Shanghai Transformation And Modernization Under Chinas Open Policy:

Shanghai Yue-man Yeung,1996 As China s largest city best known for its pre eminent achievements in the early part of the twentieth century Shanghai grew modestly in comparison with southern China after the adoption of China s open policy in 1978 With the 1990 announcement of Pudong as an area for special development Shanghai has raced ahead seemingly on its way to an economic and cultural resurgence that is likely to accelerate development and modernization in the Yangzi Delta and China at large This volume focuses on the physical and socioeconomic transformation of Shanghai across a wide range of topics Drawing on the experience and expertise of researchers primarily in Hong Kong this study is a major contribution to the subject of economic development and social change in China It seeks to understand analyze and interpret how Shanghai has transformed itself in recent years Upgrading China's Information and Communication Technology Industry Cassandra C. Wang,2013 This book effectively challenges the conventional wisdom regarding the cluster innovation relationship and provides convincing evidence to show that the prevailing theoretical models derived from AngloOCmerican experiences cannot be uncritically applied to Chinese reality This book introduces a new theory of state firm coordination to explain why and how some Chinese ICT firms have turned out to be more innovative than others Perspectives from the viewpoint of economic geography institutional economics political science and regulation theory have been provided to throw light on the enigma that is China s ICT industry Empirically the book provides state of the art findings to clarify the confusion and misunderstanding about the exact nature of the ICT industry in China This book has essentially set a new baseline and made definitive contribution to knowledge production about China s economic geography Methodologically it shows how original critical and independent research can be undertaken effectively and innovatively through cross disciplinary theoretical interaction deductive reasoning with hypotheses testing combination of multiple means of data collection integration of quantitative and qualitative methods and structured presentation of research findings with extensive tabular graphic and cartographic illustrations Chinese Science and Technology Industrial Parks Susan M. Walcott,2017-11-30 Title first published in 2003 This book examines types of advanced technology Chinese districts set aside for developing products for national and global markets Culminating in a proposed best practice model for Chinese integration into global networks based on China s own particular political economy Chinese Film Festivals Chris Berry,Luke Robinson,2017-02-15 This book is the first anthology of research devoted to the booming world of Chinese film festivals covering both mainstream and independent films It also explores festivals in the Chinese speaking world and festivals of Chinese films in the rest of the world The book asks how Chinese film festivals function as sites of translation translating Chinese culture to the world and world culture to Chinese speaking audiences and also how the international film festival model is being transformed as it is translated into the Chinese speaking world Institutions, Regulatory Styles, Society and Environmental Governance in China Carlos Wing-Hung Lo,Shui-Yan Tang,2013-08-15 During the past three decades of rapid industrial growth China has suffered from devastating environmental degradation Most scholarly and popular publications have painted a rather pessimistic picture about the worrisome trend Yet a somewhat more optimistic view has emerged in the past decade given the Chinese government's increased commitment to fighting industrial pollution the public's increased concerns regarding the adverse effects of pollution and domestic and international civil society's increased involvement in promoting environmental protection in China Drawing on the authors extensive research on Guangdong Province and a few large cities in other provinces this book provides an in depth study on China's environmental governance and regulatory enforcement in the past two decades Section 1 examines various institutional constraints for environmental regulation enforcement at the local level and how governance reform efforts in the past decade have contributed to the lessening of those constraints Section 2 draws on data derived from surveys and interviews conducted in multiple cities and times it examines the dominant regulatory enforcement styles of local environmental protection bureaus and how these styles vary across different regions and over time Section 3 examines how various stakeholders the general public environmental groups government entities and corporations affect the environmental governance process Overall the book presents a cautiously optimistic view on the evolution of environmental governance in China While highlighting many political institutional social and economic constraints it also documents many changes that have taken place including reform efforts from within the government administrative system increasingly societal concerns and actions and changing attitudes among corporate executives potentially paving the way for more effective environmental governance in the future

Chinese Globalization Jiaming Sun, William Scott Lancaster, 2013 This book examines the explicit effects of global connectivity on local culture and society in post reform mainland China It focuses on individual level globalization in China and how global socialization impacts local residents behaviors lifestyle value orientation and the consequence of local transformation Asking questions such as What types of individual global connections have emerged and developed in China over the last three decades What aspects of local transformations are influenced by such global connections How does the impact of global connections vary across different aspects of local communities and institutions Jiaming Sun uses an original micro level relational approach to analyse how different types of individual global connections may make a difference and constitute certain outcomes of local transformation the outcome being that global connections are capable of facilitating local transformation across different spatial economic and cultural settings

Women's Rights to House and Land Irene Tinker, Gale Summerfield, 1999 The authors of this volume focus on such issues as property use and ownership efforts to recognize women's economic rights through development programming poverty and women headed households and household bargaining The impact of various development policies is also surveyed

Planning Asian Cities Stephen Hamnett, Dean Forbes, 2012-03-29 Stephen Hamnett and Dean Forbes have brought together some of the region's most distinguished urbanists to explore the planning history and recent development of Pacific Asia's major cities They show how globalization and the competition to achieve global city status has had a profound effect on all these cities But how resilient are these cities to the risks that they face How can they manage continuing pressures for development and growth while reducing their vulnerability to a range of potential crises And given the tradition of top down centralized state directed planning which drove the economic growth of many of these cities in the last century what prospects are there of them becoming more inclusive and sensitive to the diverse needs of their populations and to the importance of culture heritage and local places in creating liveable cities

Cities Transformed Mark R. Montgomery, Richard Stren, Barney Cohen, Holly E. Reed, 2013-10-31 Over the next 20 years most low income countries will for the first time become more urban than rural Understanding demographic trends in the cities of the developing world is critical to those countries their societies economies and environments The benefits from urbanization cannot be overlooked but the speed and sheer scale of this transformation presents many challenges In this uniquely thorough and authoritative volume 16 of the world's leading scholars on urban population and development have worked together to produce the most comprehensive and detailed analysis of the changes taking place in cities and their implications and impacts They focus on population dynamics social and economic differentiation fertility and reproductive health mortality and morbidity labor force and urban governance As many national governments decentralize and devolve their functions the nature of urban management and governance is undergoing fundamental transformation with programs in poverty alleviation health education and public services increasingly being deposited in the hands of untested municipal and regional governments Cities Transformed identifies a new class of policy maker emerging to take up the growing responsibilities Drawing from a wide variety of data sources many of them previously inaccessible this essential text will become the benchmark for all involved in city level research policy planning and investment decisions The National Research Council is a private non profit institution based in Washington DC providing services to the US government the public and the scientific and engineering communities The editors are members of the Council's Panel on Urban Population Dynamics

How China's Rise is Changing the Middle East Anoushiravan Ehteshami, Niv Horesh, 2019-07-09 This book explores the extent to which China's rise is changing the economic security political and social cultural aspects of the Middle East a region of significant strategic importance to the West and of increasing importance to the East With its growing dependence on Middle East oil and gas China has more at stake in this region than any other Asian power and not surprisingly has begun increasing its engagement with the region with profound implications for other stakeholders The book charts the history of China's links with the Middle East discusses China's involvement with each of the major countries of the region considers how China's rise is reshaping Middle Easterners' perceptions of China and the Chinese people and examines the very latest developments

The Cultural Politics of Talent Migration in East Asia Brenda Yeoh, Shirlena Huang, 2013-09-13 As the world globalises more people than ever are on the move including the many professional managerial and entrepreneurial elites often referred to as international talent who circulate between cities in response to career and business opportunities While much has been written about the economic motivations behind these mobilities less is known about the everyday experiences and encounters of highly skilled transnational migrants who with the rise of Asia as an economic powerhouse and cultural magnet are not only increasingly Asian in composition but also rapidly attracted to the globalising cities in Asia The book demonstrates how the migratory moves of transnational elites are not only implicated in the reality of multiple belongings but are also intertwined with the broader cultural politics of specific places By exploring the interfaces of contact and their diverse subjectivities from race and gender to class and nationality this collection as a whole with papers examining talent moving among cities in China Taiwan Singapore Japan Britain and Canada paints a decidedly complex picture of how talented migrants inhabit the world in more than rational ways Through the lens of the everyday this book uncovers the ways in which cosmopolitanisms are forged in uneven and contested ways in different localities as well as offer new insights into cities as transnational spaces of encounter in the 21st century This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies

Developing China's West Yue-man Yeung, Jianfa Shen, 2004 From macro and micro perspectives this book provides a panoramic view of China's sprawling western region China's twelve western provinces are examined through several critical thematic dimensions

Reshaping Economic Geography in East Asia Yukon Huang, Alessandro Magnoli Bocchi, 2008-10-15 This companion volume to the World Development Report 2009 comprises twenty papers authored by noted Asian scholars These studies highlight how throughout East Asia spatial considerations have influenced Government policies at the national regional and local levels Key themes include how countries have dealt with 1 agglomeration economies urbanization and regional disparities 2 improving connectivity with infrastructure investments and 3 eliminating barriers across and within countries to favor the movement of labor goods and services Achievements vary widely across countries while some succeeded in enhancing competitiveness and improving social outcomes others are experiencing increasing inequalities and failures to spur growth in disadvantaged areas The book highlights many examples of how the new economic geography is reshaping development objectives from initiatives to foster growth via enhanced agglomeration and improved local connectivity to the world economy to special decentralization programs that channel resources to lagging regions This volume will be of great interest to readers working in the areas of economic policy poverty reduction and urban rural development strategies and transport led infrastructure policy

Economic Development and Inequality in China Hong Yu, 2017-09-29 The conventional belief that all regions have equally benefited from China's remarkable development over the last three decades is subjected to criticism in this book as Hong Yu systematically analyses the issue of regional inequality during the post 1978 period using the case of Guangdong Guangdong is one of the key industrial centres and economic powerhouses in China and as a pioneer province instigating economic reform as China opened up to the world it offers an ideal focus upon which to question and enrich the Western theories of economic geography and regional disparity

Based on field research analysis of geographic characteristics and regression models this book illustrates how Guangdong's impressive development record has been marred by its rising regional disparity investigates the main causes of this disparity and draws conclusions regarding the lessons China can learn from it Economic Development and Inequality in China will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese economics Chinese regional studies economic geography and China Studies Hong Yu is a Visiting Research Fellow at the National University of Singapore His research interests lie in the field of regional economy He is the author of a chapter on China's two delta regions in the book China and The Global Economic Crisis

The Concrete Dragon Thomas J. Campanella, 2008-04-17 Thomas J Campanella examines the driving forces behind China's urban revolution and traces both the historical precedents and increasingly globalized flow of ideas trends and information that have combined to create a brave new Chinese cityscape He provides a critical overview of Chinese urban development in light of both China's past and previous experiences of rapid urbanization elsewhere in the world especially that of the United States a nation that itself once set global records for the speed and scale of its urban ambitions Jacket

Research in Global Citizenship Education Jason Harshman, Tami Augustine, Merry M. Merryfield, 2015-06-01 Globalization is changing what citizens need to know and be able to do by interrupting the assumption that the actions of citizens only take place within national borders If our neighborhoods and nations are affecting and being affected by the world then our political consciousness must be worldminded The outcomes of globalization have led educators to rethink what students need to learn and be able to do as citizens in a globally connected world This volume focuses on research that examines how K-12 teachers and students are currently addressing the challenge of becoming citizens in a globally interconnected world Although there is an extensive body of literature on citizenship education within national contexts and a growing literature on global education this volume offers research on the work educators are doing across multiple countries to bring the two fields together to develop global citizens

Globalization and Networked Societies Yue-man Yeung, 2000-07-01 The world in the last two decades of the twentieth century fundamentally and radically changed at a speed and on a scale never before witnessed The challenge posed at the beginning of the third millennium is enormous for governments and people the world over Globalization along with globalism continues its unrelenting and accelerating march as it draws more countries cities and people closer into interdependent relationships Globalization and Networked Societies attempts to tease out some of the salient elements of this process especially as it has affected urban centers in Pacific Asia over the past twenty years Globalization and rapid economic growth have transformed the region and its cities on varied spatial scales bringing new opportunities and challenges for governments the private sector and individuals All countries in Pacific Asia are covered in this work with special attention given to Hong Kong and to China a late bloomer in the Asia scene but nevertheless one that has experienced phenomenal growth and accelerated globalization in recent decades The empirical analyses reveal the outcome dilemmas and meanings of globalization in the urban regional scene

The Dual

Developmental State Ming Xia, 2017-12-01 This title was first published in 2000 The developmental state model which originated in Japan has ascended to the status of the leading paradigm for the East Asian political economy This text explores the proposition of many specialists that China has emulated the model and become part of the flying geese pattern of development

Port Cities in Asia and Europe Arndt Graf, Chua Beng Huat, 2008-11-20 With the demise of European socialist economies and the marketization of Asian communist countries a new global capitalism has reshaped the configuration of the world economy with speed a determining factor to all transactions of information finance goods and services and people Sea ports that were significant for a slower but no less global economy have been undergoing transformation to stay economically and culturally relevant Some manage to reinvent themselves as tourist cities some face decline if they do not manage to transform This volume looks at a number of port cities in Asia and Europe that face this pressure With contributions considering history contemporary developments contacts between ports the representation of ports and the relations between port cities and their hinterlands This comparative study identifies many parallels between local histories and developments in the Asian and European port cities as well as new opportunities for sharing experiences and learning from the developments and decisions in similar situations in other port cities

Chinese Middle Classes Hsin-Huang Michael Hsiao, 2013-12-17 The formation and characteristics of a nation's middle class are shaped by historical context and the developmental path that has been followed However can the same be said of the ethnic Chinese middle classes in Taiwan China Hong Kong and Macao Given the divergent political and economic experiences under which the respective middle classes were created established shaped and reshaped can they still be characterized as a homogenous group of Chinese middle classes or are they more unique within each country Using systematic survey data analysis and case studies to examine and compare the emerging middle classes in Taiwan Hong Kong Macao and Urban China this book explores whether the middle classes in these countries possess any uniquely Chinese features or if these are shared attributes that can be found in other non Chinese middle classes in the Asia Pacific region It analyses the formation profile culture lifestyles mobility and politics of the middle class groups in each country and highlights the differences and similarities that emerge and focuses in particular on increased mobility financial resilience class anxiety and political interest and effectiveness This book will be of great interest to students and scholars interested in Asian middle classes Chinese studies Chinese societies Chinese ethnicity and Chinese politics
