Married Life in Greco-Roman Antiquity Claude-Emmanuelle Centlivres Challet, 2021-12-30 Beyond the institution of marriage its norms and rules what was life like for married couples in Greco Roman antiquity This volume explores a wide range of sources over seven centuries to uncover possible answers to this question On tombstones curse or oracular tablets in contracts petitions letters treatises biographies novels and poems throughout Egypt Greece and Rome 107 couples express themselves or are given life by their contemporaries and share their experiences of and views on marital relationships and their practical and emotional consequences Renowned scholars and the next generation of experts explore seven centuries of source material to uncover the dynamics of the married life of metropolitan and provincial famous and unknown young and old couples Men s and women s hopes fears traumas joys endeavours and needs are analysed and reveal an array of interactions and behaviours that enlighten us on gender roles social expectations and intimate dealings in antiquity Known texts are revisited new evidence is put forward and novel interpretations and concepts are offered which highlight local and chronological specificities as well as transhistorical commonalities The analysis of married life in Greco Roman antiquity from ongoing vetting process to place where to find security reveals the fundamental yearning to be included and loved and how the tensions created by the sometimes contradictory demands of traditional ideals and individual realities can be resolved furthering our knowledge of social and cultural mechanisms Married Life in Greco Roman Antiquity will provide valuable resources of interest to scholars and students of Classical studies as well as social history gender studies family history the history of emotions and microhistory

Notarii and exceptores Hans C. Teitler, 2023-01-16 In 411 AD an ecclesiastical conference was held in Carthage under the presidency of Flavius Marcellinus tribunus et notarius On that occasion exceptores and notarii ecclesiastici acted as shorthand writers Thus at this conference we meet three species of one genus at different stages of their development a tribunus et notarius a high imperial official who despite his title probably did not know how to write shorthand exceptores minor civil servants working in public offices who were certainly stenographers at the time and notarii ecclesiastici ecclesiastical bureaucrats whose task at the Carthaginian conference was to assist the exceptores with their work but who at other times were more like tribuni et notarii With the situation in 411 AD as a starting point an attempt is made to sketch the role and significance of notarii and exceptores in the Roman Empire from the Early Principate to circa 450 AD

The Early Martyr Narratives Éric Rebillard, 2020-11-27 From Eusebius of Caesarea who first compiled a collection of martyr narratives around 300 to Thierry Ruinart whose Acta primorum martyrum sincera et selecta was published in 1689 the selection and study of early hagiographic narratives has been founded on an assumption that there existed documents written at the time of martyrdom or very close to it As a result a search for authenticity has been and continues to be central even in the context of today s secular scholarship But as ric Rebillard contends the alternative approach to set aside entirely the question of the historical reliability of martyr narratives is not satisfactory either Instead he argues that martyr narratives should be considered as fluid living texts written anonymously and received by audiences not as precise historical reports but as versions of the story. In other words, the form these texts took between fact and fiction made it possible for audiences to readily accept the historicity of the martyr while at the same time not expect to hear or read a truthful account. In The Early Martyr Narratives, Rebillard considers only accounts of Christian martyrs supposed to have been executed before 260 and only those whose existence is attested in sources that can be dated to before 300. The resulting small corpus contains no texts in the form of legal protocols traditionally viewed as the earliest, most official and authentic records, nor does it include any that can be dated to a period during which persecution of Christians is known to have taken place. Rather than deduce from this that they are forgeries written for the sake of polemic or apologetic, Rebillard demonstrates how the literariness of the narratives creates a fictional complicity that challenges and complicates any claims of these narratives to be truthful.

Christian-Friedrich Collatz, 1998      The Classical Review, 1969      L'archivio di Claudius Tiberianus da Karanis Silvia Strassi, 2008-12-18

Claudius Tiberianus represents a typical situation for the possibilities of Greco-Egyptians: how to advance socially through the service in the Roman army and then how to obtain therefore the citizenship after having finished with the honesta missio. In the first place we see him as a speculator at the time of the rule of Trajan; later as a veteran he had socially advanced and operated together with his companion veterans and also with the still serving soldiers in the navy and in the land army. His friends were for him economic and social partners; they had common affairs and common opinions. These documents open a view of the living in the country Fayum and elsewhere and in the city of Alexandria which allow us to reconstruct a lot of private and public relations. Here even the nearly silent world of women informs us about economic and legal items. A very interesting tale concerns the murdering of a slave reported by the mother of the culprit. Another quite actual aspect of those days is represented by relations such as between patroni and their clientes. From a more technical point in the field of papyrological work it should be remembered that the results have been obtained through a continuous interrogation of the archaeological background.

Aquest llibre s'fruit d'un moment de maduresa en els estudis de gènere a l'antiga Roma per també de la recerca epigràfica de Terraco i probablement haur de ser considerat entre les aportacions més destacades sobre la recerca de la dona romana a Hispània. Del pròleg de Diana Gorostidi Pi.

L'opera presenta i risultati delle indagini archeologiche condotte tra il 1991 e il 2007 dalla Soprintendenza Archeologica di Ostia nella basilica identificata con la cattedrale paleocristiana della città di Porto sotto la direzione scientifica di Lidia Paroli.

autrice di numerosi studi nell'ambito dell'archeologia tardoantica e altomedievale e di Mauro Maiorano che ha coordinato la ricerca sul campo tra il 1997 e il 2007. Il lavoro tra i più completi esempi di indagine estensiva secondo i criteri stratigrafici di un edificio paleocristiano e ha permesso di recuperare importanti elementi sul processo di trasformazione interna dello spazio basilicale in relazione alle pratiche liturgiche offrendo nel contempo spunti di riflessione sulle caratteristiche del circostante tessuto abitativo.

Tomo I Il primo volume raccoglie gli aspetti stratigrafici e strutturali e presenta con il contributo di specialisti dei diversi settori un'analisi molto approfondita del contesto con la ricostruzione del suo complesso divenire in un excursus che dall'et romana giunge alle fasi di abbandono e alla riscoperta della Basilica alla fine del XIX secolo.

Tomo II In questo volume sono raccolti i risultati dello studio dei reperti di scavo della Basilica affidato a studiosi specializzati nei diversi campi. Il nucleo di materiali più significativo dal punto di vista tipologico e quantitativo costituito dalla cospicua raccolta di frammenti marmorei comprendente capitelli, basi e fusti di colonna, elementi decorativi e di arredo minore indispensabili per la ricostruzione di dettaglio degli interni dell'edificio di culto, oltre a sculture funerarie ed epigrafi. Questi manufatti, esempi della ricchezza degli apparati decorativi messi in opera, offrono insieme ai reperti numismatici alla campionatura dei bolli laterizi, al vasellame in ceramica e in vetro e ad altri oggetti d'uso quotidiano una concreta testimonianza della centralità e della vitalità di questo contesto dall'et romana all'et medievale.

Kontinuität und Wandel des Senatorenstandes im Zeitalter der Soldatenkaiser Nikolas Hächler, 2019-02-04. In: Kontinuität und Wandel des Senatorenstandes im Zeitalter der Soldatenkaiser untersucht. Nikolas Hächler untersucht die Zusammensetzung, Funktion und Bedeutung des ordo senatorius zwischen 235-284 n. Chr. als das Imperium Romanum eine Reihe tiefgreifender Veränderungen durchlief. Grundlage der vorliegenden Studie stellt eine prosopographische Zusammenstellung dar, in welcher Lebensläufe senatorischer Amtsträger ausgehend von aktuell bekannten Quellenzeugnissen rekonstruiert werden. Obschon militärische Spitzenfunktionen im Laufe des 3. Jhs zusehends von Rittern anstelle von Senatoren ausgeübt wurden und der ordo amplissimus damit an Bedeutung verlor, stellt sich bei näherer Betrachtung tatsächlich heraus, dass ihm für den Erhalt des Römischen Reiches während der so genannten Reichskrise noch immer grundlegend stabilisierende Funktionen zukamen.

In: Kontinuität und Wandel des Senatorenstandes im Zeitalter der Soldatenkaiser. Nikolas Hächler observes the composition, function and general importance of the ordo senatorius during 235-284 C.E. when the Roman Empire was affected by a series of radical changes. The study is grounded on a prosopographical analysis in which Hächler presents a reconstruction of senatorial cursus based on the currently known source material. Although the most important functions within the Roman army were gradually filled by members of the ordo equestris instead of viri clarissimi and the senatorial order thereby suffered a loss of importance during the 3rd century, it remained of utmost significance for the stability of the Imperium Romanum in times of crisis.
