impoverishment rather than the nourishment of laboring bodies Under increasingly precarious conditions governments oversee the movements of people rather than scrutinize and regulate the highly volatile movements of capital They often do so through practices that condone dispossession in the name of economic and political security Beyond Portia

themselves to a given social movement or political cause How are such deeds of individual commitment and personal belief justly executed given the ideals of disinterested professional service to which lawyers are in theory at least supposed to adhere What can we learn from such lawyers about the relationship between law and politics Cause Lawyering is a wise and varied collection of responses to these questions featuring a number of distinguished legal scholars concerned with anti poverty lawyers lawyers who work against capital punishment immigration lawyers and other lawyers working to end oppression Editors Austin Sarat and Stuart Scheingold have assembled here a valuable cross national portrait of lawyers compelled to sacrifice financial gain so as to use their legal skills in the promotion of a more just society These telling and important essays fully explore the relationship between cause lawyering and the organized legal professions of many different countries the US England South Africa Israel Cuba and so forth They describe the utility of law as a resource in political struggles and conversely highlight the constraints under which lawyers necessarily operate when they turn to politics Some provide broad theoretical overviews others present rich case studies Advancing a fundamental argument about the very nature of the legal profession this book explains the strategies that cause lawyers deploy as well as the challenges they face in trying to be legally astute and effective while remaining politically devoted and aware Although it is a controversial way of practicing law cause lawyering as explicated in the essays in this volume is indeed indispensable to the legitimization of professional authority
