Rasta, Race and Revolution Katrin Hansing, 2006. Decades after its birth and subsequent tour du monde, Rastafari has more recently also appeared in revolutionary Cuba. How the movement has been globalized and subsequently localized in a socialist and Spanish speaking context are the main foci of this book. In particular, it examines how Cubans have adopted and adapted the movement to their own socio-political and cultural context. Particular attention is paid to Rastafari's development in the context of Cuba's current economic crisis and re-appearance of more overt racism. Based on extensive ethnographic fieldwork in Cuba, the study shows how Rastafari's growth and presence on the island have influenced and contributed to the formation and expression of new cultural identities and discourses with regard to what it means to be young black and Cuban. Katrin Hansing is a social anthropologist who has worked on numerous Cuba-related issues. Her main areas of interests and expertise include migration, race, ethnicity and identity. She is currently the director of a German Research Council funded research project on Cuba's social collaboration ties in Africa.

African Homecoming Katharina Schramm, 2016-06-16. African Americans and others in the African diaspora have increasingly come home to Africa to visit the sites at which their ancestors were enslaved and shipped. In this nuanced analysis of homecoming, Katharina Schramm analyzes how a shared rhetoric of the Pan-African family is produced among African hosts and Diasporan returnees and at the same time contested in practice. She examines the varying interpretations and appropriations of significant sites, e.g. the slave forts, events, e.g. Emancipation Day, and discourses, e.g. repatriation in Ghana, to highlight these dynamics. From this, she develops her notions of diaspora, home, homecoming, memory and identity that reflect the complexity and multiple reverberations of these cultural encounters beyond the sphere of roots tourism.

Pan Africanism in the African Diaspora Ronald W. Walters, 1997 This groundbreaking volume analyzes important case studies of Black political movements since the 1960s and the impact of the movements on the African American community Previous studies on this subject have been largely historical in nature focusing on the thought of nineteenth century Pan Africanist or early twentieth century formal Pan African movements such as those led by W E B Du Bois and Marcus Garvey In this book Walters analyzes heretofore largely unaddressed cases in which African American societies forged connections with others in the Diaspora within the framework of significant political movements He applies social science theory to the analysis of the cases based on the proposition that Pan African studies a subject within the broad field of Africana Studies is itself very diverse and lends itself to analysis by an unlimited number of modern disciplinary approaches and perspectives Walters uses the tools of comparative politics for examining similar Black and white social institutions and organizations in the United States and other countries and for creating a tailored Pan African perspective as a criteria with which to describe the interactive relationships between the American Black community and Blacks in Britain South Africa Brazil and the Caribbean He fashions a unique and radically new perspective and model for addressing the age old question of the African continuum by advancing the notion that Pan Africanism can be about the struggle for community a struggle not incompatible with efforts to change the State His is a twenty first century view of race relations and classes in the post modern era of capitalism Pan Africanism in the African Diaspora is broadly a work of political science in that it is concerned with political phenomena and applies methods of analysis from that field Nevertheless it is also interdisciplinary in content perspective and analytical approach Walters new data transcends the notions previously put forth and forms a significant contribution to political theory in African and African American studies Jah Kingdom Monique A.
