Making Progress:

Making Progress in Primary Science Wynne Harlen, 2003 This new and extensively revised edition of Progress in Primary Science is intended for all those involved in training teachers of primary school science both preservice and on INSET courses Its flexible modular structure enables course leaders to tailor their course to participants needs Each module can be studied individually or as part of an extended programme and contains notes for facilitators photocopiable workshop materials activities for practitioners and suggestions for further reading Throughout the book the focus is on the learning of science as an investigative process through which pupils develop an understanding of ideas This is supported by modules on different aspects of teaching and learning in science including building on children s own ideas how to ask and answer questions managing practical work in the classroom science for very young children effective assessment self assessment and feedback cross curricular links ICT and science science outside the classroom The companion study book currently available can be used by those participating on these courses It follows the same modular structure and contains the same information as this book and makes planning and delivering the course easier and less time consuming for the course leader Making Progress in English Eve Bearne, 2006-09-07 This manual is designed to help teachers establish a principled framework for developing English at Key Stages 1 and 2 Covering all aspects of English it will help teachers raise standards of achievement in pupils at all levels of fluency and confidence The author uses case study material to relate theory to practice covering issues such as classroom organization and management She also provides guidance for planning and developing ideas with colleagues and with children and offers suggestions for teaching strategies with photocopiable sheets and formats and ways to evaluate teaching Separate sections deal with reading writing speaking and listening and these different threads are drawn together in sections on knowledge about language including spelling grammar and punctuation and study of texts including media poetry drama response to literature and the use of non fiction texts The final section deals with policy and schemes of work Each chapter also offers information on assessment recording and reporting linked to scales of progression frameworks for screening and supporting children who have difficulties with English gender working with parents linguistic and cultural diversity Eve Bearne teaches at Homerton College Cambridge Making Progress C. Leigh Anderson, Janet W. Looney, 2002-01-01 While a universal definition of progress has proved elusive measures of progress have been defined and grouped into the broad areas of material wealth social relations technical capacity and moral aesthetic and intellectual sensibilities However not until the Progress Project whose results are gathered here has the impact of progress on public policy in these realms been systematically explored In this volume noted scholars in economics government education technology literature culture and religion among other fields discuss the meaning and measurement of progress in their areas of specialty They assess particular policies that have either promoted or retarded progress and provide recommendations for policy processes or instruments that better reflect the nature of forward movement in the current era

Making Progress is an important contribution to both the theoretical and practical literature on public policy it is a resource for scholars and students as well as a guide for policymakers analysts and advocates who help craft those policies in the name of progress

Making Progress in Writing Eve Bearne, 2003-08-29 Children's achievements in writing lag behind their achievements in reading speaking and listening National tests are beginning to expose this gap and inevitably it is raising concerns The issue is not without controversy but regardless of the politics of the situation national progress in children's writing is both needed and possible This new book from Eve Bearne makes a valuable contribution towards helping teachers close this gap Uniquely it follows the structure of the National Literacy Strategy whilst examining key areas such as bridging KS2 and KS3 writing and writing skills beyond the Literacy Hour Such a structure makes the book incredibly practical and easy to use providing essential information for both practitioners and academics
