Provoking Agents Theorizing Gender And Agency:

Gendered Agency in War and Peace Maria O'Reilly, 2017-11-03 This book examines how gendered agency emerges in peacebuilding contexts It develops a feminist critique of the international peacebuilding interventions through a study of transitional justice policies and practices implemented in Bosnia Herzegovina and local activists responses to official discourses surrounding them Extending Nancy Fraser s tripartite model of justice to peacebuilding contexts the book also advances notions of recognition redistribution and representation as crucial components of gender just peace It argues that recognising women as victims and survivors of conflict achieving a gender equitable distribution of material and symbolic resources and enabling women to participate as agents of transitional justice processes are all essential for transforming the structural inequalities that enable gender violence and discrimination to materialise before during and after conflict This study establishes a new avenue of analysis for understanding responses and resistances to international peacebuilding by offering a sustained engagement with feminist social and political theory

Provoking Agents Judith Kegan Gardiner, 1995 A major contribution in women s studies and in other disciplines dealing with issues of agency The authors raise issues that are very important and they raise them as they must be raised by bridging theory and action Kathryn Pine Addelson author of Moral Passages Toward a Collectivist Moral Theory Both the women s liberation movement and those who have studied it characterize agency as the capacity to make change in individual consciousness personal lives and society The seventeen contributors to Provoking Agents explore whether and how feminist theory writing and other social practices can help readers move beyond seeing women as a powerless group to effecting changes in their own lives and ultimately becoming social activists Topics in this multi disciplinary collection range from maternal surrogacy to writing from consciousness raising to AIDS activism from pornography to local organizing

Voices of Women Historians Eileen Boris, Nupur Chaudhuri, 1999 The Coordinating Council for Women in History evolved from a cohort of women historians who turned their scholarly focus to the recovery of women s experiences In so doing they created and legitimated the field of women s history The contributors to this volume former CCWH officers mark the 30th anniversary of the organization while commemorating three decades of feminist activism and scholarship Recording the diverse paths women have taken to become historians the essays contained in this book describe how a particular group of women negotiated the often competing demands of being a woman a professional and a political activist from the turbulent 1960s through the challenges of the 1990s But beyond the celebration of personal and professional progress this collection contributes to the emerging historiography of women s history and the literature on women in the professions Publisher

Men Doing Feminism Tom Digby, 2013-10-28 The relation between feminism and men is often presumed to be antagonistic so that men are expected to resist feminism and feminists are assumed to hate men That pattern of opposition is disrupted however by the continually increasing numbers of men who are participating in feminist theory and practice trying to integrate feminist perspectives into their scholarship teaching work play friendships and romantic involvements Responses to this male feminism have varied Sometimes male feminists find some female feminists critical of men who oppose or decline to join feminist projects but also rebuff the few men who do undertake feminist projects On the other hand some women feminists have unequivocally welcomed men as allies in political business religious and academic contexts The essays in Men Doing Feminism reveal that there is justification for both views the skeptical and the enthusiastic because feminist men are as diverse as feminist women Many of the eighteen contributors to this book women men blacks whites gays straights transsexuals use personal narrative to show ways that men's lives can shape their approaches to doing feminism and to convey the opportunities and challenges involved in integrating feminism into a man's life Some authors argue that men's experiences prepare them to make contributions that are of crucial importance to feminist theory Others argue that men must radically reform or even abandon manhood and masculinity if they are to be feminists In Men Doing Feminism feminist theory is used to illuminate men's lives and men's lives serve as a basis for feminist theory Contributors Michael Awkward Susan Bordo Harry Brod Tom Digby Judith K Gardiner C Jacob Hale Sandra Harding Patrick Hopkins Joy James David Kahane Michael Kimmel Gary Lemons Larry May Brian Pronger Henry Rubin Richard Schmitt James P Sterba Laurence Mordekhai Thomas and Thomas E Wartenberg

Racial Imperatives Nadine Ehlers, 2012-05-18 An examination of the constructs of race in contemporary American society Nadine Ehlers examines the constructions of blackness and whiteness cultivated in the US imaginary and asks how do individuals become racial subjects She analyzes anti miscegenation law statutory definitions of race and the rhetoric surrounding the phenomenon of racial passing to provide critical accounts of racial categorization and norms the policing of racial behavior and the regulation of racial bodies as they are underpinned by demarcations of sexuality gender and class Ehlers places the work of Michel Foucault Judith Butler's account of performativity and theories of race into conversation to show how race is a form of discipline that race is performative and that all racial identity can be seen as performative racial passing She tests these claims through an excavation of the 1925 racial fraud case of Rhineland v Rhineland and concludes by considering the possibilities for racial agency extending Foucault's later work on ethics and technologies of the self to explore the potential for racial transformation In Racial Imperatives Nadine Ehlers explores the idea that racial identity is a construct both performed by individuals and maintained by the law Raises interesting ideas particularly that all identity is a form of passing and that all subjects must continually enact their racial identities Journal of American History June 2015 This project fills a major gap in both Critical Race and Foucault studies It will undoubtedly be cited and engaged for years to come

Critical Philosophy of Race Racial Imperatives is a strong tome with a great deal of value across disciplines Building on her previous scholarly investigations and relying on a robust scholarship to push intellectual boundaries Ehlers's work is insightful and thought provoking Scholars that study race in any academic discipline would benefit from the ideas and analysis in this book Spectrum
