Sane Poems from a Deranged Mind Nancy Susan Michael,2002-12-01 Poetry, Short Stories, Gibberish, and Other Insane Ramblings of a Dysfunctional Woman Debra Ann Romano,2015-08-05 A glimpse into the personal once dark tumultuous world of a woman who enroute to uncovering her stagnated identity offered the characters her pen created instead of becoming a serial killer herself Poetry by Dino Dean Evans,2014-06-02 The art of Poetry I have been writing poetry for only a few years and as such can I really consider myself a poet The answer to this question is Yes To be a poet is a condition not a profession Each individual who takes on the quest of writing poetry places upon his or her self not a turning loose of emotion but an escape from emotion Poetry is not the expression of personality but an escape from personality As a painter uses color and the lack of color light and shade the poet uses language as his canvas A poet uses the written word to express his pictures to the world And if the poet is successful in what he is trying to say to the reader it becomes the revelation of a feeling that the poet believes to be interior and personal which the reader recognizes as his own Even when poetry has a meaning as it usually has it may be inadvisable to draw it out perfect understanding will sometimes almost extinguish pleasure Genuine poetry can communicate before it is understood I've written some poetry I don't understand myself At times I may get a thought and have a clear idea what I want to say and before the poem is finished I have gone in a totally different direction as the lines and ideas flow in and out of my mind until the next one comes along to leave the finished poem in no way resembling the original idea that I started with This is true of the Painter as well seeing things not as they are but as the Painter imagines they are Creativity is allowing yourself to make mistakes Art is knowing which ones to keep The poet doesn't invent He listens The poet is a liar who always speaks the truth Each memorable verse of a true poet has two or three times the written content I find as I read through the hard copies of poems that I have written there are many changed lines or thoughts crossed out and rearranged in an attempt to get the thoughts just as I imagine them in my mind and that is a very difficult thing to accomplish Art is the desire of a man to express himself to record the reactions of his personality to the world he lives in It enables us to find ourselves and lose ourselves at the same time Poetry is thoughts that breathe and words that burn A sculptor is a person who is interested in the shape of things a poet in words a musician in sounds All are on the same plane in my opinion and all express to the audience in attendance the thoughts of the artist An artist is somebody who produces things that people don't need to have Although people enjoy the art of the poet the painter the musician these are not things that we need to survive only things that help us enjoy in a small way that survival Dean Evans 50+ Complete Works of Jack London. Trinacty,2014-05-21 In their practice of aemulatio the mimicry of older models of writing the Augustan poets often looked to the Greeks Horace drew inspiration from the lyric poets Virgil from Homer and Ovid from Hesiod Callimachus and others But by the time of the great Roman tragedian Seneca the Augustan poets had supplanted the Greeks as the classics to which Seneca and his contemporaries referred Indeed Augustan poetry is a reservoir of language motif and thought for Seneca s writing Strangely however there has not yet been a comprehensive study revealing the relationship between Seneca and his Augustan predecessors Christopher Trinacty s Senecan Tragedy and the Reception of Augustan Poetry is the long awaited answer to the call for such a study Senecan Tragedy and the Reception of Augustan Poetry uniquely places Senecan tragedy in its Roman literary context offering a further dimension to the motivations and meaning behind Seneca's writings. By reading Senecan tragedy through an intertextual lens, Trinacty reveals Seneca's awareness of his historical moment in which the Augustan period was eroding steadily around him. Seneca looking back to the poetry of Horace, Virgil, and Ovid acts as a critical interpreter of both their work and their era. He deconstructs the language of the Augustan poets, refiguring it through the perspective of his tragic protagonists. In doing so, he positions himself as a critic of the Augustan tradition and reveals a poetic voice that often subverts the classical ethos of that tradition. Through this process of reappropriation, Seneca reveals much about himself as a playwright and as a man. In the inventive manner in which he re-employs the Augustan poets' language, thought, and poetics within the tragic framework, Seneca gives his model works new and uniquely Senecan life. Trinacty's analysis sheds new light both on Seneca and on his Augustan predecessors. As such, Senecan Tragedy and the Reception of Augustan Poetry promises to be a groundbreaking contribution to the study of both Senecan tragedy and Augustan poetry.

«Remov'd from human eyes»: Madness and Poetry 1676-1774
 Natali, Ilaria, 2016-08-30. The years 1676 and 1774 marked two turning points in the social and legal treatment of madness in England. In 1676, London's Bethlehem Hospital expanded to grand new premises, and in 1774 the Madhouses Act attempted to limit confinement of the insane. This study explores almost a century of the English history of madness through the texts of five poets who were considered mentally troubled according to contemporary standards: James Carlesse, Anne Finch, William Collins, Christopher Smart, and William Cowper. They were hospitalized, sequestered, or exiled from society. Their works cope with representations of insanity, medical definitions, or practices imputed illness, and the judging eye of the sane. Other shedding new light on the discontinuities in the notion of madness of this period.

The Complete Works: Poetry, Plays, Letters, Biographies
 Robert Browning, 2024-01-06. Robert Browning's The Complete Works: Poetry, Plays, Letters, Biographies is an expansive collection that encapsulates the breadth of his literary contribution, showcasing his mastery in dramatic monologue and rich character exploration. The compilation traverses various themes, including love, death, and morality, while employing a variety of styles ranging from the vivid imagistic language found in his famous poem My Last Duchess to the introspective lyricism of his later works. It situates Browning within the context of the Victorian literary landscape, reflecting both the innovations of the era and the poet's unique voice that often defied conventional poetic forms. Born in 1812 in Camberwell, London, Browning was raised in a culturally rich environment that fostered his early literary ambitions. His marriage to fellow poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning and their shared intellectual pursuits profoundly influenced his work. Browning's experiences with the complexities of human emotion and relationships, as well as his engagement with contemporary philosophical ideas, are vividly captured in this comprehensive volume, illuminating his profound understanding of the human condition The Complete Works is an essential read for those interested in the evolution of modern poetry and the intricacies of dramatic narrative Browning's eloquence and psychological insight make this anthology a significant addition to any literary collection providing a timeless exploration of human experience that resonates across generations

Women, Modernism and British Poetry, 1910-1939 Jane Dowson, 2017-03-02 Primarily a literary history Women Modernism and British Poetry 1910 1939 provides a timely discussion of individual women poets who have become or are becoming well known as their works are reprinted but about whom little has yet been written This volume recognizes the contributions overlooked previously of such British poets as Anna Wickham Nancy Cunard Edith Sitwell Mina Loy Charlotte Mew May Sinclair Vita Sackville West and Sylvia Townsend Warner and the impact of such American poets as H D Amy Lowell Edna St Vincent Millay Marianne Moore and Laura Riding on literary practice in Britain This book primarily maps the poetry scene in Britain but identifies the significance of the network of writers between London New York and Paris It assesses women's participation in the diversity of modernist developments which include avant garde experiments quiet but subtly challenging formalism and assertive new woman voices It not only chronicles women's poetry but also their publications and involvement in running presses bookshops and writing criticism Although historically situated it is written from the perspective of contemporary debates concerning the interface of gender and modernism The author argues that a cohering aesthetic of the poetry is a denial of femininity through various evasions of gendered identity such as masking male and female impersonations and the rupturing of realist modes

The Poet's Mind Gregory

Tate,2012-11-08 The Poet's Mind is a major study of how Victorian poets thought and wrote about the human mind. It argues that Victorian poets inheriting from their Romantic forerunners the belief that subjective thoughts and feelings were the most important materials for poetry used their writing both to give expression to mental processes and to scrutinise and analyse those processes. In this volume Gregory Tate considers why and how psychological analysis became an increasingly important element of poetic theory and practice in the mid nineteenth century a time when the discipline of psychology was emerging alongside the growing recognition that the workings of the mind might be understood using the analytical methods of science. The writings of Victorian poets often show an awareness of this psychology but at the same time the language and tone of their psychological verse and especially their ambivalent use of terms such as brain, mind and soul, voice, an unresolved tension felt throughout Victorian culture between scientific theories of psychology and metaphysical or religious accounts of selfhood. The Poet's Mind considers the poetry of Browning, Tennyson, Arnold, Clough and George Eliot offering detailed readings of several major Victorian poems and presenting new evidence of their authors' interest in contemporary psychological theory. Ranging across lyric verse, epic poetry and the dramatic monologue, the book explores the ways in which poetry simultaneously drew on, resisted and contributed to the spread of scientific theories of mind in Victorian Britain.

Inspiration and Insanity in British Poetry Joseph Crawford,2019-07-24 This book explores the ways in which poetic inspiration came to be associated with madness in early nineteenth century Britain. By examining the works of poets such as Barrett Browning, Clare, Tennyson, Townshend and the Spasmodics in relation to the burgeoning asylum system and shifting medical discourses of the period, it investigates the ways in which Britain's post-Romantic poets understood their own poetic vocations within a cultural context that insistently linked poetic talent with illness and insanity. Joseph Crawford examines the popularity of mesmerism among the writers of the era as an alternative system of medicine that provided a more sympathetic account of the nature of poetic genius and investigates the persistent tension found throughout the literary and medical writings of the period between the Romantic ideal of the poet as a transcendent visionary genius and the medico-psychological conception of poets as mere case studies in abnormal neurological development. Medical and Allied
