Poverty Growth And Institutions In Developing Asia:

Poverty, Growth and Institutions in Developing Asia E. Pernia, A. Deolalikar, 2003-10-07 The theme of this book is that economic growth is key but institutions and other national and subnational attributes matter as well They are critical to explaining differences in social development and poverty reduction across countries and subnational areas that cannot be accounted for by growth alone The book concludes that a more complete strategy needs to consider various institutional factors at the national and subnational levels to achieve rapid and sustained poverty reduction Indeed paying attention to these factors will benefit both growth and poverty reduction Whither the Philippines in the 21st Century? Rodolfo C Severino, Lorraine Carlos Salazar, 2007 Examines contradictory economic and political trends occurring in the Philippines in order to gain a sense of the country's prospects

Poverty Reduction and the Role of Institutions in Developing Asia Anil B. Deolalikar, 2002 Based on research covering eight Asian countries Explores developments in analytical approaches to poverty reduction and examines the main political social and cultural institutions that have an impact on poverty reduction Explores how institutions may inhibit or promote poverty reduction efforts and discusses the impact of institutional reform on poverty reduction

Labor Market Distortions, Rural-Urban Inequality, and the Opening of the People's Republic of China Economy Thomas Hertel, 2008-05 Evaluates the impact of some key factor market reforms on rural urban inequality income distribution using a household disaggregated recursive dynamic computable general equilibrium model of the People's Republic of China It also explores how these factor market reforms interact with product market reforms currently under way as part of the country's World Trade Org WTO accession process The simulation results show that reforms in the rural land rental market hukou system as well as increasing off farm labor mobility would reduce the urban rural income ratio dramatically Furthermore the combination of WTO accession factor market reforms improves both efficiency equality significantly Charts tables graphs

Practice Steve Kayizzi-Mugerwa, Charles Leyeka Lufumpa, 2020-12-03 This book is the product of research undertaken at the African Development Bank AfDB on the lessons that the continent of Africa can draw from the role of the state in Asia's rapid economic development in the last 50 years. The book applies a cross-national comparative framework to analyse Africa's performance, drawing broadly on the developmental states of Asia, i.e. Japan, China, India, Vietnam, etc., with focus on South Korea. The book argues that for Africa to replicate Asia's developmental success, it may require more than just tweaking the public sector machinery. Dedicated institutions and a citizenry capable of demanding accountability from governments must become key ingredients of the development strategy. The book also provides insight into the learning experiences of Asia in addressing key national policy challenges, i.e. land reform and quality of public administration at the federal and local levels, enhancing technical skills, boosting capabilities for sciences, engineering, and mathematics, and industrialization.
