Natofederal Republic Of Yugoslavia:

Post-War Protection of Human Rights in Bosnia and Herzegovina Gregory Gisvold, Michael O'Flaherty, 2021-11-01
The war in Bosnia and Herzegovina was characterized by human rights abuses on a scale not seen in Europe since the Second World War. It is not then surprising that the Dayton Agreement together with related texts and agreements lays out the most ambitious human rights protection regime ever included within an international peace settlement. The peace agreement imports myriad substantive guarantees for the protection of every category of human rights including some through a novel application of the European Convention on Human Rights. The provisions are accompanied by a highly complex system for both monitoring and enforcement of their implementation. These enforcement procedures contain temporary elements such as international field operations and an array of tribunals and institutions intended to be permanent. The present volume is a contribution to the process of interpreting and assessing the post Dayton human rights regime in Bosnia and Herzegovina. The analysis of the contributing human rights scholars and practitioners is located within the contexts of the immediate reality and needs of Bosnia and Herzegovina and the systemic significance of the peace agreement for other post conflict and complex emergency situations worldwide. Final Report to the Prosecutor by the Committee Established to Review the NATO Bombing Campaign Against the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia Committee Established to Review the NATO Bombing Campaign Against the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, 2000 US Department of State Dispatch, 1996 A Legal Geography of Yugoslavia's Disintegration Ana S. Trbovich, 2008-02-05 A Legal Geography of Yugoslavia's Disintegration explains the violent break up of the former Yugoslavia in early 1990s in the context of two legal principles: sovereignty and the self-determination of peoples. The author recounts Yugoslavia's history with a focus on the country's internal administrative divisions and aspirations of different ethnic groups in order to effectively explain the genesis of the international community's political decision to recognize the right of secession for the largest administrative units of Yugoslavia. Trbovich, a Serbian author writing from the perspective of a disengaged scholar, tackles her subject matter with clarity and detail and offers an intriguing analysis of Kosovo's future status, international recognition of secession, implications of Yugoslavia's disintegration for other conflicts invoking right to self-determination and international intervention in ethnic conflicts. Former Yugoslavia Through Documents Snežana Trifunovska, 2024-09-16 From the end of the 1980s and beginning of the 1990s onwards, the world's attention has been occupied with the events which eventually led to the dissolution of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia and to the creation of five independent and sovereign states. Apart from the humanitarian disaster and the devastated economies of the countries created on the territory of the former Yugoslavia, it brought some important issues of international law to the forefront and provided the impetus for some new and rapid developments. The book is an epilogue to the first very successful collection Yugoslavia through Documents from its creation to its dissolution, published by Martinus Nijhoff Publishers in 1994. However, because of the complexity of the issues in the political military humanitarian and legal fields its structure is different The book is divided into an Introduction and nine Parts each of them dealing with specific issues and containing where appropriate the Editor s note comment or additional information These two volumes constitute an absolutely essential collection for all research libraries New Media, Old Regimes Lyombe S. Eko,2012-07-30 New Media Old Regimes Case Studies in Comparative Communication Law and Policy by Lyombe S Eko is a collection of novel theoretical perspectives and case studies which illustrate how different communication law regimes conceptualize and apply universal ideals of human rights and freedom of expression to media controversies in real space and cyberspace Eko s investigation includes such controversial communication policy topics as North African regimes failed use of telecommunications to suppress the social change of the Arab Spring the Mohammad cartoon controversy in Denmark and France French and American policy of development and diffusion of the Minitel and the Internet American and Russian regulation of internet surveillance the problem of managing pedopornography in cyberspace and real space and other current communication policy cases This study will aid readers not only to understand different national and cultural perspectives of thorny communication issues but also show that though freedom of expression is a pluralistic concept the actions of all political regimes at the national transnational and international levels must be held up to the universal standards of freedom of expression set forth in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights New Media Old Regimes provides essential scholarship on comparative communication law and policy in a world of new media A Report on NATO's Operations Against the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia United States. THE CANCER PROJECTILE Dr. Srdan Aleksic, 2024-02-13 The book once again reminds of the tragic fate of the Serbian people during the NATO aggression against the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia in 1999 Also lawyer Dr Sran Aleksi talks about his legal fight against NATO and against the use of depleted uranium ammunition A very important segment is the use of ammunition with depleted uranium as well as the presentation of the consequences of using ammunition with depleted uranium Due to the far reaching and long lasting consequences caused by NATO s aggression in 1999 it is necessary that everyone from their domain contributes to the fight for the truth to come to the surface for the citizens of the Republic of Serbia to receive compensation for all the damage that NATO has caused In other words the book indicates that it is necessary for all those who were affected by depleted uranium to receive monetary compensation Also it is necessary to clean our country from undegraded depleted uranium In particular we should bear in mind the huge amount of depleted uranium that NATO dumped on the soil of the then FR Yugoslavia Some analyzes indicate that the amount is greater than in Hiroshima and Nagasaki Certainly the consequences can be remedied in such a way that those who caused the damage will open hospitals where people will be treated with the most modern methods using the most modern equipment where the quality of life of people suffering from cancer will be improved as much as possible Justice must lead to the fact that all the countries that participated in the bombing of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia correct the eco catastrophe that they caused not only to Serbia but to all of humanity A special segment of the book is the practice of Italian courts In the end we can say that the focus of the entire book is man and man s destiny looking at it from the point of view of good but also from the point of view of evil A person fights and hopes while he is alive this is exactly the case with all the victims of depleted uranium ammunition who fight their hardest battles every day they fight but they also pray because it seems that only God has not forgotten about those people

Decolonial Politics in European Peripheries Sanja S. Petkovska, 2023-12-12 Decolonial Politics in European Peripheries Redefining Progressiveness Coloniality and Transition Efforts is a timely contribution to the project of theorizing Europe through decolonial perspectives on the Left as the European and global crisis has prompted new reflections on what it means to sit still at the European peripheries The book explores how the joint scholarship efforts of postcolonial and postsocialist scholars might come up with better grounded and more detailed theoretical and methodological insights into the process of globalization and subsequent peripheralization if framed under a progressive and leftist perspective The authors many from the South East Europe region use a variety of analytical lenses to demonstrate how the nexus of postcolonial postsocialist area studies and progressive developmental political thought could inspire changes in the future which are in dissonance with neoliberal and neoconservative capitalism As the side effects of global capitalism continue to accelerate scholars and activists in the postsocialist periphery are increasingly turning to the concept of decoloniality in the hope that it might offer more options on how to begin to build up their framework This book offers numerous examples of how decolonial theory can be applied to activist work in the fight against austerity and neoliberalization as well as examples of how decolonial critique can be mobilized to contest processes of Europeanization and Euro Atlantic integration This book will intrigue students and scholars of critical social scholarship in general as well as postsocialism and postcolonialism critiques of right populism and the rise of white nationalism in Europe and those studying the regions of South Eastern Europe and Eurasia more generally It will also interest activists organizers decision makers policy analysts and leftists both in the region and internationally

The Law of Air Warfare Natalino Ronzitti (jurist), Gabriella Venturini, 2006 This book is the outcome of a research project directed by Natalino Ronzitti to explore the current status and future prospects of international humanitarian law of air warfare This is achieved through the analysis of international customary law the conventional provisions in force and the most recent State practice As the most recent conflicts suggest air warfare has known an exponential growth However even a rapid analysis of the international humanitarian law applicable to air warfare shows a defective and fragmentary situation This book will fill the current gap that exists in legal literature and will critically review and evaluate recent State practice
