Van Hoozer, 1999 National Library of Medicine Audiovisuals Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), ENC Focus, 2001 New Horizons in Mathematics and Science Education, 2001 Human Milk and Lactation Maria Lorella Gianni, 2020-05-28 Human milk is uniquely tailored to meet infants specific nutritional requirements However it is more than just milk This dynamic and bioactive fluid allows mother infant signalling over lactation guiding the infant in the developmental and physiological processes It exerts protection and life long biological effects playing a crucial role in promoting healthy growth and optimal cognitive development The latest scientific advances have provided insight into different components of human milk and their dynamic changes over time However the complexity of human milk composition and the synergistic mechanisms responsible for its beneficial health effects have not yet been unravelled Filling this knowledge gap will shed light on the biology of the developing infant and will contribute to the optimization of infant feeding particularly that of the most vulnerable infants Greater understanding of human milk will also help in elucidating the best strategies for its storage and handling The increasing knowledge on human milk's bioactive compounds together with the rapidly advancing technological achievements will greatly enhance their use as prophylactic or therapeutic agents The current Special Issue aims to welcome original works and literature reviews further exploring the complexity of human milk composition the mechanisms underlying the beneficial effects associated with breastfeeding and the factors and determinants involved in lactation including its promotion and support Coping with Life Stress, volume II Alexander V. Libin, Elena V. Libin, Walter Erich Penk, Nawar Shara, 2024-02-09 This Research Topic is the second volume of the Research Topic Coping With Life Stress Please see the first volume here Existing studies on coping with stress and life difficulties are very contradictory Traditional approaches while identifying cognitive emotional and behavioral aspects of coping often confuse the modality of the strategy with its functionality and outcome This conceptual drawback presents quite a few challenges to the study of efficient and inefficient strategies Perception of the incongruence between modalities cognitive emotional or behavioral of a particular strategy and its functionality or organizational efforts efficient vs inefficient hinders the development of an integrated methodology for a generalized coping with life stress process The absence of general principles for classification of efficient and inefficient coping poses methodological as well as practical difficulties in their diagnostics and differentiation thereby causing additional obstacles in the systematic study of this important phenomenon The Coping with Life Stress approach is focused on research based on the translation of scientific knowledge regarding problem solving processes into practical applications geared toward improvement of individual life learning or coping skills
