Lightning Gods and Feathered Serpents Rex Koontz, 2010-01-01 El Taj n an ancient Mesoamerican capital in Veracruz Mexico has long been admired for its stunning pyramids and ballcourts decorated with extensive sculptural programs Yet the city s singularity as the only center in the region with such a wealth of sculpture and fine architecture has hindered attempts to place it more firmly in the context of Mesoamerican history In Lightning Gods and Feathered Serpents Rex Koontz undertakes the first extensive treatment of El Taj n s iconography in over thirty years allowing us to view its imagery in the broader Mesoamerican context of rising capitals and new elites during a period of fundamental historical transformations Koontz focuses on three major architectural features the Pyramid of the Niches Central Plaza ensemble the South Ballcourt and the Mound of the Building Columns complex and investigates the meanings of their sculpture and how these meanings would have been experienced by specific audiences Koontz finds that the iconography of El Taj n reveals much about how motifs and elite rites growing out of the Classic period were transmitted to later Mesoamerican peoples as the cultures centered on Teotihuacan and the Maya became the myriad city states of the Early Postclassic period By reexamining the iconography of sculptures long in the record as well as introducing important new monuments and contexts Lightning Gods and Feathered Serpents clearly demonstrates El Tajín's numerous iconographic connections with other areas of Mesoamerica while also exploring its roots in an indigenous Gulf lowlands culture whose outlines are only now emerging At the same time it begins to uncover a largely ignored regional artistic culture of which Tajín is the crowning achievement

Mendoza, Linda Hansen, 2024-03-01 This edited volume addresses the environmental and cultural underpinnings of the kind of social conflict that spawned the origins and elaboration of ritualized human and animal sacrifice in Mesoamerica The chapters variously document the place of cultural evolution and social complexity in the origins and elaboration of ritual human sacrifice cannibalism and trophy taking across a broad spectrum of Mesoamerican cultural and social contexts that first saw the light of day before 2600 BCE and rapidly developed and proliferated across the Mesoamerican world in the centuries to follow They study the developments in sacrifice rituals through the centuries into the first millennium CE when the Mexica Aztec and their allies had elevated ritual human sacrifice such that they produced a plethora of sacrificial acts modes and manners of death and associated deities to articulate the necro cultures and blood tribute of the times The chapters further study present day rites of Amerindian communities from throughout Mesoamerica that include paying homage to the deities of earth and sky through sacrifice and consumption of animal surrogates The interdisciplinary effort undertaken by this international cadre of scientists including anthropologists bioarchaeologists art historians ethnohistorians iconographers and religious studies experts provides a particularly rich forum for launching an interrogation into the role of conflict environment and social complexity in the emergence and persistence of ritual violence and human sacrifice in the Mesoamerican world
