Mediasphere Shanghai Alexander Des Forges, 2007-07-31 For many in the west Shanghai is the quintessence of East Asian modernity whether imagined as glamorous and exciting corrupt and impoverishing or a complex synthesis of the good the bad and the ugly How did Shanghai acquire this power How did people across China and around the world decide that Shanghai was the place to be Mediasphere Shanghai shows that partial answers to these questions can be found in the products of Shanghai's media industry particularly the Shanghai novel a distinctive genre of installment fiction that flourished from the 1890s to the 1930s Shanghai fiction supplies not only the imagery that we now consider typical of the city but more significantly the very forms simultaneity interruption mediation and excess through which the city could be experienced as a business and entertainment center and envisioned as the focal point of a mediasphere with a national and transnational reach Existing paradigms of Shanghai culture tend to explain the city's distinctive literary and visual aesthetics as merely the predictable result of economic conditions and social processes but Alexander Des Forges maintains that literary texts and other cultural products themselves constitute a conceptual foundation for the city and construct the frame through which it is perceived Working from a wide range of sources including installment fiction photographs lithographic illustrations maps guidebooks newspapers and film Des Forges demonstrates the significant social effects of aesthetic forms and practices Mediasphere Shanghai offers a new perspective on the cultural history of the city and on the literature and culture of modern China in general

The Evolution of Aesthetic and Expressive Dance in Boston Jody Marie Weber, 2009 The Evolution of Aesthetic and Expressive Dance in Boston provides a regional history of the physical education pioneers who established the groundwork for women to participate in movement and expression Their schools and their writing offer insights into the powerful cultural changes that were reconfiguring women's perceptions of their bodies in motion The book examines the history from the first successful school of ballroom dance run by Lorenzo Papanti to the establishment of the Braggiotti School by Berthe and Francesca Braggiotti two wealthy Bostonian socialites who used their power and money to support dance in Boston The Delsartean ideas about beauty and the expressive capacity of the body freed upper class women to explore movement beyond social dance and to enjoy movement as artistic self expression Their interest and pleasure in early parlor forms engaged them as sponsors and advocates of expressive dance Although revolutionaries such as Isadora Duncan and Ruth St Denis also garnered support from Boston and New York's social sets in Boston the relationship of the city's elite and its native dancers was both intimate and ongoing The Braggiotti sisters did not use this support to embark on international tours instead they founded a school that educated the children of their sponsors and offered performances for their own community Although later artists Miriam Winslow and Hans Weiner did tour nationally and internationally the intimate relationships they maintained with the upper echelon of Boston society required that they remain sensitive to the needs of their students and their community Through the study of these schools the reader is offered a unique perspective on the evolution of expressive dance as it unfolded in Boston and its environs The Evolution of Aesthetic and Expressive Dance in Boston is an important book for those interested in dance history women s studies and regional histories Library Journal ,2000-04 The Library Catalogs of the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace, Stanford University Hoover Institution on War, Revolution, and Peace,1969 Forthcoming Books Rose Army,2002
