Poverty Work And Freedom Political Economy And The Moral Order:

Poverty, Work, and Freedom David P. Levine, S. Abu Turab Rizvi, 2005-06-30 The poor seem easy to identify those who do not have enough money or enough of the things money can buy This book explores a different approach to poverty one suggested by the notion of capabilities emphasized by Amartya Sen and Martha Nussbaum In the spirit of the capabilities approach the book argues that poverty refers not to a lack of things but to the lack of the ability to live life in a particular way The authors argue that the poor are those who cannot live a life that is discovered and created rather than already known Avoiding poverty then means having the capacity and opportunity for creative living The authors argue that the capacity to do skilled work plays a particularly important role in creative living and suggest that the development of the ability to do skilled work is a vital part of solving the problem of poverty

History of Economics Philippe Fontaine, Robert Leonard, 2005-07-12 Throughout the history of economic ideas it has often been asserted that experimentation is impossible yet in fact history shows that the idea of experimentation has always been important and as such has been interpreted and put to use in many ways Rich in historical detail the essays in this topical volume deal with such issues as laboratory experimentation the observed transition from a post war economics to a contemporary discipline the contrasting positions of Friedrich Hayek and Oskar Morgenstern the socio economic experiments proposed by Ernest Solvay and Knut Wicksell and a rigorous examination of the way in which economic models can or cannot be construed as valid experiments producing useful knowledge A testament to the variety of ways in which experimentation has been of importance in the creation of economic knowledge these wide ranging essays will interest those seeking to expand their historical understanding of the discipline be they theorists historians philosophers advanced students or researchers The 1st International Seminar on Social Sciences and Development (ISSSD) Proceeding Ambo

Upe,2019-10-31 The Capacity for Civic Engagement D. Levine,2011-03-28 How do we form a connection to the ideals and institutions of public life This connection is sometimes expressed in the language of civic engagement public service and commitment to the public good While we do not lack for literature to guide us in thinking about public life we have less to call on when our problem is not only to explore public ideals and institutions but also to consider the nature and origin of our capacity to make a connection with and find meaning in those institutions and ideals Levine explores the nature and origin of this capacity to form a connection and find meaning Globalization, Difference, and Human Security Mustapha Kamal Pasha,2013-10-23 Globalization Difference and Human Security seeks to advance critical human security studies by re framing the concept of human security in terms of the thematic of difference Drawing together a wide range of contributors the volume is framed among others around the following key questions What are the silences and erasures of advancing a critical human security alternative without making recognition of difference its central plank How do we rethink the complex interplay of human security and difference in distinct and varied spatial and cultural settings produced by global forces What is the nexus between human security and the broader field of global development What new challenges to Human Security and International Relations are produced with the rise of the post liberal or post secular subject In what ways releasing human security from identification with the territorial state helps reconceptualize culture How does Human Security serve as a subspecies of modern humanitarian thought or the latter reinforce imperial imaginaries and the structures of order and morality Is the pursuit of indigenous rights fundamentally counterpoised to the pursuit of human security What difference it might make to take the doings and beings of communities of subsistence rather than basic needs wealth seeking individuals as a point of departure in critical human security studies How does reconstruction bind post war and post disaster states and societies into the global capitalist democratic political structure The Invisible Handcuffs of Capitalism Michael Perelman,2011 Mainstream or more formally neoclassical economics claims to be a science But as Michael Perelman makes clear in his latest book nothing could be further from the truth While a science must be rooted in material reality mainstream economics ignores or distorts the most fundamental aspect of this reality that the vast majority of people must out of necessity labor on behalf of others transformed into nothing but a means to the end of maximum profits for their employers The nature of the work we do and the conditions under which we do it profoundly shape our lives And yet both of these factors are peripheral to mainstream economics By sweeping labor under the rug mainstream economists hide the nature of capitalism making it appear to be a system based upon equal exchange rather than exploitation inside every workplace

Perelman describes this illusion as the invisible handcuffs of capitalism and traces its roots back to Adam Smith and his contemporaries and their disdain for working people. He argues that far from being a basically fair system of exchanges regulated by the invisible hand of the market, capitalism handcuffs working men and women and children too through the very labor process itself. Neoclassical economics attempts to rationalize these handcuffs and tells workers that they are responsible for their own conditions. What we need to do instead, Perelman suggests, is eliminate the handcuffs through collective actions and build a society that we direct ourselves.

Politics without Reason D. Levine, 2008-09-29 Politics without Reason explores the roots of contemporary hostility toward liberalism. The thesis of the book is that ambivalence about the self and about desire as an expression of the self fosters the intense animosity we observe directed toward the liberal ideal.

Material Cultures of Financialisation Kate Bayliss, Ben Fine, Mary Robertson, 2020-04-28 This collection offers pathbreaking framing of the material culture of financialisation. It begins with a tight definition of financialisation in order to distinguish the phenomenon of financialisation from its effects and from the looser associations prevalent within much of the literature such as the presence of credit or even simply more extensive monetary relations. To locate financialisation within economic and social reproduction of which material culture is a part, close attention is paid to the distinctive forms of financialisation arising from commodification, commodity form, and commodity calculation. The differences in the extent to which and how these prevail are addressed through the innovative system of provision approach and its framing of material culture through use of ten distinctive attributes of such cultures known as the 10Cs: Constructed, Construed, Conforming, Commodified, Contextual, Contradictory, Closed, Contested, Collective, and Chaotic. This framing of the cultures attached to financialisation is then illustrated through case studies demonstrating the diverse ways in which shifting cultures have served to embed financialisation in our daily lives. After a discussion of the material culture of financialisation itself, there are two sector examples which review financial cultures in the provision of water and housing. These are followed by considerations of financialisation in financial literacy and financial inclusion, the media, and finally well-being. The chapters in this book were originally published in a special issue of New Political Economy.

Creating Target Publics for Welfare Policies Lorenzo Barrault-Stella, Pierre-Edouard Weill, 2018-05-16 This volume analyzes welfare policies by looking at the making of their target publics. It examines how these populations are identified and constructed by policy making. The contributors apply the classic theoretical question about who gets what when and how but also suggest the revisiting of policy feedback analysis. Coverage includes empirical case studies in different geographical areas. It looks at Europe, the United States, and also considers Mayotte set in a post-colonial context. The chapters also examine different aspects of welfare, including the bureaucratic treatment of marginalized populations as well as the middle class. The authors draw on diverse conceptual approaches and investigative methodologies. They conduct participant observation in public or nonprofit organizations, explore administrative records, and interview actors at various stages of policymaking. This qualitative material is then combined with relevant quantitative data Readers are guided through a multilevel approach of welfare policies from their definition to their implementation They gain insight into the targeting of publics from the higher reaches of government to the most underprivileged groups of the social world Overall the book compares different national contexts and social policy fields This approach unearths regularities enabling the authors to reassess major contemporary transformations of the welfare State

Object Relations, Work and the Self David P. Levine, 2009-10-16 In this book David P Levine applies psychoanalytic object relations theory to understanding work motivation and the meaning of work Drawing on the writings of authors such as Donald Winnicott Otto Kernberg and Melanie Klein he explores three factors central to our effort to understand work guilt greed and the self Special attention is paid to the factors that determine the individual's emotional capacity to do work that engages the self and its creative potential and to the related matter of impairment in that capacity Chapters include the problem of work greed envy and the search for the self skill power and authority work and reality Object Relations Work and the Self will be of interest to psychoanalysts and organizational consultants as well as anyone concerned with what determines the quality of life in the workplace

Within, Against, and Beyond Liberalism David Blaney, Naeem Inayatullah, 2021-06-24 This book provides a generous immanent description of liberalism but also works against and looks beyond it It engages liberalism and its variants in IPE at a moment in time when liberalism and liberal internationalism are experiencing something of a crisis of confidence Though we are deeply critical of liberalism especially the variant that dominates in IPE we picture liberalism as variegated and rife with doubt and tensions that potentially open it to traditions of thinking beyond itself We also show how these tensions and doubts often prompt attempts at closure in the form of defensive maneuvers like Eurocentric conceptions of development that justify Western dominance and the condemnation of scholarship that exposes relations of domination and subordination as violating the precepts of unit level positive science But recognizing these maneuvers as defensive reactions may help us grasp the moments of greater openness within liberalism that connect to traditions that think against and beyond its central tenets

No Small Hope Kenneth A. Reinert, 2018-06-01 With headlines focused on human suffering civil wars refugee flows the spread of disease due to hunger and poor sanitation population growth climate change it is easy to dive into despair What is needed instead is a radical rethinking of global policy to realize the potential for improving the human condition This book provides hope by examining the basic needs for a fundamental shift in thinking about development and human security for both practical and ethical reasons Kenneth A Reinert calls for a basic goods approach that focuses on the provision of nutritious food clean water sanitation health services education services housing electricity and human security services This approach bridges two perspectives that of standard growth which emphasizes increasing GDP per capita and that of capabilities human development which puts priority on the realization of human potential Reinert argues that only when growth leads to an increase in the broad based provision of basic goods and services will the hoped for expansion of human capabilities and development be achieved No Small Hope places the basic goods approach on the firm foundation of objective human needs and subsistence rights It offers a practical agenda for making progress towards human development by focusing on the real determinants of human well being in an ethical system of moral minimalism In a world of climate change increased risk of natural disasters and increased refugee flows the basic goods approach promises to help alleviate ongoing suffering and address vast deprivations in basic needs fulfillment The Journal of Political Economy ,2006 Journal of Economic Literature ,2006 Leading Contemporary Economists Steven Pressman,2008-10 This collection of essays offers an extensive critical review of the major contributions of key figures in contemporary heterodox economics including comprehensive bibliographies of their writings and lists of vital secondary material
