Poverty Reduction In The 1990s An Evaluation Of Strategy And Performance:

Poverty Reduction in the 1990s Alison Evans,2000-01-01 The World Development Report 1990 Poverty provided the foundation for the World Bank strategy to help achieve global poverty reduction This report is a contribution to the strategy review process It examines the implementation of the 1990 strategy maps changes against assessment of Bank performance at both the country and the project level and assesses the relevance of key elements of the 1990 strategy in light of new data and shifts in the development assistance environment The report concludes that the 1990 strategy remains relevant but needs to be combined with a more comprehensive approach Lessons from experience confirm the importance of a holistic approach to reach the poor more effectively This includes a focus on local level institutions and building on existing institutional frameworks wherever possible and on working across sectors for maximum impact The 1990 strategy and the operational guidelines based on it have failed to generate a clear emphasis on measuring and monitoring results A critical test of the Bank s evolving poverty strategy will be the design of a credible framework for measuring the results of the Bank s country assistance and helping to build local capacity for monitoring the impact of poverty reduction programmes The report is in English with the foreword and the executive summary given in English Spanish and French

IDA's Partnership for Poverty Reduction Catherine Gwin,2002-01-01 During its 40 year history the International Development Association IDA has worked to improve global welfare by allocating resources to growth and poverty reduction programs In 1990 a new framework for IDA s poverty reduction efforts was created which resulted in significant structural change to its programs The focus of the programs became one of labor intensive growth and expanded access to social services and safety nets to improve incomes levels among the poor Additionally the IDA agenda was expanded to include gender the environment and governance as facets of the poverty reduction framework This report evaluates IDA s performance from 1994 through 2000 against the three specific replenishment commitments of the period While finding the performance level only partially satisfactory the review suggests ways to improve the effectiveness of IDA programs replenishment process and its ability to match corporate and country priorities

Annual Review of Development Effectiveness 2006 Monika Huppi,2006 The results agenda adopted by the World Bank and other donors aims to ensure that development assistance yields sustainable poverty reduction Effective poverty reduction results from three main factors sustained and inclusive growth effective service delivery to the poor and capable public sector institutions that are accountable to stakeholders for the results they achieve The Annual Review of Development Effectiveness 2006 assembles evaluative evidence around three questions central to poverty reduction How effectively has economic growth translated into poverty reduction in Bank assisted countries and what factors have affected these results What factors have led to high quality results in areas that deliver services to the poor What measures help raise the accountability of public institutions responsible for delivering and sustaining these results The report identifies three key areas where the World Bank can further strengthen its effectiveness in helping countries reduce poverty Economic growth has improved in many Bank client countries but a stronger focus on the nature of growth is needed to ensure that such growth leads to jobs for the poor and productivity increases in poorer regions and sectors where the poor earn their incomes Consistent use of a clearly articulated results chain helps ensure that Bank country assistance programs and individual projects set realistic objectives that key cross sectoral constraints to achieving them are adequately considered and that due attention is given to building capacity A realistic assessment of the political economy of governance related reforms is needed to tailor efforts to increase the accountability of public sector institutions to local conditions

Independent Evaluation Group, 2006-01-01 The 2005 Annual Report on Operation Evaluation examines the use of information by World Bank managers to improve development results and enhance the effectiveness of the Bank at the country level It suggests that greater attention is needed to measure and manage development results at the country level This will require strengthening countries performance measurement capacity The Bank is making progress in strengthening the results focus of its monitoring and evaluation but more attention is needed to improve performance measurement and tracking progress

IEG Review of World Bank Assistance for Financial Sector Reform Laurie Effron,2006-01-01 This evaluation presents an independent assessment of the Bank's support for financial sector reforms over the period FY93-03. It assesses the extent to which the objectives of Bank assistance were achieved including reducing government ownership of financial intermediaries, decreased market concentration, increased competition and efficiency, healthier and more stable financial intermediaries and deeper, more developed financial systems. It also examines Bank support for financial sector reforms in countries under crisis. 2001 Annual Review of Development Effectiveness William Battaille,2002-01-01 This is the fifth annual review which explores long-term development effectiveness trends and analyses the choice of lending and non-lending instruments and activities to achieve World Bank development objectives. The 2001 review confirms a significant improvement in the outcomes of the Bank's lending performance. It finds that selecting the right combination and sequence of activities for a particular objective can make the difference between success and failure, whether at individual project level for country assistance programmes or for global sectoral and thematic priorities. At each level, there is unexploited potential to maximise strategic selectivity and this is especially important in countries with a poor policy framework or acute institutional development needs. Assessing World Bank Support for Trade, 1987-2004 Yvonne Manu Tsikata,2006-03-14 An independent evaluation of the World Bank's extensive support to developing countries on trade issues between 1987 and 2004. A. Hassan,2002-01-01 In an effort to develop global environmental policies, there is a clear division between developed and developing countries. Developing countries are faced with significant issues such as poverty reduction and economic growth stimulation. These countries may also harbor resentment toward the developed countries as the source of environmental damage. Additionally, environmental problems can impact countries differently. This paper, a cooperative effort by the World Bank Institute and the Development Bank of Japan, seeks to further discussion of the connection between environmental concerns and national development policies. By outlining three specific examples from the steel, power and forestry sectors in Japan, it demonstrates how remarkable environmental improvements can occur while improving production efficiency. 2004 Annual Review of Development Effectiveness Christopher D. Gerrard,2005-01-01 The 2004 Annual Review of Development Effectiveness looks at the recent growth and poverty reduction experience of client countries. It assesses the extent to which Bank interventions have contributed to growth and poverty reduction and the effectiveness of different types of interventions. The review uses the key elements of the Bank's 2001 poverty reduction strategy to examine the extent to which these elements respond to the needs of the poor, are actually being carried out and are having an impact. From Schooling Access to Learning Outcomes, an Unfinished Agenda,2006 This document is an evaluation of World Bank support to primary education. Chu, 2006-01-01 The Financial Sector Assessment Program FSAP is a major initiative undertaken jointly by the World Bank and the IMF in response to the financial crises of the late 1990s The ultimate objectives of the program are i the identification and resolution of financial sector vulnerabilities and their macroeconomic stability implications and ii fostering financial sector development and its contribution to economic growth In addition the FSAP was expected to help the Bank Fund and other institutions design appropriate assistance to address issues identified by the FSAP The evaluation found that the FSAP is a good quality diagnostic tool Joint Bank Fund cooperation has allowed an integrated approach towards financial sector vulnerabilities and development needs and has expanded the depth and quality of the skills base The assessments however fall short in prioritizing recommendations and integrating the findings and recommendations of the assessments into its overall programs

Using Training to Build Capacity World Bank, 2008-03-20 The World Bank finances about US 720 million in training every year through both its lending projects and its in house World Bank Institute WBI The evaluation found that while most of the training reviewed resulted in demonstrable participant learning this learning frequently did not lead to real change in participants workplace performance Poor training outcomes most often resulted from training content that wasn't relevant to the needs and goals of the target institutions or from the trainees lack of incentives or resources to apply learning in their workplaces These findings highlight how important it is for training to be embedded in broader capacity building programs that identify and address organizational and institutional capacity constraints alongside human ones

Jordan Fareed M. A. Hassan, Djelloul Al-Saci, 2004-01-01 This evaluation prepared in collaboration with the Islamic Development Bank looks at the effectiveness of World Bank assistance to Jordan during the 1990s from three perspectives an analysis of the World Bank s services and products development impact and the contribution of the Bank and its development partners to development outcomes The World Bank s strategy since 1990 based on wide ranging and influential analytic and advisory activities was to support macroeconomic stabilization and pro market structural reforms to foster growth The increased focus on the social sectors was aligned with the Millennium Development Goals MDGs The strategy was relevant to the government s priorities outlined in a series of five year economic and social development plans The Bank s programs in particular were successful in promoting policy reforms Substantial tariff trade and financial sector reforms together with the removal of disincentives for investment and the privatization of government enterprises were achieved Bank assistance also contributed to significant progress in the agriculture water and social sectors With Bank support Jordan made excellent progress in almost all areas covered by the MDGs and is likely to meet the target levels by 2015 However these gains have been achieved in an inefficient manner and the cost in terms of public expenditures has been relatively high Recommendations outline much needed public sector reform for despite some public expenditures being curtailed the country s vulnerability to external shocks remains high and the potential for regional instability is also considerable Future Bank assistance should focus on public expenditure restructuring enhanced water management and conservation and poverty reduction
