India's Economic Development Strategies 1951-2000 A.D. J.N. Mongia, 2012-12-06 It has been often said even by dispassionate observers that our economic policies built on ideological considerations and economic assumptions are far removed from the realities of our situation For more than three decades we have been striving to design an economic policy and a planning procedure that are distinctly Indian but the effort has often resulted in only mixing and merging borrowed ideas and experiences However whatever may have been the ideological elements influencing the thinking on economic policies in the formative period of the pre independence days the situation has changed considerably in the actual formation of economic policies since Independence and the effort has been not to be too closely identified with any ideology but to work out a policy that will draw upon all these ideological positions To what extent we have succeeded required a detailed examination Accordingly I brought out a few years ago a treatise on India's Economic Policies which continues to be extremely popular with the intellectual elite the world over In this the learned contributors dwelt at length on the different aspects of India's Economic Policies from 1947-77 and brought out the strength and weaknesses of the

Indian economic scene The present work on India s Economic Development Strategies is born out of the conviction that what India needs now is a set of strategies which are a consistent set of policies and that there is an urgent need for the same in Indian Planning Communities and Livelihood Strategies in Developing Countries Keshav Lall Maharjan,2014-05-29

Sustainability of rural communities is threatened by a plethora of factors including climate change and disasters which interact in an intricate manner in making rural people vulnerable and poor This book is the output of empirical research on communities and livelihood strategies in developing countries It reveals how rural communities are functioning and earning their livelihoods by making the best use of the resources local internal or external new and the combination of the two to counteract the various challenges they face with the ultimate goal of becoming resilient to local or global shocks and sustaining that resilience Local governance is identified as crucial in ensuring sustainable livelihoods as it ensures healthy collaboration between communities on the one hand and civil society and those communities on the other hand in promoting self sustaining development trajectories Similarly the role of social capital is not ignored as it brings in community drive and a sense of purpose direction and solidarity among community members which facilitates problem solving in periods of crises and disasters Youth Mainstreaming in Development Planning Commonwealth Secretariat,2017-07-24 Youth
