Jose, 2017-09-15 The ninth volume in the Official History written in the 1920s under trying conditions of censorship by the Admiralty eventually partially overcome is set out to show that during the Great War the Royal Australian Navy had justified the policy of the pre war Australian leaders who had inaugurated it Covered amongst other topics is the Capture of the German Colonies the Sydney Emden Fight Overseas Service in East Africa Dardanelles North Atlantic and also in European Waters It confirms that whether fighting in action in routine patrolling or working ashore the young Australian fleet and its men under Admiralty control had shown themselves worthy of the traditions and courage of the Royal Navy The Outbreak of War Capture of the German Colonies Samoa Nauru Capture of the German Colonies German New Guinea The Australian and the German Squadron Affairs in the Western Pacific The Convoys and the Emden The Sydney Emden Fight and its Results Service Overseas Malay Archipelago A Service Overseas East Africa Dardanelles North Atlantic Service in European Waters The Australian Coastal Patrol Raiders and Minefields The Royal Australian Naval Brigade Transport Hospital Ships and Dockyards Sundry Services Radio Telegraphy Censorship Coaling etc The Official History of Australia in the War of 1914 1918 is a 12 volume series covering Australian involvement in the First World War The series was edited by C E W Bean who also wrote six of the volumes and was published between 1920 and 1942 The first seven volumes deal with the Australian Imperial Force while other volumes cover the Australian Naval and Military Expeditionary Force at Rabaul the Royal Australian Navy the Australian Flying Corps and the home front the final volume is a photographic record Unlike other official histories that have been aimed at military staff Bean intended the Australian history to be accessible to a non military audience The relatively small size of the Australian forces enabled the history to be presented in great detail giving accounts of individual actions that would not have been possible when covering a larger force The Official History of Australia in the War of 1914-1918: Volume X - The Australians at Rabaul Seaforth Simpson MacKenzie, 2017-09-15 This is the tenth volume in the series written by Seaforth Mackenzie It presents the background to and a detailed account of the capture of German New Guinea the first Australian fighting in September 1914 while the AIF was still being formed The Royal Australian Navy and the Australian Naval and Military Expeditionary Force under Colonel William Holmes had captured Rabaul and within three months Holmes s forces had garrisoned the remainder of Germany s Pacific possessions south of the

Equator stretching from north east mainland New Guinea to the Admiralty Islands New Ireland Bougainville and Nauru Clearly different from the other volumes of the series volume ten records only one skirmish between the Germans and the Australians In a war that was one of the largest in history the conflict in New Guinea was far flung short and minor an episode that was of little importance in battle history but of major importance in the military and general history of Australia German Colonisation in the Pacific The Outbreak of War The Old Protectorate Discovery and Annexation The Despatch of the AN and MEF Rabaul at the Outbreak of War The Seizure of New Britain The Terms of Capitulation The Establishment of Military Administration The Capture of the Komet The Military Occupation of Nauru The North west Pacific Expedition Transfer of the Military Administration The Early Stages of the Pethebridge Administration Work of the Australian Army Medical Corps The Administration of Native Affairs Financial Problems The Administration of Justice Land Policy and the Control of Trade and Commerce The Outstations Garrison Life Later Phases of the Military Administration The Mandate and the End of the Military Occupation The Official History of Australia in the War of 1914 1918 is a 12 volume series covering Australian involvement in the First World War The series was edited by C E W Bean who also wrote six of the volumes and was published between 1920 and 1942 The first seven volumes deal with the Australian Imperial Force while other volumes cover the Australian Naval and Military Expeditionary Force at Rabaul the Royal Australian Navy the Australian Flying Corps and the home front the final volume is a photographic record Unlike other official histories that have been aimed at military staff Bean intended the Australian history to be accessible to a non military audience The relatively small size of the Australian forces enabled the history to be presented in great detail giving accounts of individual actions that would not have been possible when covering a larger force

The Navy and the Nation David Stevens, John Reeve, 2005-01-01 Australia has often been described as a nation shaped by war From an early age every Australian is taught the significance of Gallipoli and the Anzac legend This however is but one dimension of the military's impact on our nation's coming of age Australia after all is an island It was the Navy which explored and founded European Australia and it is the Navy which has ever since been critical to our national security With its ancestry in the Royal Navy and the former colony based navies the Australian Navy was established in 1901 Since that time it has helped Australia enter the international community as a modern self reliant nation and has been indispensable in protecting Australia's sovereignty and national interests Despite the Navy being one of Australia's oldest and most important institutions the links between nation building and the Navy have never before received detailed study Bringing together scholars from Australia and overseas The Navy and the Nation examines the extent of the Navy's contribution to our national development It shows too how the Navy has played a vital role in defining our independent national identity A former naval officer David Stevens is a graduate of the University of New South Wales and the Australian National University and is currently Director of Strategic and Historical Studies within the Sea Power Centre Australia He has written and edited several books on maritime strategy and naval history John Reeve is Senior Lecturer and

Osborne Fellow in Naval History at the University of New South Wales at the Australian Defence Force Academy He has written extensively on early modern and contemporary diplomatic and strategic issues
