Mircea Eliade,1971 New Patterns for Comparative Religion William E. Paden,2016-05-19 The cross cultural study of religion has always gone hand in hand with the worldview sciences or intellectual frameworks of the time These frames whether focused on psychology or politics gender or colonialism bring out perspectives for understanding religious behavior Today one of our common civic worldviews is represented in the shift from scriptural to evolutionary history This volume brings together in one place key essays by professor emeritus William Paden showing a progression of steps he has taken in exploring bridgeworks between comparative religion and evolutionary models of religious behavior One of the leading scholars in religious studies Paden shows ways that religion can be contextualized as part of the natural world and thus seen as reflecting the ingrained sociality and world making drive of the human species Paden argues that although comparativism has been challenged as too culture bound too western or too gendered cross over categories and concepts between religious traditions cannot be avoided Arguing that there are recurrent patterns of human behavior common to our species and that thereby underlie all cultures he proposes that the missing link in the Religion Evolution debate is comparative religion a global cross cultural perspective on religious behaviours throughout time Each article is contextualized within this overall trajectory of thought within Paden s work and the history of the discipline as a whole Patterns in Comparative Religion,by Mircea Eliade; Translated from the French, by Rosemary Sheed Mircea Eliade,1958 Traite D'histoire Des Religions.

Relating Religion Jonathan Z. Smith,2004-11-10 One of the most influential theorists of religion Jonathan Z Smith is best known for his analyses of religious studies as a discipline and for his advocacy and refinement of comparison as the basis for the history of religions Relating Religion gathers seventeen essays four of them never before published that together provide the first broad overview of Smith's thinking since his seminal 1982 book Imagining Religion Smith first explains how he was drawn to the study of religion outlines his own theoretical commitments and draws the connections between his thinking and his concerns for general education He then engages several figures and traditions that serve to define his interests within the larger setting of the discipline The essays that follow consider the role of taxonomy and classification in the study of religion the construction of difference and the procedures of generalization and redescription that Smith takes to be key to the comparative enterprise The final essays deploy features of Smith's most recent work especially the notion of translation Heady original and provocative Relating Religion is certain to be hailed as a landmark in the academic study and critical theory of religion To the Things Themselves Arvind Sharma, 2015-08-31 Since its founding by Jacques Waardenburg in 1971 Religion and Reason has been a leading forum for contributions on theories theoretical issues and agendas related to the phenomenon and the study of religion Topics include among others category formation comparison ethnophilosophy hermeneutics methodology myth phenomenology philosophy of science scientific atheism structuralism and theories of religion From time to time the series publishes volumes that map the state of the art and the history of the discipline
