Patrick White And The Religious Imagination Arthurs Dream:

Patrick White and the Religious Imagination Michael Giffin, 1999 Arthur's Dream Michael Giffin, 1993 Patrick White and the Religious Imagination Michael Giffin, 1999 An overview of White s oeuvre which spans some twelve novels and almost 50 years from Happy Valley 1939 to Memoirs of Many in One 1986 The study suggests that White give each of his characters a particular imaginative horizon Primitive Jewish Christian and Classical and the author engages in close readings of the various novels exploring the way in which these given horizons relate or fail to relate to each other Patrick White and God Michael Giffin, 2017-05-11 The novels of Australia s Nobel Laureate Patrick White 1912 1990 are a persistent commentary on Nietzsche s proclamation of God s death As White knew the proclamation was not about God s existence but about classical views of God it presented him with the impossible task of using language to describe what language cannot describe This has always been one of the more misunderstood aspects of his literary vision Because the announcement is often interpreted in antithetical ways atheistic theistic secular religious humanistic and fatalistic critics should gain a better understanding of what White was trying to achieve by comparing him with his post war contemporaries from England Scotland and Canada Iris Murdoch William Golding Muriel Spark and Robertson Davies After and because of the war these authors all commented on the consequences of God s death Along with White they worked with a shared pattern of tropes to explore the light and dark aspects of western consciousness and the civilization it has produced Where did the pattern come from Was it metaphysical or metapsychological These questions are complex as the pattern came from many sources simultaneously and synergistically but this book tackles these questions by describing that pattern Patrick White Beyond the Grave Ian Henderson, Anouk Lang, 2015-08-15 Patrick White 1912 1990 won the Nobel Prize for Literature in 1973 and remains one of Australia s most celebrated writers In 2006 White s literary executor Barbara Mobbs released a highly significant collection of hitherto unpublished papers reviving mainstream and scholarly interest in his work Patrick White Beyond the Grave considers White s writing in light of the new findings acknowledging his homosexuality in relation to the development of his literary style examining the way he engages his readers and contextualizing his life and oeuvre in relation to London and to London life Thought provoking this collection of original essays represents the work of an outstanding list of White scholars from around the globe and will no doubt inspire further work on White from a rising generation of scholars of twentieth century literature beyond Australia Reading Corporeality in Patrick White's Fiction Bridget Grogan, 2019-03-25 In Reading Corporeality in Patrick White s Fiction An Abject Dictatorship of the Flesh Bridget Grogan combines theoretical explication textual comparison and close reading to argue that corporeality is central to Patrick White s fiction shaping the characterization style narrative trajectories and implicit philosophy of his novels and short stories Critics have often identified a radical disgust at play in White s writing claiming that it arises from a defining dualism that posits the purity of the disembodied spirit in relation to the pollution of the material world Grogan argues convincingly

however that White's fiction is far more complex in its approach to the body. Modeling ways in which Kristevan theory may be applied to modern fiction, her close attention to White's recurring interest in physicality and abjection draws attention to his complex questioning of metaphysics and subjectivity, thereby providing a fresh and compelling reading of this important world author.

Otherness in the Novels of Patrick White Alma Budurlean, 2009. The central argument of the thesis is the representation and reception of otherness is followed throughout White's novels with the support of a complex critical instrumentarium made up of postcolonial theory, reader response theory, cultural critical frameworks, alterity theory, and narratology. Otherness in its manifold representations is a main component of Patrick White's fiction. It functions on several levels and this requires a deeper entanglement on the part of the reader. The different levels previously referred to are embodied in the various Others who people White's novels: ethnic Others as members of the Australian multicultural society and the Aborigines as colonial Others, as well as gender Others who also play an important role in White's fictional world. Reading Patrick White is an exercise in tolerance, endurance, and acceptance of alternatives. But the efforts of the reader do not remain unrewarded. In his endeavour to change what it meant to imagine Australia, the writer broke down the barriers of what it meant to imagine otherness.

Arthur's Dream Michael Giffin, 1996. Attempts to provide a framework and terminology for accessing the area of Patrick White's spirituality. Uses a structuralist and post-structuralist critical method that looks at the theological implications of modernity and postmodernity. Includes indexes and bibliography. Simultaneously published in hardcover and paperback. Author is a priest in the Anglican Diocese of Sydney and teaches literature and theology at the University of Sydney.

Nobel Laureates in Search of Identity and Integrity Anders Hallengren, 2004. In this collection of essays, biographies, and Nobel lectures, ten Nobel Laureates from five continents give various and startling perspectives on current questions about modernity and tradition, unity and diversity, integration, identity, integrity, gender, and sexual roles in a multicultural world of change. It is also a book on self-confidence and presents different ways to self-knowledge and cultural individuality. Published in print for the first time, these studies and penetrating observations on topical issues written by leading authors and intellectuals from many distant countries make up one of the most intriguing and engaging avowals of our time.

Imagination in an Age of Crisis Jason Goroncy, Rod Pattenden, 2022-06-01. This book explores the vital role of the imagination in today's complex climates: cultural, environmental, political, racial, religious, spiritual, intellectual, etc. It asks: What contribution do the arts make in a world facing the impacts of globalism, climate change, pandemics, and losses of culture? What wisdom and insight and orientation for birthing hope and action in the world do the arts offer to religious faith and to theological reflection? These essays, poems, and short reflections written by art practitioners and academics from a diversity of cultures and religious traditions demonstrate the complex cross-cultural nature of this conversation, examining critical questions in dialogue with various art forms and practices and offering a way of understanding how the human imagination is formed, sustained, employed, and expanded. Marked by beauty and wonder as well as incisive critique it is a unique collection that brings unexpected voices into a global conversation about imagining human futures
