Palaver Modern African Writings:

African Literature Jonathan P. Smithe, 2002 African literature like the continent itself is enormous and diverse East Africa's literature is different from West Africa's which is quite different from South Africa's which has different influences on it than North Africa's Africa's literature is based on a widespread heritage of oral literature some of which has now been recorded Arabic influence can be detected as well as European especially French and English Legends myths proverbs riddles and folktales form the mother load of the oral literature This book presents an overview of African literature as well as a comprehensive bibliography primarily of English language sources Accessed by subject author and title indexes

Portrayals and Gender Palaver in Francophone African Writings Sanusi, Ramonu, 2018-09-24 The late 1960s witnessed the emergence of African women writers on the African literary space earlier dominated by African men African women's writings largely focus on deconstructing the patriarchal order religious prescription and cultural mores in order to tear women's veil of invisibility The topics covered in the book are comprehensive and include among others The Francophone African Novel Religious and cultural constructs of African women The poetic constructs of African women Fictional constructs of subaltern African women Marriage and the subordination of women Physical and sexual exploitation of women Women and Polygamy in men's fiction African women writers and the utilitarian function of their art Female protagonists in fiction by African women Discourse on the oppressors and the oppressed African feminism Western Feminism Palaver Wilfred Cartey, 1970 Vernacular Palaver Moradewun Adejunmobi, 2004-01-01 Adejunmobi highlights the continuing appeal of local identities for participants in social networks where communication occurs in languages that are not mother tongues He shows how in West Africa notions of localness locality remain important despite the growing prominence of global languages Nommo: an Anthology of Modern Black African and Black American Literature William Henry Robinson, 1972

Critical Perspectives on Mongo Beti Stephen H. Arnold, 1998 Mongo Beti is considered one of the most prolific and widely read authors from Cameroon and his writings have called world attention to political corruption in his native country These essays cover the three distinct periods of his greatest activities as a writer 1953 1958 1974 and 1991

A New Reader's Guide to African Literature Hans M. Zell, Carol Bundy, Virginia Coulon, 1983 Modern African Literature as a Resource for Enriching the Educational Experience in the Social Science Curricula for Secondary Education in Zaire Madelyn Jane Albrecht, 1972 Reading Contemporary African Literature Reuben Makayiko Chirambo, J. K. S. Makokha, 2013 Reading Contemporary African Literature brings together scholarship on critical debates about and examples of reading African literature in all genres poetry fiction and drama including popular culture The anthology offers studies of African literature from interdisciplinary perspectives that employ sociological historical and ethnographic besides literary analysis of the literatures It has assembled critical and researched essays on a range of topics theoretical and empirical by renowned critics and theorists of African literature that evaluate and provide examples of reading African literature that should be of interest to academics researchers and students of African literature culture and history amongst other subjects Some of the essays examine authors that have received little or no attention to date in books on recent African literature

These essays provide new insights and scholarship that should broaden and deepen our understanding and appreciation of African literature African Literature and US Empire Katherine Hallemeier, 2024-05-31 Postcolonialism has long been associated with post nationalism Yet the persistence of nation oriented literatures from within the African postcolony and its diasporas registers how dreams of national becoming endure In this fascinating new study Hallemeier brings together African literary studies affect studies and US empire studies to challenge chronologies that chart a growing disillusionment with the postcolonial nation and national development across the twentieth and twenty first centuries The Nigerian and South African writings in African Literature and US Empire while often attuned to the trans and extra national repeatedly scrutinise why visions of national exceptionalism signified by a pan African Nigeria and new South Africa remain stubbornly affecting despite decades of disillusionment with national governments beholden to a neocolonial global order In these fictions optimistic forms of nationalism cannot be reduced to easily critiqued state sanctioned discourses of renewal and development They are also circulated through experiences of embodied need quotidian aspiration and transnational pan African relationship Emerging Humanity; Multi-ethnic Literature for Children and Adolescents Ruth Kearney

Carlson, 1972 Black Africa V. Klima, K.F. Ruzicka, P. Zima, 2012-12-06 In October 1972 our Czech written book Literatures of Black Africa was published in Prague presenting a survey of an extensive field The publication which was signed at that time by all three authors differed from most contemporary introductions to the study of African literatures in a threefold way a The authors attempted to cover various literary and literary efforts in the area roughly delimited by Senegal in the west Kenya in the east Lake Chad in the north and the Cape in the south We were well aware even at that time that neither technically nor linguistically would it be possible to cover all literary efforts within that area We did try however to include in our survey both the literatures and literatures written in the Indo European languages English French Portuguese and in at least several of the major African languages of the area We did not attempt an exhaustive description but wished rather to show the mutual relationships which emerge if the literatures of this area written either in the major languages or in the African languages are studied not as isolated phenomena but as mutually complementary features b As two of us were linguists and one was a literary historian we did not limit our analysis of the developing literatures and literatures to the purely cultural and literary aspects Our intention was to deal where and if it was relevant not only with the process of African literary development but also with the simultaneous complementary Catalog

Colbert, 1995 Poet activist teacher and scholar Dennis Brutus is an influential figure in African literature Exploring his life and writings this volume looks at Brutus's childhood university days his arrest and imprisonment and his eventual return to South Africa in 1991

The Columbia Guide to Central African Literature in English Since 1945 Adrian A. Roscoe, 2008 Columbia's guides to postwar African literature paint a unique portrait of the continent's rich and diverse literary traditions. This volume examines the rapid rise and growth of modern literature in the three postcolonial nations of Zimbabwe, Malawi, and Zambia. It tracks the multiple political and economic pressures that have shaped Central African writing since the end of World War II and reveals its authors' heroic efforts to keep their literary traditions alive in the face of extreme poverty and AIDS. Adrian Roscoe begins with a list of key political events. Since writers were composing within both colonial and postcolonial contexts, he pays particular attention to the nature of British colonialism, especially theories regarding its provenance and motivation. Roscoe discusses such historical figures as David Livingstone, Cecil Rhodes, and Sir Harry Johnston, as well as modern power players including Robert Mugabe, Kenneth Kaunda, and Kamuzu Banda. He also addresses efforts to create a literary historical record from an African perspective, an account that challenges white historiographies in which the colonized was neither agent nor informer. A comprehensive alphabetical guide profiles both established and emerging authors and further illustrates issues raised in the introduction. Roscoe then concludes with a detailed bibliography recommending additional reading and sources. At the close of World War II, the people of Central Africa found themselves mired in imperial fatigue and broken promises of freedom. This fueled a desire for liberation and a major surge in literary production, and in this illuminating guide, Roscoe details the campaigns for social justice and political integrity, for education and economic empowerment, and for gender equity, participatory democracy, rural development, and environmental care that characterized this exciting period of development.

Deliberative Agency Uchenna Okeja, 2022-03-15 Public deliberation, highly valued by many African societies, becomes the cornerstone of a new system of African political philosophy in this brilliant, highly original study. In Deliberative Agency, philosopher Uchenna Okeja offers a way to construct a new political center by building it around the ubiquitous African practice of public deliberation, a widely accepted means to resolve legal matters, reconcile feuding groups, and reestablish harmony. In cities, hometown associations, and voluntary organizations carry out the task of fostering deliberation among African groups for different reasons. In some instances, the deliberation aims to settle disputes. In others, the aim is to decide the best action to take to address unfortunate incidents such as death. Through a measured comparative analysis, Deliberative Agency argues that the best way to reimagine and harness the idea of public deliberation based on current experiences in Africa is to see it as performance of agency. Building a new political center around the practice places agency at the core of a new political life in Africa.

Poetry and the Aesthetics of Commitment in South African Literature David Olusegun Agbaje, Ph.D., 2024-03-01 What is literature? What is poetry? How do poets committed to the idea of using poetry as a weapon of socio-cultural and political struggle manage to impress their works in the minds and memories of men long after the struggle has been fought and won or lost? What will a new generation of poets write about after the explosive social contradictions that inspired older poets have been resolved Why do the themes and styles of poets in transitional societies change along with human fortunes and circumstances This book provides answers to these questions and more using the poetic heritage of South Africa It is a compelling pedagogic work a must read for every student researcher and teacher of African poetry and a collector s item for the general public Afro-Hispanic Review ,1983 Bibliography of African Women Writers and Journalists Brenda F. Berrian,1985 This work offers references for 30 categories of African literature including folklore fiction poetry book reviews journalistic essays and interviews More than 4000 entries cover oral and written forms that date from ancient Egypt to the present Radical Theatre in Nigeria Saint Gbilekaa,1997
