Postcompulsory Education For Disabled People:

Post-compulsory Education for Disabled People Centre for Educational Research and Innovation, 1997 This report presents findings of a 3 year study 1994 1997 of post compulsory educational opportunities for adolescents and adults with disabilities in 10 European countries Finland France Iceland Ireland Italy the Netherlands Norway Spain Sweden United Kingdom Australia and the Canadian provinces of British Columbia and Quebec It is part of a larger study of effective educational and support structures in integrated settings The first part identifies the main trends in sections on 1 main characteristics of post compulsory education 2 the population under consideration 3 policies and legislation 4 transition from schooling 5 funding 6 provision 7 curriculum 8 support services 9 information technology 10 teacher training 11 community involvement 12 post education experience and 13 the future The second part of the report synthesizes individual country reports under the same 13 categories The study found that all the countries have some legislation in place to support post compulsory education and training of people with disabilities but that there is much variation in the extent to which this legislation protects people's rights and that people with disabilities continue to be under represented in post compulsory education and employment Appended are a list of working group participants and guidance notes for completing the country questionnaires DB

Cameron, Ragnar Thygesen, 2015 The purpose of this book is to explore the phenomenon of transition as it relates to the field of special education within the Nordic countries of Norway Sweden Denmark and Finland First the authors investigate transition in the field of special education with respect to historical developments and the shifting prominence of diverse guiding theories Second we examine the process of transition in a wide range of special education contexts including transitions from home to school school to work and across other contexts and types of support The target audience for the book includes authors and researchers in academic and government research institutions professionals working in special education and related fields as well as students at graduate and doctoral levels There are 16 chapters with contributions from the editors and 15 other international authors Jorun Buli Holmberg David L Cameron Camilla Brurup Dyssegaard Niels Egelund Astrid Birgitte Eggen Britta Hannus Gullmets Camilla Herlofsen Maryann Jortveit Velibor Bobo Kova Ingrid Lund Johan Malmqvist David Mitchell Sven Nilsen Heidi Omdal Kristina Strøm Ragnar Thygesen and Anne Dorthe Tveit

Equality and Public Policy Paul Chaney, 2011-01-31 Equality of opportunity is a contested concept It evokes strong emotions from proponents and opponents alike Enduring issues of inequality and discrimination mean that it remains at the forefront of political priorities in the twenty first century Traditional analyses tend to focus on developments at the level of the unitary state or European Union In contrast this book underlines the salience of multi level governance and offers the first detailed comparative analysis of contemporary efforts to promote equality of opportunity in the wake of constitutional reform in the UK It presents a summary of social theory on equalities in relation to gender and a full range of social groups and identities such as disability ethnicity sexual orientation and age It outlines the contemporary evidence base relating to patterns and processes of inequality in the devolved nations A governance perspective is also advanced one that details how constitutional law establishing the devolved legislatures contains equality clauses that enable and empower government to promote equality in public policy and law Analysis reveals the development of distinctive regulatory structures and equalities policy lobbies in each territory Overall this volume charts the development of divergent legal rights and public policy on the promotion of equality in the wake of constitutional reform in the UK Notwithstanding ongoing challenges it is argued that the move to quasi federalism is significant for it marks a shift from the predominant centralised administration of social policy witnessed throughout the twentieth century to divergent approaches designed to address contrasting socio economic patterns and processes in Wales Scotland and Northern Ireland

, 2000-10      Learning with Learning Disability Owen Barden, 2025-07-09 This book uses the concept of learning disability to explore what it means to be human It argues that we need to learn with rather than from or about learning disability This crucial distinction means being open to what learning disability can teach us about what it means to be human This approach comes from recognising learning disability as an organising concept a concept which radically transforms our sense of what it means to be or not be a person After reflecting on the author s relationship to learning disability the book explores relationships and tensions between conceptualisations of learning disability and of the human Through historical ontology the book initially examines how the phenomenon of learning disability came into being It then explores ways in which the concept of learning disability has over the course of the 20th and 21st centuries radically transformed our sense not only of education and learning but also of who is or is not deemed entitled to full citizenship and the associated rights and so who is or is not fully human Each chapter of the book exposes tensions and contradictions apparent in the ways we tend to think about personhood and learning disability illuminating them through a series a binary oppositions human and not fully human menacing and vulnerable controlled and abandoned capable and incapable human and posthuman The book concludes by drawing together these tensions and contradictions to challenge the prevailing metanarrative of disability and make the case for a more inclusive conceptualisation of what it means to be human It will be of interest to all scholars and students of disability studies the history of learning disability humanism and posthumanism and learning disability advocacy
