Posttraumatic Nightmares Psychodynamic Explorations:

POSTTRAUMATIC NIGHTMARES MELVIN R. LANSKY, 2015 Posttraumatic Nightmares Melvin R. Lansky, Carol R. Bley, 1995 Despite the early interest of Freud and Ernest Jones posttraumatic nightmares have long been exempt from psychodynamic investigation The neglect is accounted for by one simple reason posttraumatic nightmares have not been viewed as psychodynamic events at all Rather they have been assumed to be literal replays of trauma to which the dreamer was subjected in Freud's terms such nightmares have been understood as simple manifest content lacking and latent meaning In Posttraumatic Nightmares Melvin Lansky challenges this long accepted view in the first comprehensive study of posttraumatic nightmares as true mental products rather than signs of posttraumatic reaction Lansky's study draws on a unique research project He and his colleagues compared nightmare texts with conscious reports of trauma in a population of 200 psychiatric inpatients hospitalized over a seven year period This project showed that patients retelling of nightmare scenarios was significantly discrepant from the patients waking accounts of their traumas Furthermore the distortions served the dream work in the manner of everyday dreams they helped to screen out intolerable latent dream thoughts Posttraumatic Nightmares is not only an empirically grounded expansion of psychoanalytic dream theory to the phenomena of posttraumatic nightmares It is a refinement of dream theory per se Enriching psychoanalytic theory with the insights of family systems theory recent trauma research and contemporary perspectives on affect Lansky proceeds to a clinically compelling finding that posttraumatic nightmares understood psychodynamically can play a major role in the treatment of trauma victims

Memories and Representations of Terror Daniel Feierstein, 2023-10-06 Memories and Representations of Terror Working Through Genocide explores how memories and representations shape our understanding of historical events particularly the ways in which societies create narratives about genocide and its aftermath using Argentina's last military dictatorship 1976 1983 and its contested legacy as a case study Feierstein examines how memories and representations of genocide are the terrain in which both the strategic objectives of genocide and the possibilities of challenging those objectives are contested These memories and representations provide the foundation upon which critical judgments about the past are constructed and offer the potential for assuming responsibility and working through the consequences of genocide This book proposes that terror continues to hijack the actions and identities of surviving societies via a process of the construction of memories and social representations of the lived experience in a final stage of genocide Feierstein terms symbolic enactment In doing so Feierstein examines the contributions of various disciplines to comprehending memory processes and social representations It covers a range of topics from the nature of memory based on the neuroscientific discoveries of the last half century to psychoanalytic theories on the functioning of the mind including the role of psychic defense mechanisms the unconscious mind collective pacts of denial and different forms of desensitization It also explores historiographical debates between forms of history and forms of memory as well as sociological contributions to the analysis of social frames of memory cultural memory generational transmission and related issues The first volume of a three volume work that aims to identify and evaluate the various consequences of genocidal social practices and the possibility of healing the scars left on individuals subjectivities and the social fabric by genocide This book is essential reading for students and academics in the humanities and social sciences with an interest in genocide collective memory and identity Psychoanalysis, collective traumas and memory places Robert D Hinshelwood, et al., 2015-12-05 Psychoanalysis has always had to reckon with the epistemology of the witnessing of the analysand but perhaps it has only recently been reckoning with the discourse of the ethics of testimony Here I am is the answer addressed to those who call on us to testify And who are the people who have answered with a Here I am in this book dedicated to the places of the memory of Mediterranean civilisations and their discontents The reference to the work of the same name by Freud 1929 is clear here but what many of the authors and of the essays in it seem to have in common is the attention to the traumatic nature of certain places of the memory theatres of wars such as the wars in the Balkans at the centre of the contribution by N Janigro lines in the diary of a father who miraculously survived genocide that a daughter essayist J Altounian wrenches from oblivion or even non places of a memory in which the witnesses survivors are the many refugees who have fled their homelands As Bohleber writes psychoanalysis began as a theory of trauma In this book the places of the memory are often the rooms of analysis places of re evocation of collective traumas which have not always taken place historically along the shores of the Mediterranean Sea In some cases the victims of collective traumas undergone in the home Mediterranean countries take their dramas of migrants and refugees to analysts in the North of Europe as in the case of Varvin and Papadopoulos In other pieces neither the geographical origin of the analysand nor that of the analyst have apparently any connection with the Mediterranean We are referring to the essay by M Ritter and that of Halberstadt Freud however in them the consulting rooms are places of the memory in which the analyst reflects on the subject of trans generational transmission of collective guilt connected with Nazism and with the Shoah which also affected the history of Mediterranean countries In other contributions in this book the places of the memory are those of the Middle East caught up in the Israeli Palestinian conflict From different points of view three authors Y Gampel J Deutsch and H J Wirth speak to us of places of the memory where the collective traumas have not been assigned once and for all to the work of historians as in the case of the Shoah and of the other genocides of the 20th century as unfortunately they are still on going To Hell and Back John Marzillier,2012-08-16 Despite how rare one off traumatic events may seem the statistics show that the majority of us are likely to experience such trauma at some point in our lives In this innovative and engaging book Marzillier combines first hand accounts from trauma sufferers with over forty years of clinical practice to provide an honest human description of how trauma affects us at the time and also after the event Whether discussing accounts of terrorist bombings natural disasters road accidents or physical attacks he looks at what these experiences do to us and offers practical and consoling advice for both sufferers and their loved ones on coping with the experience and developing resilience for the future
