Posters Of World War Two:

The Art of War Sean Price, 2009 Examines various aspects of World War II focusing on how the U S and other countries used posters to encourage support of the war effort Posters of World War II Peter Darman, 2011-11-01 Peter Darman presents a study of the war poster as a propaganda phenomenon between 1939 and 1945 The book contains 200 posters which are accompanied by detailed captions World War II Posters Philip Martin McCaulay, 2010-02-22 World War II Posters is a collection of 245 original posters from WWII related to savings and investment productivity and invention service and support environmentalism and conservation security and trust freedom and sacrifice friends and allies health and safety and victory gardens The federal government produced and distributed informational materials to attract and encourage public support for the money material resources labor and personal sacrifices needed to mount a successful war effort The Office of War Information distributed posters on a national scale to post offices schools and railroad stations Defense Councils in each community were instructed to form a committee to regularly receive posters The committee determined the number needed by the community selected posting locations and set up a route and distribution system New posters were distributed at the beginning of each month World War II Posters in Color Philip Martin McCaulay, 2011 The Art of War: Volume 3 - the Soviets (a Collection of 135 Soviet World War Two Propaganda Posters) Artemis Design, 2020-03-09 THE ART OF WAR VOLUME 3 IS A COLLECTION OF 135 SOVIET WORLD WAR TWO PROPAGANDA POSTERS INCLUDES A FOREWORD BY HISTORIAN M J TROW Propaganda during the Second World War was an unavoidable aspect of daily life It must be a situation that is hard to relate to for those of us in the West born too late or too young to remember the war or the decades afterwards The idea that you must always be alert to the ominous drone of the air raid sirens as you went about your business or that your home could be destroyed in an aerial bombardment at any moment is very hard to comprehend But those who lived through the war knew it was perfectly possible that the Wehrmacht could soon be marching through the streets with all the chaos fear death and destruction that that would imply Against this backdrop we can understand why propaganda was so vital to all sides of the conflict For those interested in the psychology of the past propaganda posters are a great glimpse into the understandable paranoia hysteria and concerns of those who created them and the message they thought it was necessary to promote to everyone else All of these posters served some sort of purpose and modern cynicism means it is often hard not to scoff at some of them because to us they are now often unintentionally humorous or offensive Those in government at the time knew that war had evolved The Great War had changed much and this latest conflict with Germany would create a huge strain both in terms of morale and in the nation s resources and it was vital to have and maintain full support for the war at home While propaganda was nothing new it came into its own during the Second World War British posters were in the main created by the controversial Ministry of Information a government department that was dissolved soon after the war and probably one of George Orwell s inspirations for Big Brother Many contemporary members of parliament were very disturbed by the agenda of this department and protested that there was a very real danger that Britain could ironically sleep walk into becoming the fascist brain washed state with which they were at war The messages behind most of these posters is overt and obvious The well known but never actually distributed Keep Calm and Carry On posters are still recognisable to us today over 70 years later Other messages may verge on the bizarre to those who never knew the horrors of the conflict first hand One poster shows a soldier and his partner on a sofa with the message Keep mum stay silent she might not be so dumb implying that his girlfriend may at best be a loudmouth who will report his military operations to everyone in town and at worst be a Gestapo agent who had been planted into his home This isn't to mock the sentiment but simply to point out how difficult it is for a modern mind to understand Other posters urging mothers to evacuate their children away from towns as refugees to find safety in the countryside or even abroad to the security of Canada or other parts of the empire are quite shocking Still more so are those which implied that people taking a day off work due to sickness could be shirking or that those who lost a tool at work were aiding Hitler are quite unsettling even now American propaganda was often racist showing rat like Japanese One dramatic poster featuring two creepy children in their gas masks and proclaiming Dear God keep them safe is still striking On the Axis side they were oddly obsessed with reminding Allied soldiers particularly Americans that their women were back at home probably sleeping with someone else and that the negroes were now running the country

Design for Victory William L. Bird, Harry Rubenstein, 1998-06 The poster inexpensive colorful and immediate was an ideal medium for delivering messages about Americans duties on the home front during World War II Design for Victory presents more than 150 of these stunning images many never reproduced since their first issue culled from the collections of the National Museum of American History Smithsonian Institution William L. Bird Jr and Harry R Rubenstein delve beneath the surface of these colorful graphics telling the stories behind their production and revealing how posters fulfilled the goals and needs of their creators The authors describe the history of how specific posters were conceived and received focusing on the workings of the wartime advertising profession and demonstrating how posters often reflected uneasy relations between labor and management

The Posters that Won the War Derek Nelson, 2015-03-18 The production recruiting and War Bond posters of World War II were America's weapons on the wall Millions of posters of hundreds of unique designs cascaded off the presses and onto the American landscape raising hopes in the dark days after Pearl Harbor and convincing folks on the home front that their efforts were the key to victory Encouraging the people of America to do their part to aid in the war efforts as well as take care of themselves these War Bond posters were a beacon during World War II Posters That Won the War expertly preserve the most important posters of the World War II era Inside Posters That Won the War find beautiful prints of the posters of World War II Through times of emotional and physical struggle in postwar America artists did their best to engage a sense of safety and lovingness for their fellow Americans The result was a beautiful array of posters that will remain priceless always These Weapons on the wall are a crucial piece of American history that will never be forgotten If you are searching for a gift for the history buff in your life or an addition for your own library Posters That Won the War will delight them for years World War II Posters David Pollack,2016-12-28 This book is a visual survey of posters printed by the United States the Allies and the Axis and offers an overview of the various categories of propaganda posters created in support of the war effort recruiting conservation careless talk anti espionage bond fundraising morale and more With posters from all combatants here is a look at propaganda used as a tool used by all parties in the conflict and how similar themes crossed national borders The Art of War: Volume 4 - the Americans (a Collection of 135 American World War Two Propaganda Posters) Artemis Design,2020-04-08 THE ART OF WAR VOLUME 4 IS A COLLECTION OF 135 AMERICAN WORLD WAR TWO PROPAGANDA POSTERS INCLUDES A FOREWORD BY HISTORIAN M J TROW Propaganda during the Second World War was an unavoidable aspect of daily life It must be a situation that is hard to relate to for those of us in the West born too late or too young to remember the war or the decades afterwards The idea that you must always be alert to the ominous drone of the air raid sirens as you went about your business or that your home could be destroyed in an aerial bombardment at any moment is very hard to comprehend But those who lived through the war knew it was perfectly possible that the Wehrmacht could soon be marching through the streets with all the chaos fear death and destruction that that would imply Against this backdrop we can understand why propaganda was so vital to all sides of the conflict For those interested in the psychology of the past propaganda posters are a great glimpse into the understandable paranoia hysteria and concerns of those who created them and the message they thought it was necessary to promote to everyone else All of these posters served some sort of purpose and modern cynicism means it is often hard not to scoff at some of them because to us they are now often unintentionally humorous or offensive Those in government at the time knew that war had evolved The Great War had changed much and this latest conflict with Germany would create a huge strain both in terms of morale and in the nation s resources and it was vital to have and maintain full support for the war at home While propaganda was nothing new it came into its own during the Second World War British posters were in the main created by the controversial Ministry of Information a government department that was dissolved soon after the war and probably one of George Orwell s inspirations for Big Brother Many contemporary members of parliament were very disturbed by the agenda of this department and protested that there was a very real danger that Britain could ironically sleep walk into becoming the fascist brain washed state with which they were at war The messages behind most of these posters is overt and obvious The well known but never actually distributed Keep Calm and Carry On posters are still recognisable to us today over 70 years later Other messages may verge on the bizarre to those who never knew the horrors of the conflict first hand One poster shows a soldier and his partner on a sofa with the message Keep mum stay silent she might not be so dumb implying that his girlfriend may at best be a loudmouth who will report his military operations to everyone in town and at worst be a Gestapo agent who had been planted into his home This isn't to mock the sentiment but simply to point out how difficult it is for a modern mind to understand Other posters urging mothers to evacuate their children away from towns as refugees to find safety in the countryside or even abroad to the security of Canada or other parts of the empire are quite shocking Still more so are those which implied that people taking a day off work due to sickness could be shirking or that those who lost a tool at work were aiding Hitler are quite unsettling even now American propaganda was often racist showing rat like Japanese One dramatic poster featuring two creepy children in their gas masks and proclaiming Dear God keep them safe is still striking On the Axis side they were oddly obsessed with reminding Allied soldiers particularly Americans that their women were back at home probably sleeping with someone else and that the negroes were now running the country Posters for Peace Thomas W. Benson, 2015-06-18 By the spring of 1970 Americans were frustrated by continuing war in Vietnam and turmoil in the inner cities Students on American college campuses opposed the war in growing numbers and joined with other citizens in ever larger public demonstrations against the war Some politicians including Ronald Reagan Spiro Agnew and Richard Nixon exploited the situation to cultivate anger against students At the University of California at Berkeley student leaders devoted themselves along with many sympathetic faculty to studying the war and working for peace A group of art students designed produced and freely distributed thousands of antiwar posters Posters for Peace tells the story of those posters bringing to life their rhetorical iconography and restoring them to their place in the history of poster art and political street art The posters are vivid simple direct ironic and often graphically beautiful Thomas Benson shows that the student posters from Berkeley appealed to core patriotic values and to the legitimacy of democratic deliberation in a democracy even in a time of war Posters of World War II G. H. Gregory, 1993 A collection 110 posters many created by well known artists and photographers looks back on life during World War II and features such famous posters as the Loose Lips Sink Ships poster and Rockwell's illustrations of the four freedoms World War II Posters Anna Samuel, 2001-03 Collectors and nostalgia enthusiasts will delight in these eye catching reproductions of historic posters designed to boost recruitment promote the sale of war bonds and raise morale on the home front World War II Posters Florence Leniston, 2001 Norman Rockwell's Four Freedoms C C Beall's memorable poster of marines raising the American flag on Iwo Jima many more Perfect for sending messages to World War II buffs and nostalgia enthusiasts Posters of World War Two Denis Judd, 1972 A collection of over two hundred posters which appeared during the Second World War in Britain Germany France Italy Russia the United States Japan and other countries involved in the war Second World War Posters Joseph Darracott, Belinda Loftus, Imperial War Museum (Great Britain), 1972 An introduction provides an analysis of how posters were used in World War II and how that use differed from World War I The Art of War Artemis Design, 2020-02-16 THE ART OF WAR VOLUME 2 IS A COLLECTION OF 135 AXIS WORLD WAR TWO PROPAGANDA POSTERS INCLUDES A FOREWORD BY HISTORIAN M J TROW Propaganda during the Second World War was an unavoidable aspect of daily life It must be a situation that is hard to relate to for those of us in the West born too late or too young to remember the war or the decades afterwards The idea that you must always be alert to the ominous drone of the air raid sirens as you went about your business or that your home could be destroyed in an aerial bombardment at any moment is very hard to comprehend But those who lived through the war knew it was perfectly possible that the Wehrmacht could soon be marching through the streets with all the chaos fear death and destruction that that would imply Against this backdrop we can understand why propaganda was so vital to all sides of the conflict For those interested in the psychology of the past propaganda posters are a great glimpse into the understandable paranoia hysteria and concerns of those who created them and the message they thought it was necessary to promote to everyone else All of these posters served some sort of purpose and modern cynicism means it is often hard not to scoff at some of them because to us they are now often unintentionally humorous or offensive Those in government at the time knew that war had evolved The Great War had changed much and this latest conflict with Germany would create a huge strain both in terms of morale and in the nation s resources and it was vital to have and maintain full support for the war at home While propaganda was nothing new it came into its own during the Second World War British posters were in the main created by the controversial Ministry of Information a government department that was dissolved soon after the war and probably one of George Orwell s inspirations for Big Brother Many contemporary members of parliament were very disturbed by the agenda of this department and protested that there was a very real danger that Britain could ironically sleep walk into becoming the fascist brain washed state with which they were at war The messages behind most of these posters is overt and obvious The well known but never actually distributed Keep Calm and Carry On posters are still recognisable to us today over 70 years later Other messages may verge on the bizarre to those who never knew the horrors of the conflict first hand One poster shows a soldier and his partner on a sofa with the message Keep mum stay silent she might not be so dumb implying that his girlfriend may at best be a loudmouth who will report his military operations to everyone in town and at worst be a Gestapo agent who had been planted into his home This isn t to mock the sentiment but simply to point out how difficult it is for a modern mind to understand Other posters urging mothers to evacuate their children away from towns as refugees to find safety in the countryside or even abroad to the security of Canada or other parts of the empire are quite shocking Still more so are those which implied that people taking a day off work due to sickness could be shirking or that those who lost a tool at work were aiding Hitler are quite unsettling even now American propaganda was often racist showing rat like Japanese One dramatic poster featuring two creepy children in their gas masks and proclaiming Dear God keep them safe is still striking On the Axis side they were oddly obsessed with reminding Allied soldiers particularly Americans that their women were back at home probably sleeping with someone else and that the negroes were now running the country
