigs

A Critical Edition of Caroline Norton's Love in "The World" Ross Nelson, Marie Mulvey-Roberts, 2023-10-10 Caroline Norton's forgotten novel which has remained unpublished until now tells of the perils of courtship facing a naive young girl Alixe who has been launched onto the London social season Her encounters with both a worthy and an undesirable suitor open an intriguing window onto the fashionable society of the 1820s in which Love in the World takes place In placing her heroine in these predicaments Norton was able to draw upon her own experiences of the bon ton as the time in which the novel is set coincides with her first ball in March 1826 when she burst upon the scene with all her beauty and brilliance later recalling I came out to find all London at my feet She believed that London could be as callous as the metropolitan social scene might prove treacherous and in alerting the reader to the dangers of fashionable society she makes ample use of her own observations as a debutante at her first London season In a highly readable and coherent narrative with an indeterminate ending which throws a spotlight onto her life and times the plot of Love in the World initially follows a pattern broadly representative of her own experience before developing in unexpected and surprising ways
