Sustainable Development Across the Pacific John Chi-Kin Lee, Rob Efird, 2014-05-23 Environmental education EE and education for sustainable development ESD are asserting their growing role in curricula around the world yet how deeply embedded are they in the learning systems of the Pacific nations Building on an earlier analysis in China and Taiwan this volume expands its purview to examine the quality and extent of environmental and sustainable development education in a number of countries in the Asia Pacific region including China itself Taiwan South Korea Japan and Indonesia As well as offering detailed national analyses provided by Asian Pacific academics and professionals this work includes examples in the US and Canada and an introduction that assesses the contrasting challenges and positive commonalities among diverse education systems The chapters reflect leading edge practice innovation and depth of experience and at the same time as detailing locally relevant and culturally appropriate strategies they also provide clear models and strategies for expanding the application and influence of education for sustainable development elsewhere In doing so they mirror the global nature of environmental issues as well as the local nature of the solutions Blue Economy and Ocean Sustainable Development in a Globalised World: Social, Political, Economic and Environmental Issues Ibukun J. Adewumi, Andrei Polejack, Joanna Vince, Maree E. Fudge, 2023-12-05 In the last decade the concept of a Blue Economy has ignited a deep theoretical debate Ranging from the integration of the triple bottom line of sustainability to the optimization of profit from ocean exploitation the meaning of the term blue economy differs considerably between epistemic communities and even more so among national and regional policies There is a general sense of the opportunity to realise enhanced social and economic benefits from the sustainable utilisation of their ocean and coastal resources under the umbrella framework of blue economy Blue economy is gaining traction already as a significant component of national policies even in spite of a clear conceptualization of the term Many countries are now preparing national policies towards realising their blue economy ambitions utilizing the concept as they see fit Likewise multilateral and regional organisations are developing guidelines and providing investment in new research technologies and financing tools that promote blue economy Critical challenges abound in particular in less privileged countries These include the gap in research capabilities governments prioritizing social wellbeing and economic profit in contrast to environmental protection the identification of new and emerging areas of ocean economic activity that are both socially and ecologically sustainable and holds viable business models that can attract private investment

Strengthening the Environmental Dimensions of the Sustainable Development Goals in Asia and the Pacific Asian Development Bank,2019-01-01 This report presents the results of a stocktake of national responses to Sustainable Development Goals 12 14 and 15 and selected environment related targets that have a direct relationship with responsible consumption and production and sustainable marine and terrestrial ecosystems management by 15 developing countries in Asia and the Pacific The report was completed under the first phase of a technical assistance project by the Asian Development Bank with the aim of understanding and helping its developing member countries address the issues and challenges behind effective integration of these goals and targets into national policies plans and programs

International Environmental Law in the Asia Pacific Ben Boer,Donald R. Rothwell,Ross Ramsay,Donald Rothwell,1998-02-18 The purpose of this book is to assess the development of international environmental law in the Asia Pacific Consideration is given to the impact upon the region of global regional and subregional environmental law An assessment is also undertaken of how certain states and groups of states have responded domestically and within their own subregions to these developments For the purposes of this book the Asia Pacific is defined as essentially the states which comprise East and Southeast Asia Australia New Zealand and the island states of the Southwest Pacific Occasional consideration is also given to the states of South Asia

Culture and Sustainable Development in the Pacific Antony Hooper,2005-04-01 Throughout the South Pacific notions of culture and development are very much alive in political debate the media sermons and endless discussions amongst villagers and the urban lites even in policy reports Often the terms are counterposed and development along with economic rationality good governance and progress is set against culture or custom tradition and identity The decay of custom and impoverishment of culture are often seen as wrought by development while failures of development are haunted by the notion that they are due somehow to the darker irrational influences of culture The problem is to resolve the contradictions between them so as to achieve the greater good access to material goods welfare and amenities modern life without the sacrifice of the traditional values and institutions that provide material security and sustain diverse social identities Resolution is sought in this book by a number of leading writers from the South Pacific including Langi Kavaliku Epeli Hau ofa Marshall Sahlins Malama Meleisea Joeli Veitayaki and Tarcisius Tara Kabutaulaka The volume is brought together for UNESCO by Antony Hooper Professor Emeritus at the University of Auckland UNESCO experts include Richard Engelhardt Langi Kavaliku Russell Marshall Malama Meleisea Edna Tait and Mali Voi
