this Measures had also been taken by Congress in support of State colleges of agriculture and of agricultural experiment stations By the passage of the Weeks law a lump sum of 200 000 was made available until expended to enable the Secretary of Agriculture to cooperate with any State or group of States when requested to do so in the protection from fire of the forested watersheds of navigable streams and the Secretary of Agriculture is hereby authorized and on such conditions as he deems wise to stipulate and agree with any State or group of States to cooperate in the organization and maintenance of a system of fire protection on any private or State forest lands within such State or States and situated upon the watershed of a navigable river Provided That no such stipulation or agreement shall be made with any State which has not provided by law for a system of forest fire protection Provided further That in no case shall the amount expended in any State exceed in any fiscal year the amount appropriated by that State for the same purpose during the same fiscal year During the fiscal year 1911 cooperation was undertaken with 11 States under this act The number increased steadily to a total of 29 States in 1925 and meanwhile additional appropriations were made under the act During the calendar year 1911 36 692 Federal 165 975 State and 54 590 private money was expended upon the protection of approximately 60 779 000 acres of forested watersheds In the fiscal year 1925 the last year prior to cooperation under the Clarke McNary law the corresponding amounts spent were 397 651 Federal and 1 844 192 State and private Combined expenditures under the Weeks law were thus increased nearly tenfold from 1911 to 1925 and the area of forest land under cooperative protection in 1925 was three times that in 1911 The Clarke McNary Law Act of June 7 1924 43 Stat 653 This act continued the Federal cooperation started with the States under the Weeks law which was superseded in that respect It removed the limitation of protection to forested watersheds of navigable streams provided for cooperation through the States with private forest owners and added the important provisions contained in sections 3 4 and 5 for forest taxation studies for cooperation with the States in the production and distribution of forest planting stock for windbreaks shelter belts and farm wood lots and for cooperation in farm forestry extension The following are the provisions of sections 1 2 and 3 of the Clarke McNary law That the Secretary of Agriculture is hereby authorized and directed in cooperation with appropriate officials of the various States or other suitable agencies to recommend for each forest region of the United States such systems of forest fire prevention and suppression as will adequately protect the timbered and cut over lands therein with a view to the protection of forest and water resources and the continuous production of timber on lands chiefly suitable therefor About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com The People's Forests Robert Marshall, 2002-06 Devoted conservationist environmentalist and explorer Robert Marshall 1901 1939 was chief of the Division of Recreation and Lands U S Forest Service when he died at age thirty eight Throughout his short but intense life Marshall helped catalyze the preservation of millions of wilderness acres in all parts of the U S inspired countless wilderness advocates and was a pioneer in the modern environmental movement he and seven fellow conservationists founded the Wilderness Society in 1935 First published in 1933 The People's Forests made a passionate case for the public ownership and management of the nation's forests in the face of generations of devastating practices its republication now is especially timely Marshall describes the major values of forests as sources of raw materials as essential resources for the conservation of soil and water and as a precious environment for recreation and for the happiness of millions of human beings He considers the pros and cons of private and public ownership deciding that public ownership and large scale public acquisition are vital in order to save the nation's forests and sets out ways to intelligently plan for and manage public ownership The last words of this book capture Marshall's philosophy perfectly The time has come when we must discard the unsocial view that our woods are the lumbermen's and substitute the broader ideal that every acre of woodland in the country is rightly a part of the people's forests

Community Forests C. R. Tillotson, 1933 American Forests Char Miller, 1997 American Forests is an interdisciplinary collection of essays that explore the impact of forestry on natural and human landscapes since the mid nineteenth century It has two main goals to present some of the most compelling arguments that have guided our understanding of the complex and evolving relationship between trees and people in the United States and to point out those aspects of this tangled interaction that we have yet fully to understand or to articulate Preface ix
