Painting Object Film Concept Works From The Herbig Collection:

Painting, Object, Film, Concept, 1998      Painting, Object, Film, Concept Scott Burton, Christie, Manson & Woods International Inc, 1998 This book was produced to coincide with the exhibition at Christie's in New York of artworks collected by Jost and Barbara Herbig. The Herbig's collection represents one of the most important for avant garde art from the 1960s and 70s and includes works by such artists as Baselitz, Beuys, Flavin, Gilbert and George, Knoebel, Nauman, Oldenburg, Polke, Richter, Ryman etc. Approximately thirty artists are represented and the book includes detailed and informative text from noted art scholars and critics including samples from the working diary of the curator and critic Harald Szeeman.

Sculptural Materiality in the Age of Conceptualism Marin R. Sullivan, 2017-07-05 Sculptural Materiality in the Age of Conceptualism is structured around four distinct but interrelated projects initially realized in Italy between 1966 and 1972: Yayoi Kusama's Narcissus Garden, Michelangelo Pistoletto's Newspaper Sphere, Sfera di giornali, Robert Smithson's Asphalt Rundown, and Joseph Beuys's Arena. These works all utilized non traditional materials, collaborative patronage models, and alternative modes of display to create a spatially and temporally dispersed arena of matter and action, with photography serving as a connective material thread within the sculpture. It reflects while created by major artists of the postwar period, these particular projects have yet to receive substantive art historical analysis, especially from a sculptural perspective. Here they anchor a transnational narrative in which sculpture emerged as a node, a center of transaction comprising multiple material phenomena including objects, images, and actors. When seen as entangled polymorphous entities, these works suggest that the charge of sculpture in the late postwar period came from its concurrent existence as both three dimensional phenomena and photographic image in the interchanges among the materials that continue to activate and alter the constitution of sculpture within the contemporary sphere.

Art + Archive Sara Callahan, 2022-01-25 Art Archive provides an in depth analysis of the connection between art and the archive at the turn of the twenty first century. The book examines how the archive emerged in art writing in the mid 1990s and how its subsequent ubiquity can be understood in light of wider social, technological, philosophical, and art historical conditions and concerns. Deftly combining writing on archives from different disciplines with artistic practices, the book clarifies the function and meaning of one of the most persistent artworld buzzwords of recent years, shedding light on the conceptual and historical implications of the so called archival turn in contemporary art.

Dan Flavin Tiffany Bell, Michael Govan, 2004-01-01 New scholarship and interpretation of Flavin's work also appears in the form of three critical essays by experts and an extensive chronology, comprehensive bibliography, and exhibition history. In addition, this book includes Flavin's text in daylight or cool white, an autobiographical sketch originally published in Artforum in 1965, and two interviews with the artist, one from 1972 and the other from 1982. BOOK JACKET

Anglo-American Exchange in Postwar Sculpture, 1945-1975 Rebecca Peabody, 2011-12-31 Anglo American Exchange in Postwar Sculpture, 1945-1975 redresses an important art historical oversight. Histories of American and British sculpture are usually told separately with artists and their work divided by nationality yet such boundaries obscure a vibrant exchange of ideas individuals and aesthetic influences In reality the postwar art world saw dynamic interactions between British and American sculptors critics curators teachers and institutions Using works of art as points of departure this book explores the international movement of people objects and ideas demonstrating the importance of Anglo American exchange to the history of postwar sculpture

What the Body Cost Jane Blocker,2004 Because performance is by its very nature ephemeral it elicits a desire for what is lost more than any other form of art making But what is the nature of that desire and on what models has it been structured How has it affected the ways in which the history of performance art gets told In What the Body Cost Jane Blocker revisits key works in performance art by Carolee Schneemann Vito Acconci Hannah Wilke Yves Klein Ana Mendieta and others to challenge earlier critiques that characterize performance or body art as a purely revolutionary art form and fail to recognize its reactionary and sometimes damaging effects The scholarship to date on performance art has not she finds gone far enough in locating the body at the center of the performance nor has it acknowledged the psychic emotional or social costs exacted on that body Drawing on the work of critical theorists such as Roland Barthes and Catherine Belsey as well as queer theory and feminism What the Body Cost reads against patriarchal and heteronormative tendencies in art history while providing a corrective to the established view that performance art is necessarily transgressive Instead Blocker suggests that the historiography of performance art is a postmodern lovers discourse in which practitioners historians and critics alike fervently seek the body while doubting it can ever be found Jane Blocker is assistant professor of art history at the University of Minnesota and author of Where Is Ana Mendieta Identity Performativity and Exile 1999

Framed Spaces Monica E. McTighe,2012 While earlier theorists held up experience as the defining character of installation art few people have had the opportunity to walk through celebrated installation pieces from the past Instead installation art of the past is known through archival photographs that limit define and frame the experience of the viewer Monica E McTighe argues that the rise of photographic based theories of perception and experience coupled with the inherent closeness of installation art to the field of photography had a profound impact on the very nature of installation art leading to a flood of photography and film based installations With its close readings of specific works Framed Spaces will appeal to art historians and theorists across a broad spectrum of the visual arts

Irrational Judgments Kirsten Swenson,2015-11-27 Irrational Judgments examines the close friendship and significant exchange of ideas between Eva Hesse 1936 1970 and Sol LeWitt 1928 2007 in New York City during the 1960s Taking its title from LeWitt s statement Irrational judgments lead to new experience this book examines the breakthroughs of the artists intertwined careers offering a new understanding of minimal post minimal and conceptual art amid the era's political and social upheavals Kirsten Swenson offers the first in depth discussion of the early critical developments of each artist LeWitt's turn from commercial design to fine art and Hesse's move from expressionist painting to reliefs and sculpture Bringing together a wealth of documents interviews and images many published here for the first time this handsome publication presents an insightful account of the artists influence on and support for each other's pursuit of an experimental practice Swenson's analysis expands our understanding of the artists ideas the importance of their work and more broadly the relationship of the 1960s New York art world to gender politics the Vietnam War and the city itself purpose and permanence in art. Constantly trying to undo his art education, he would set up systems that discouraged the conventional and the consistent. He drew with both hands at once, preserved the discarded and revealed in the transitory. Grease stains, mold formations, insect borings, and rotting foodstuffs were just some of the materials used, both out of a fascination with their painterly textural aspects and for their innate ability to make time visible and play to chance. More is better, he once said, and more there always was. Roth never stopped working, and he believed that everything could be art, from his sketch pad to the table he sat at, the telephone he talked on, or his friend's kitchen. The kitchen was later sold to a museum. Roth Time A Dieter Roth Retrospective is published to mark the first major survey exhibition of the artist's work since his death in 1998. Five decades of drawings, graphics, books, paintings, objects, installations, films, and video works are represented. The publication offers a window into Roth's creative world, reflecting him and his era. The exhibition is organized by the Schaulager with The Museum of Modern Art, New York, and the Museum Ludwig, Cologne. Curating Subjects Søren Andreasen, 2007. Edited by Paul O'Neill.
