Schertzer, 1999-01-01 This report provides a state of the art review of the climate change effects on lake hydrodynamics and water quality Most of the engineering cases in this book deal with the ability of existing infrastructure to cope with extreme weather conditions The case studies are intended to illustrate the advancement in modeling research on lake hydrodynamics thermal stratification pollutant transport and water quality by highlighting the climate change aspects in the application of these techniques Topics include climate and lake responses lake thermodynamics large scale circulation wind waves on large lakes great lakes ice cover and water quality Environmental Foresight and Models M.B. Beck, 2002-03-20 Policy makers and the public it has famously been said are more interested in the possibility of non linear dislocations and surprises in the behaviour of the environment than in smooth extrapolations of current trends The International Task Force in Forecasting Environmental Change 1993 1998 dedicated its work to developing procedures of model building capable of addressing our palpable concerns for substantial change in the future This volume discusses the immense challenges that such structural change presents that the behaviour of the environment may become radically different from that observed in the past and investigates the potentially profound implications for model development Drawing upon case histories from the Great Lakes acidic atmospheric deposition and among others the urban ozone problem this discourse responds to a new agenda of questions For example What system of radar might we design to detect threats to the environment lying just beyond the horizon and Are the seeds of structural change identifiable within the record of the recent past Meticulously researched by leading environmental modellers this milestone volume engages vigorously with its subject and offers an animated account of how models can begin to take into consideration the significant threats and uncertainties posed by structural change
