Harry Alan Towers Dave Mann, 2014-11-03 Harry Alan Towers reputation rests upon a corpus of 95 low budget productions shot post haste in every corner of the globe He took an integral part however in the development of the protocols that now underpin much transnational film production and he must be regarded as a pioneer Towers slash and burn strategy focused on parasitic back to back productions funded by rights bundles that were pre sold globally This strategy was substantially derived from his early days in broadcasting wherein he acted as a go between in the American and the British Commonwealth markets Though he became adept at procuring funds from pariah regimes and black market economies primarily he continued to act as a broker bringing together American equity investment and European finance under the auspices of EC co production agreements He was also quick to exploit the burgeoning niche markets becoming available in the wake of technological developments and government initiatives

Madness Mary de Young, 2014-01-10 Madness is of course personally experienced but because of its intimate relationship to the sociocultural context it is also socially constructed culturally represented and socially controlled all of which make it a topic ripe for sociological analysis Using a range of historical and contemporary textual material this work exercises the sociological imagination to explore some of the most perplexing questions in the history of madness including why some behaviors thoughts and emotions are labeled mad while others are not why they are labeled mad in one historical period and not another why the label of mad is applied to some types of people and not others by whom the label is applied and with what consequences
