Looking For La Pérouse Frank Horner, 2016-10-18 In the third year of the French Revolution the National Assembly sent the d'Entrecasteaux expedition to the Pacific to search for the missing explorer La Pérouse Like the nation itself the expedition was divided by politics there were both republicans and monarchists aboard And besides servicemen there were civilians the naturalists whose interests often cut across those of mariners The archives of the expedition which include a wealth of candid and amusing private journals reveal how d'Entrecasteaux despite tensions that strained personal friendships commanded enough respect to keep the expedition operational Though it found no trace of La Pérouse it made valuable discoveries in geography botany and anthropology The voyage however ended at Sourabaya in irreversible division with d'Entrecasteaux dead the arch monarchist d'Auribeau in command and the French receiving after two years their first news from home of regicide terror and war The narrative concludes by tracing the adventurous paths taken by survivors to reach home and the stratagems they used to save the records of the expedition in the Economic History of the Pacific Rim Dennis O. Flynn, A.J.H. Latham, Sally M. Miller, 2002-09-11 Trade across the Pacific will be one of the dominant forces in the economy of the next century This collection reflects the birth of Pacific Rim history until recently largely neglected It addresses the development of the Pacific Rim over four centuries combining broad historical syntheses with a range of essays on specific topics from trade with Hong Kong to British overseas banking It will form a major contribution to this rapidly expanding new field First Contacts in Polynesia - the Samoan Case (1722-1848)

Serge Tcherkezoff, 2008-08-01 This book explores the first encounters between Samoans and Europeans up to the arrival of the missionaries using all available sources for the years 1722 to the 1830s paying special attention to the first encounter on land with the Laperouse expedition Many of the sources used are French and some of difficult accessibility and thus they have not previously been thoroughly examined by historians Adding some Polynesian comparisons from beyond Samoa and reconsidering the so called Sahlins Obeyesekere debate about the fate of Captain Cook First Contacts in Polynesia advances a hypothesis about the contemporary interpretations made by the Polynesians of the nature of the Europeans and about the actions that the Polynesians devised for this encounter wrapping Europeans up in cloth and presenting young girls for sexual contact It also discusses how we can go back two centuries and attempt to reconstitute even if only partially the point of view of those who had to discover for themselves these Europeans whom they call Papalagi The book also contributes an additional dimension to the much touted Mead Freeman debate which bears on the rules and values regulating adolescent sexuality in Samoan culture Scholars have long considered the pre missionary times as a period in which freedom in sexuality for adolescents predominated It appears now that this erroneous view emerged from a deep misinterpretation of Laperouse's and Dumont d'Urville's narratives Wildest Alaska Philip L. Fradkin, 2001-06-18 Twenty five years ago Philip L Fradkin read a book about a remote bay on the Gulf of Alaska coast The noted environmental historian was attracted by the threads of violence woven through the natural and human histories of Lituya Bay Could these histories be related and if so how The attempt to define the power of this wild place was a tantalizing and as it turned out dangerous quest This compelling and eerie memoir tells of Fradkin's odyssey through recorded human history and eventually to the bay itself as he explores the dark and unyielding side of nature Natural forces have always dominated Lituya Bay Immense storms powerful earthquakes huge landslides and giant waves higher than the world's tallest skyscrapers pound the whale shaped fjord Compelling for its deadly beauty the bay has attracted visitors over time but it has never been mastered by them Its seasonal occupants throughout recorded history Tlingit Indians European explorers gold miners and coastal fishermen seeking a harbor of refuge have drowned gone mad slaughtered fur bearing animals with abandon sifted the black sand beaches for minute particles of gold and murdered each other Only a hermit found peace there Then the author and his small son visited the bay and were haunted by a grizzly bear As an environmental writer for the Los Angeles Times and western editor of Audubon magazine Fradkin has traveled from Tierra del Fuego to the North Slope of Alaska But nothing prepared him for Lituya Bay a place so powerful it turned one person's hair white This story resonates with echoes of Melville Poe and Conrad as it weaves together the human and natural histories of a beautiful and wild place The Oxford History of the British Empire: The eighteenth century Peter James Marshall,1998 Examines the history of British worldwide expansion from the Glorious Revolution of 1689 to the end of the Napoleonic Wars a crucial phase in the creation of the modern British Empire

Voyage To Australia And The Pacific Edward Duyker,2013-05-31 In 1791 Admiral Bruny d Entrecasteaux sailed with two ships from Revolutionary France to search for his compatriot the explorer La P ousse who was missing in the Pacific Over a period of nearly two years he had held his ideologically divided expedition together Without his exceptional maritime skills his men and one cross dressing woman might all have died or played out the destructive fury of the Revolution on the quarterdeck before reaching Java More than two centuries later d Entrecasteaux's account of his voyage remains a profound affirmation of his achievements His humane sensitive and even joyful encounters with the peoples of Australia and the Pacific make this a remarkably appealing book Although d Entrecasteaux failed to discover the fate of La P ousse and perished in the attempt his voyage was more than a mere rescue mission Between 1791 and 1793 the expedition discovered the Derwent estuary and the D Entrecasteaux Channel between Bruny Island and mainland Tasmania and Esperance Bay and the Archipelago of the Recherche in Western Australia D Entrecasteaux's voyage also recorded some of the earliest observations of the Aboriginal people of Tasmania and south western Australia and detailed accounts of the islands and peoples of the Pacific including New Zealand Tonga New Caledonia the Solomon Islands and New Guinea D Entrecasteaux died suddenly off the coast of New Guinea reportedly afflicted by symptoms of scurvy in July 1793
