Johnsgard,1995-01-01 The Nebraska Sandhills is the largest area of sand dunes in the western hemisphere covering an area about as large as Vermont New Hampshire and Rhode Island combined Unlike most dunes the Sandhills region supports an astonishing variety of wildlife Sixty million years ago the area lay submerged in a vast inland sea As the land lifted and the waters receded the sandhills were formed built upon a sandy floor above a sandy basement Paul A Johnsgard s appreciation for the region includes its evolution a process that continues today making a very special place patiently shaped by water wind and time Sometimes 450 feet higher than their sloping valleys the hills themselves are almost entirely covered with plants that manage to survive on an unstable substrate and in a climate of merciless heat and cold They provide homes and resting places for rare species and sustain the livelihoods of a remarkable variety of people Though firmly established in science this book is an extended love letter to the Sandhills region and its people plants and animals Johnsgard is now in his third decade of research in the Sandhills This Fragile Land lets others see what he sees a land with a fascinating range of geological biological and ecological vistas Paul A Johnsgard is Foundation Professor of the School of Biological Sciences at the University of Nebraska Lincoln Widely published throughout the English speaking world he has become a foremost authority on ornithology and bird behavior His thirty three books include Birds of the Great Plains The Platte Birds of the Rocky Mountains Those of the Gray Wind and Diving Birds of North America all available from the University of Nebraska Press

Feeding Wheat to Livestock ,1930 Wheat is not usually regarded as a substitute for corn as a feed for livestock but a small carry over of old corn and a new crop greatly reduced by drought leaves many farmers short of corn for feed With the other feed grain supplies only about equal to the amounts normally fed the main source of making up the shortage of corn is wheat

The Nature of Nebraska Paul A. Johnsgard,2005-01-01 Where the eastern and western currents of American life merge as smoothly as one river flows into another is a place called Nebraska There we find the Platte a river that gave sustenance to the countless migrants who once trudged westward along the Mormon and Oregon trails We find the

Sandhills a vast region of sandy grassland that represents the largest area of dunes and the grandest and least disturbed region of mixed grass prairies in all the Western Hemisphere And below it all we find the Ogallala aquifer the largest potential source of unpolluted water anywhere These ecological treasures are all part of the nature of Nebraska With characteristic clarity energy and charm Paul A Johnsgard guides us through Nebraska s incredible biodiversity introducing us to each ecosystem and the flora and fauna it sustains and inviting us to contemplate the purpose and secrets of the natural world as we consider our own roles and responsibilities in our connection with it
