

An impressionistic landscape painting of a city at sunset. The sky is a mix of soft pinks, oranges, and yellows, with visible brushstrokes. The city below is rendered in dark, muted tones of blue, green, and brown, with some buildings standing out. The foreground is a dark, textured area, possibly a path or a field, with some reddish-brown patches. The overall style is soft and atmospheric, typical of the Hudson River School or similar 19th-century American landscape art.

A World of Gardens John Dixon Hunt, 2014-05-14 A Japanese garden is immediately distinct to the eye from the traditional gardens of an English manor house just as the manicured topiaries of Versailles contrast with the sharp cacti of the American Southwest Though gardening is beloved the world over the style of gardens themselves varies from region to region determined as much by culture as climate In this series of illustrated essays John Dixon Hunt takes us on a world tour of different periods in the making of gardens Hunt shows here how cultural assumptions and local geography have shaped gardens and their meaning He explores our continuing responses to land and reworkings of the natural world encompassing a broad range of gardens from ancient Roman times to early Islamic and Mughal gardens from Chinese and Japanese gardens to the invention of the public park and modern landscape architecture A World of Gardens looks at key chapters in garden history reviewing their significance past and present and tracing the recurrence of different themes and motifs in the design and reception of gardens throughout the world A World of Gardens celebrates the idea that similar experiences of gardens can be found in many different times and places including sacred landscapes scientific gardens urban gardens secluded gardens and symbolic gardens Featuring two hundred images this book is a treasure trove of ideas and inspiration whether your garden is a window box a secluded backyard or a daydream      Encyclopedia of American Art Before 1914 Jane Turner, 2000 This alphabetically arranged volume covers all the major artistic developments in the USA from the Colonial period until 1914 with the start of World War I      Renaissance Porticoes and Painted Pergolas Natsumi Nonaka, 2017-02-17 This book is the first study of the portico and its decorative program as a cultural phenomenon in Renaissance Italy Focusing on a largely neglected group of porticoes decorated with painted pergolas that appeared in Rome and environs in the sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries it tells the story of how an element of the garden the pergola became a pictorial topos in portico decoration and evolved hand in hand with its real cousin in the garden into an object for cultural emulation among the educated patrons of early modern Rome The liminality of both the portico and the pergola at the interface of architecture and garden is key to the interpretation of these architectural and painted forms which rests on the intersecting frameworks of the classical tradition natural history and the cultural identity of the aristocracy In the mediating space of the Renaissance portico the illusionism pergola created an art gallery a natural history museum and a virtual garden where one could engage in leisurely strolls learned conversations appreciation of art and scientific investigation as well as extensive travel across time and space The book proposes the interpretation that the illusionistic pergola was an artistic formula for the early modern perception of nature      Warren H. Manning Robin Karson, Jane Roy Brown, Sarah Allaback, 2017-04-01 Warren H Manning s 1860 1938 national practice comprised more than sixteen hundred landscape design and planning projects throughout North America from small home grounds to estates cemeteries college campuses parks and park systems and new industrial towns Manning approached his design and planning projects from an environmental perspective conceptualizing projects as components of larger regional in some cases national systems a method that contrasted sharply with those of his stylistically oriented colleagues In this regard as in many others Manning had been influenced by his years with the Olmsted firm where the foundations of his resource based approach to design were forged Manning s overlay map methods later adopted by the renowned landscape architect Ian McHarg provided the basis for computer mapping software in widespread use today One of the eleven founders of the American Society of Landscape Architects Manning also ran one of the nation s largest offices where he trained several influential designers including Fletcher Steele A D Taylor Charles Gillette and Dan Kiley After Manning s death his reputation slipped into obscurity Contributors to the Warren H Manning Research Project have worked more than a decade to assess current conditions of his built projects and to compile a richly illustrated compendium of site essays that illuminate the range scope and significance of Manning s notable career with specially commissioned photographs by Carol Betsch Academy Hill ,2000 Gardens of the Arts and Crafts Movement Judith B. Tankard,2018-11-27 The ever alluring Arts and Crafts garden is profoundly relevant to our 21st century needs Sam Watters author of Gardens for a Beautiful America In Gardens of the Arts and Crafts Movement landscape scholar Judith B Tankard surveys the inspirations characteristics and development of garden design during this iconic movement Tankard presents a selection of houses and gardens of the era from Great Britain and North America With almost 300 illustrations and photographs and an emphasis on the diversity of designers who helped forge the movement Gardens of the Arts and Crafts Movement is an essential resource for this truly distinct approach to garden design Earth Repair Marcus Hall,2005 Just as the restoration of Michelangelo s Last Judgment sparked enormous controversy in the art world so are environmental restorationists intensely divided when it comes to finding ways to rehabilitate damaged ecosystems Although environmental restoration is quickly becoming a widespread pursuit debate over the methods and goals of this endeavor often halts progress The same question confronts artistic and environmental restorationists Which systems need restoring and to what states should they be restored In Earth Repair A Transatlantic History of Environmental Restoration Marcus Hall explores the answer to this question while offering an alternative to the usual narrative of humans disrupting and spoiling the earth Hall s purpose is not to deny that humans have done lasting damage but to show that those who believed in restoration did not always agree on what they wanted to restore or how or to what form With guidance from the pioneer conservationist George Perkins Marsh the reader travels between the United States and Italy to see that restoration has taken many forms over the past two hundred years from maintaining and repairing to gardening and naturalizing By contrasting land management in these two countries and elsewhere Earth Repair clarifies different meanings of restoration shows how such meanings have changed through time and place and suggests how restorationists can apply these insights to their own practices Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians Society of Architectural Historians,1995 Includes special issues
