

POSITION CHANGING FOR THE VIOLIN

NEIL MACKAY

Before beginning these exercises it is advisable to clean the neck of the violin with a damp cloth so that the surface of the wood is free from any dirt or perspiration which could prevent the hand from sliding smoothly up and down the instrument.

As the hand moves to 3rd Position, be careful to shift the thumb at the same time so that it occupies a similar position in relation to the fingers, as it did in 1st Position.

The change of position will produce a glissando at first as the finger slides over the string. This can be overcome by releasing the finger pressure slightly during the change of position, when, as the speed of the hand movement is increased, the glissando effect will gradually diminish.

1st FINGER MOVEMENT

A and D strings

1 — 1 means: keep the finger on the string.
