

Poem about Eros

By Maya Anthony

In whispers soft, love takes its flight,
On gossamer wings, through day and night.
Eros stirs, a subtle breeze,
In hearts, he plants his tender seeds.

With every beat, a yearning grows,
In love's light, the heart overflows.
Eros's touch, gentle and kind,
In his embrace, true love we find.

In silent moments, love is heard,
In every beat, in every word.
Eros's song, forever near,
In love's whisper, we find cheer.

Theories of Mimesis Arne Melberg, 1995-01-26 Mimesis with its connecting concepts of imitation simile and similarity has been cited since classical times in the exploration of the relationship between art and reality In this major study Arne Melberg discusses the theory and history of mimesis through narratological analysis of texts by Plato Cervantes Rousseau and Kierkegaard Moving away from the relatively straightforward representation of reality ideas in Erich Auerbach's Mimesis 1946 Melberg brings the concept of mimesis into the context of the literary theories of de Man and others Theories of Mimesis is a strenuously argued account of language and time charting the movement of mimesis from the Platonic philosophy of similarity to modern ideas of difference English Poetry of the Seventeenth Century George

Parfitt, 2014-09-19 Provides a comprehensive and entertaining account of the vitality and variety of achievement in seventeenth century English poetry Revised and up dated throughout Dr Parfitt has added new material on poets as varied as Marvell and Traherne There is also a completely new chapter on women poets of the seventeenth century which considers the significant contributions of writers such as Katherine Philips and Margaret Cavendish The proven quality and success of Dr Parfitt's survey makes this the essential companion for the teacher and student of seventeenth century verse Between Hebrew and Arabic Poetry Yosef Tobi, 2010-07-14 The book includes sixteen studies about medieval Hebrew poetry compared with Arabic poetry It is well known that since the tenth century medieval Hebrew poets took Arabic poetry as the ultimate paradigm in terms of prosody language purism and rhetorical devices and even in regard to poetical genres However the concept unifying all studies in this book is that a comparative examination must consider not only the identical elements in which Hebrew poetry borrowed from the Arabic one but also what is much more significant what Hebrew poetry stubbornly set itself at a distance from Arabic poetry The conclusive result of this sort of examination is that Hebrew poetry combined selectively borrowed Arabic poetical values with traditional ethical Jewish values to create a distinctive poetical school

Gender, Sexuality, and Material Objects in English Renaissance Verse Pamela S. Hammons, 2016-12-05 An important contribution to recent critical discussions about gender sexuality and material culture in Renaissance England this study analyzes female and male authored lyrics to illuminate how gender and sexuality inflected sixteenth and seventeenth century poets' conceptualization of relations among people and things human and non human subjects and objects Pamela S Hammons examines lyrics from both manuscript and print collections including the verse of authors ranging from Robert Herrick John Donne and Ben Jonson to Margaret Cavendish Lucy Hutchinson and Aemilia Lanyer and situates them in relation to legal theories autobiographies biographies plays and epics Her approach fills a crucial gap in the conversation which has focused upon drama and male authored works by foregrounding the significance of the lyric and women's writing Hammons exposes the poetic strategies sixteenth and seventeenth century English women used to assert themselves as subjects of property and economic agents in relation to material items ranging from personal property to real estate despite the dominant patriarchal ideology insisting they were ideally temporary passive vehicles for men's wealth The study details how women imagined their multiple complex interactions with the material world the author shows that how a woman poet represents herself in relation to material objects is a flexible fiction she can mobilize for diverse purposes Because this book analyzes men's and women's poems together it isolates important gendered differences in how the poets envision human subjects use control possession and ownership of things and the influences effects and power of things over humans It also adds to the increasing evidence for the pervasiveness of patriarchal anxieties associated with female economic agency in a culture in which women were often treated as objects Love between Men in English Literature Paul

Hammond,1996-11-12 This is the first book to provide an account of the representation of emotional and sexual relationships between men across English literature from the Renaissance to the modern period Based on new research but aimed at the student and the general reader Paul Hammond discusses major writers such as Marlowe and Shakespeare Tennyson and Wilde Forster and Lawrence but also introduces less familiar texts which cast light on the homosexual culture of their periods There is an extensive bibliography Shakespeare, Love and Language David Schalkwyk,2018-01-25 What is the nature of romantic love and erotic desire in Shakespeare's work In this erudite and yet accessible study David Schalkwyk addresses this question by exploring the historical contexts theory and philosophy of love Close readings of Shakespeare's plays and poems are delivered through the lens of historical texts from Plato to Montaigne and modern writers including Jacques Lacan Jean Luc Marion Ludwig Wittgenstein Jacques Derrida Alain Badiou and Stanley Cavell Through these studies it is argued that Shakespeare has no single or overarching concept of love and that in Shakespeare's work love is not an emotion Rather it is a form of action and disposition to be expressed and negotiated linguistically Poetry & Barthes Callie

Gardner,2018-10-11 The influence of Roland Barthes on contemporary culture has been the subject of much analysis but never before has this influence been closely examined in relation to poetry This innovative study traces Anglophone poetry's response to the literary and cultural theory of Barthes from debate to adoption adaptation and rejection The Cambridge

Desiring Women Writing Jonathan Goldberg,1997 In a set of readings ranging from early sixteenth through late seventeenth century texts this book aims to resituate women s writing in the English Renaissance by studying the possibilities available to these writers by virtue of their positions in their culture and by their articulation of a variety of desires including the desire to write not bound by the usual prescriptions that limited women The book is in three parts The first part begins by pursuing linkages between feminine virtue and the canonical status of texts written by women of the period It then confronts some received opinions and opens up new possibilities of evaluation through readings of Aemelia Lanyer s Salve Deus Rex Judaeorum and poems plays and fiction by Aphra Behn The second part studies translation as an allowed and therefore potentially devalued sphere for women s writing and offers accounts of Margaret Roper s translation of Erasmus and Mary Sidney s of Petrarch to show ways in which such work makes a central claim in Renaissance culture In the third part the author explores the thematics and practices of writing as exemplified in the women s hands in an early Tudor manuscript and through the character of Graphina in Elizabeth Cary s Mariam Throughout possibilities for these writers are seen to arise from the conjunction of their gender with their status as aristocrats or from their proximity to centers of power even if this involves the debasement of prostitution for Lanyer or the perils of the marketplace for Behn The author argues that moves outside the restriction of domesticity opened up opportunities for affirming female sexuality and for a range of desires not confined to marriage and procreation desires that move across race in Oroonoko that imagine female same gender relations often in proximity to male desires directed at other men that implicate incestuous desires even inflecting them anally as in Roper s Devout Treatise
